LOCAL BREVITIES.

Battalion drill of the Third regiment at the armory tonight.

L. L. Hawkins of the Ainsworth National Bank of Portland, paid The Dalles a visit to-day.

Mr. Frank French returned home to-day from Salem where he has been attending the Willamette University.

The tenth annual commencement exercises of the Wasco Academy will be held at the Congregational church this evening.

From Mr. Blackburn of Grant we are pleased to learn that they had a fine rain in Sherman county yesterday. It commenced at 7.30 a. m. and lasted till noon.

The Oregon State Pharmaceutical Society of which our fellow-townsmen, Mr. Geo. C. Blakely is first vice president is now in session at Portland.

Mr. E. S. Brooks of Silvertown came up this morning on a visit to Samuel L. Brooks and wife. He will be present at Miss Iva's graduation tonight and will return to Silvertown tomorrow.

"Children's Day" will be observed by appropriate exercises by the Congregational Sabbath School on Sunday evening next. The programme will be given tomorrow.

From Yard Master C. W. Hudson we learn that the east bound train, leaving Albina at 9 a. m. will carry the stick of timber for the Chicago brewer's counter, 111 feet long by four feet square and weighing 90,000. It is carried on four flat cars. It will lie over in The Dalles all Thursday night.

Last evening the Alumni of the W. I. A. gave a very pleasant reception to the graduates, at the residence of Mr. W. G. Woodworth. At 9 o'clock, the members of the classes who had graduated in the years past, gathered, with the teachers around daintily laid luncheon tables, and the new class of three young ladies was introduced by Mr. H. Riddell in a few well chosen words, and was received by the vice-president, Miss Jessie Welch, in a manner befitting the occasion. The company lingered around the tables till 12 o'clock when they separated for their several homes, having had a most enjoyable time.

Mr. Truman Butler, writing to his father from Leocompton, Kansas, thus describes a Kansas thunder shower: "Of all the fireworks and discharging of heavy artillery which I ever heard, this was certainly the grandest. Thunder! yes it thundered till one could well imagine himself in the battle of Waterloo. The lightning was a grander sight than the people of The Dalles witnessed when Chinatown was burned or Ben Snipes had his fireworks. But all this was too fine to last long. Then as if the Atlantic and Pacific oceans had joined hands over us and with their united strength had resolved to baptise us, the rain descended.

Miss Ada Wood, who boards at the house of Mr. Geo. Smith on the bluff had her trunk robbed last night under the following circumstances: Miss Wood had packed her trunk yesterday, preparatