Maximum temperature, 80; minimum temperature, 49. The river is 26 feet above "0," having fallen 4.16 of a foot in 24 hours.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

THE DALLES, June 3, 1891. FAIR Weather forecast till 12 m., Thursday; fair. Nearly stationary temperature.

The Chronicle is the Only Paper in The Dalles that Receives the Associated Press Dispatches.

LOCAL BRIEVITIES.

W. J. Craft, of Nansene, gave this office a welcome call yesterday. Henry Hudson and Peter Rirsch, of Dufur, gave us a pleasant call today.

The Dalles Chronicle, to the biggest city on the north-west coast—shake. Mr. Thomas Batty wife and niece and Mr. Hampton Kelly of Wapinitia are in the city.

The Dalles cigar factory employed five men last week and turned out a thousand cigars a day.

Mr. H. W. Wells of Sherar's bridge, Judge W. Lair Hill of Seattle, and A. D. McDonald of Monkland are in the city.

H. W. Wells a former subject of the Queen of England was admitted to full citizenship before Judge Bradshaw last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Sherman and Misses Mamie and Rose E. Daniels, all of Portland, paid The Dalles a pleasant visit Monday.

Mr. L. Rice, of Eight Mile, gave us a pleasant call yesterday. He thinks a good crop of grain in his section is already assured.

Invitations are out for attendance at the closing exercises of the boys department at the Sister's Academy on Monday June 8, 1891.

We heartily congratulate Portland that she is no longer three cities but one, and that as Oregonians we can now boast of having by far the largest city save one, on the Pacific coast.

In Justice Schutes court on Monday Joe Bower, who was arrested last Friday for stealing a valise from the store of Mr. Freeman, was sentenced to 60 days in the county jail.

Sheriff Cates returned yesterday on the noon train from Salem, whether he had gone with the man Rogers who got a year in the penitentiary for stealing the marshal's revolver.

The friends of Mrs. Isaac Joles will be pleased to hear that she is steadily regaining her health. She was able to sit up a little while for the first time Monday evening.

F. G. Tuttle, in the employ of the company for eight years as a locomotive engineer, and now of Albina, is in the city. Mr. Tuttle thinks The Dalles the most desirable place to live in on the whole northwest coast.

Twenty two men are now employed on the new boat and they are rushing her through. Calking will commence today and follow up the outside planking which is expected to be in place next week.

A telegram received this morning from Los Angeles informs us that the remains of the late Judge Bird will arrive at this place on Friday morning. The body will be taken in charge by the Knights of Pythias and will be buried on Sunday afternoon.

Conductor R. B. Moore, familiarly known as "Shorty," got married quietly in Portland about three weeks ago. Who his better half is we are not now at liberty to state, but Shorty says it is straight goods that he is married and that's the end of it.

A gentleman of this city was overheard today making the following remarks: "Bicycles are the nicest things in the world but if care is not taken those riders who insist on keeping on the sidewalks will hurt somebody and then, when it is too late, they will be compelled to put gongs on their machines."

The Wamic settlement must be considerably deserted today. There are in the city from that neighborhood, B. Savage, S. A. Broyles, S. B. Driver, P. Knowles, R. B. and H. E. Driver, John End, J. B. Magill, R. Hogan, Andy Swift, W. P. and Miss Josie Carter, Mrs. P. Knowles, and Mrs. S. B. Driver.

J. H. Larsen returned this morning from Ellensburg and vicinity where he has been, for the past nine days. He says while we may justly complain of quiet times in The Dalles he believes it is as good a place as any of their boom towns. He never was so glad to get anywhere in his life as he was to get back home.

From a private letter it is learned that the accident by which the late Clarence Durbin lost his life was caused by his horse falling over on him so that the prommel of the saddle pressed against a vital part of the body. We also learned that his remains will be brought to Salem for interment and were expected to arrive in Portland this morning.

A. D. Bolton of Boyd is in the city. Mr. Jones of the firm of Perry & Jones of Hood River is in the city. The Wasco warehouse will today ship 10 car loads of wool to Portland. Ed. Hannafin of Kent and H. W. Cook two of nature's noblemen are in the city.

B. Kelsay of Kent has stored his clip at the Wasco warehouse, consisting of 114,000 pounds.

Tomorrow night the regular weekly open air concert will be given by the 3d regiment band.

Five hundred barrels of Dufur flour is being received at the Wasco warehouse today, to be consigned to Portland.

E. A. Hunt and Charley Bunnel left this morning on a hunting and fishing trip to the neighborhood of Mt. Hood.

A meeting of the committees on Fourth of July celebration will be held in the council chamber tomorrow, Thursday evening at nine o'clock.

A meeting of the Eastern Oregon Co-operative Association is being held today in the parlors of the Cosmopolitan hotel for the purpose of electing directors for the ensuing year.

A son of Oscar Angel of Eight Mile was kicked by a horse yesterday and Dr. Rinehart was called to attend him last evening. The doctor reports that the boy had a close call. He was kicked on the head, left hip and groin. The injury to the skull is not serious but the boy was so injured internally that he has been vomiting blood at intervals ever since. The doctor has hopes of his recovery.

Hon. W. McD. Lewis has met the enemy and they are his. When the crickets began to get real bad in the Oak Grove neighborhood Mr. Lewis borrowed all the hogs in the country and turned them into his grain fields. The consequence is the hogs are fat as butter, the grain is saved, (for to a hog's palate a nice fat cricket is a luxury, and a hog will never eat anything common when luxuries are to be had) and Mr. Lewis is now in the front rank of philanthropists.

Mr. C. R. Bone of Hood River came up on the noon train yesterday. He informs us that everything is going on nicely in that charming little valley. Mine host George Herbert has all he can do to take care of the people. He fed a hundred persons the day the bridge burned up a little west of the town. The Town Site company are so satisfied with real estate prospects that they don't seem anxious to sell. They believe property will be much higher in the near future. Cloud Cap Inn will be open for guests about the 15 inst. The whole crop of strawberries, early and late, will bring 15 cents a box. All other fruits were never so abundant and promising.

A delightful surprise party was given Leo Newman last evening in honor of his 10th birthday at the residence of his parents. Games of all kinds were played and then refreshments were served and then more games were played and at a late hour the happy crowd separated for their homes, after wishing Leo many happy returns of the day. Those present were:

Misses Aimee Newman, Bessie French, Ida Mulligan, Eviline Newman, Sophia Nichols, Lena Thompson, Georgia Sampson, Pearl Williams, Annie Weints, Emma Ostlund, Lena Liebe, Matilda Liebe, Ersie Michell and Hattie Oram. Masters, Leo Newman, George Hall, Johnnie Fritz, Johnnie Depew, Victor Sampson, Simon Freeman, Louie Geires, Charlie Schmidt, Carl and Robert Williams, Paul French, Bertie Larson, Guy Ward, Ralph Scott Palmer, George Ruch, Bertie Barret, Charlie Heppner, and Fred Roscoe.

McMAHON'S GREAT SHOW.

Will be with us June 12th, at The Dalles for Two Exhibitions.

The Cincinnati, O., Enquirer says: "McMahon's circus is numbered among the few legitimate arenic exhibitions and deservedly so when its standard is measured by the individual ability of its performers. The riding is the very best ever seen here. The acrobatic and gymnastic feats undoubtedly excel that of any other organization, while the many novelties and new acts were an agreeable surprise. It is vouchered for parties posted on the salaries of arenic talent that McMahon has the highest list in all branches of any show in America. The keen-eyed emissary of the czar who accompanies Jo-Jo, on being questioned as to Jo-Jo's salary, says he receives $1000 per week. Not the least attractive feature of the great show is the monster pachyderm, Queen Jumbo, the largest elephant in the world. The performance of Jumbo and mate Romeo must be seen to be appreciated. It goes without saying that the few remaining exhibitions in Cincinnati will test the capacity of the pavilions."

Courtesy to a Guest. Youth's Companion. A story is told of Mrs. Bingham, a woman of high social position in Washington in the early part of this century.

She once invited a rough, western farmer to dine with her. The guest was dazzled by the splendors and gay company, and, while trying nervously to appear at his ease, broke one of a set of costly Sevres cups. He sat staring at her, speechless with dismay. Mrs. Bingham laughed. "Ah, that ridiculous china! It breaks with a breath." And, taking up one of the cups as she spoke, she carelessly crushed it in her hand and dropped the fragments upon the table.

Notice. One fresh milk cow for sale, (good milker). Apply at this office.

A Bright Paper.

Very few are aware that The Dalles has no less than five weekly papers, yet such is the case nevertheless. Two of them, at least, may have but a limited circulation, but they are bright, newsy, little sheets all the same, as we would certainly infer from a page of one of them that has just fallen into our hands. The "Pickwick Chronicle," and the "Miniature Story Paper," are published by the girls of the public schools, and deserve a wider circulation than they are likely to have.

Here is a paragraph from the Pickwick Chronicle, that ought to make the cowardly fellow who is referred to literally crawl into his boots. Whether it is an editorial or a local we are unable to determine.

"A man and lady were going down the street and a cow came along and acted like it was going to hook them. The man ran and left the lady standing there to be hooked. We know who the parties are but we don't want to give it away."

In the personal column we have the following: "Miss Hollister left for Portland yesterday where she will make her future home."

The advertising columns seem to be well patronized but whether they are "dead heads" or paying ads we cannot say. Here are some of them.

"Go to Leslie Butler's for good groceries at reasonable prices."

"For a full line of general merchandise go to A. M. Williams & Co."

"French & McFarland have always on hand a full line of all general merchandise."

A small space at the foot of the column from which the above are taken shows that the little paper is looking out for an extension of its circulation. It contains the following legend:

"Subscribe for the Pickwick Chronicle."

Under the caption "Lost" we have the following: "In The Dalles, on Fourth street, some place west of Union street, a small mounted gold ring. The finder please bring it to Mr. T. Tupman."

The last paragraph also shows that like all other newspapers the "Pickwick Chronicle" is afflicted with delinquent subscribers. It is headed, "Notice," and reads thus: "Those members of the club and subscribers that do not pay their dues by June first will be fined five cents." There now, if that don't fetch them we would like to know what would. Success and long life to the Pickwick Chronicle.

GOBBLED BY THE U. P.

The "City of Frankfort" Folks Sell Out to the Corporation. The Astorian, May 29.

The Telephone, the Astorian, the Salem, the City of Frankfort; next! The steamer City of Frankfort that was "here to stay," that "wasn't to be bought off," etc., was gathered in yesterday by the U. P. Co., and goes along with the other boats in the U. P. home yard at Portland. It doesn't seem necessary to add any comment. It may be permissible to say what the Astorian has said so long that some people say they are tired of hearing it, viz: the way to insure competition on the river is for Astoria merchants to build and run a boat that is in for keeps, and not for a bluff.

We have money enough to build a fleet of boats, we have the best steamboatmen in the northwest, but the birds are flying over our heads and the U. P. quietly takes each little flunter wheel opposition in out of the wet, and socks up prices a little more to make Astorians pay for the trouble that their foolishness has put the company to—and so it goes.

Food in the Fares.

The food of the people consists chiefly of black or brown rye or barley bread, soup, milk, coffee, and fat, either fresh or dried. Almost every dwelling possesses its own kiadlur, or wind house, for drying purposes, the four sides of which are composed of laths, set some half inch from one another, to allow free passage to the air. Here, for months together, mutton and whale flesh hang uncooked, and are then considered fit for human food. Whale flesh is very supporting, but the dark, leathery rind, inclosing very coarse, bacon like fat, looks terribly untempting, and far worse is the taste.

Often rows of little fish hang outside the wind houses, appealing to the noses of the multitude of unowned cats which meet you at every turn in Thorshavn, and are encouraged as necessary to keep down the similarly attracted breed of rats. The pretty Faroese name of muskour, the mouse's brother, has, moreover, been given to the northern wren (troglodytes borealis, Fischer), not for size and color merely, but because, mouselike, it creeps through the chinks of the kiadlur to feast on the dried meats.—Good Words.

What a Small Boy Can Do.

Prince Morgan is the name of a little thirteen-year-old darky boy living at Shedd, Linne county, whose career promises to be somewhat checkered if he lives long enough, as it is already decidedly spotted. He is the lad who a few months ago purchased a gun on a forged order, shot-off two fingers and then before his fingers were well run away from home with property belonging to others. He was captured, but the grand jury refused to indict him, owing to his extreme youth. Not having a gun of his own any longer, he concluded to make one himself. Securing a gaspipe, he made a hole in it at the right place and plugged the end with wood. Loading it, he touched it off with a match. The plug flew in splinters, one piercing an ear, and the powder splattered over his face, burning it some, yet not injuring him seriously. He rushed into the house and told his mother a big man in a rubber suit had shot him through a crack in the barn.—Portland Oregonian.

Get me a cigar from that fine case at Snipes & Kinerley's. Long Ward offers for sale one of the best farms of its size in Sherman county. It consists of 240 acres of deeded land at Erskinville. There is a never-failing spring of living water capable of watering five hundred head of stock daily. The house, which is a large store building with ten rooms attached alone cost $1700. A blacksmith shop and other buildings and the whole surrounded by a good wire fence. Will be sold cheap and on easy terms. Apply by letter or otherwise to the editor of the CHRONICLE or to the owner, W. L. Ward, Boyd, Wasco county, Oregon.

Baby is sick.—The woeful expression of a Des Moines teamster's countenance showed his deep anxiety was not entirely without cause, when he inquired of a druggist of the same city what was best to give a baby for a cold? It was not necessary for him to say more, his countenance showed that the pet of the family, if not the idol of his life was in distress. "We give our baby Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," was the druggist's answer. "I don't like to give the baby such strong medicine," said the teamster. You know John Oleson, of the Watters-Talbot Printing Co., don't you? I inquired the druggist. "His baby, when eighteen months old, got hold of a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and drank the whole of it. Of course it made the baby vomit very freely but did not injure it in the least, and what is more, it cured the baby's cold. The teamster already knew the value of the Remedy, having used it himself, and was now satisfied that there was no danger in giving it even to a baby. For sale by Snipes & Kinerley.

FORFEITED RAILROAD LANDS.

We are now ready to prepare papers for the filing and entry of Railroad Lands. We also attend to business before the U. S. Land Office and Secretary of the Interior. Persons for whom we have prepared papers and who are required to renew their applications, will not be charged additional for such papers.

THOMAS BRY & HUDSON, Rooms 3 and 6, Land Office building, The Dalles, Oregon.

He wants it known.—Mr. J. H. Straub, a well known German citizen of Fort Madison, Iowa, was terribly afflicted with inflammatory rheumatism when Mr. J. F. Salmon, a prominent druggist there, advised him to use Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One bottle of it cured him. His case was a very severe one. He suffered a great deal and now wants others similarly afflicted to know what cured him. 50 cent bottles for sale by Snipes & Kinerley.

Notice.

Having leased the Mount Hood hotel at Hood River, I would respectfully call the attention of the traveling public to the fact that the house is being thoroughly renovated and will be open for the reception of guests on or about May 1st, and I would most respectfully solicit a share of the public patronage. Nothing will be over-looked for the comfort of guests. GEORGE HEBBERT.

The following statement from Mr. W. B. Denny, a well known dairyman of New Lexington, Ohio, will be of interest to persons troubled with Rheumatism. He says: "I have used Chamberlain's Pain Balm for nearly two years, four bottles in all, and there is nothing I have ever used that gave me as much relief for rheumatism. We always keep a bottle of it in the house." For sale by Snipes & Kinerley.
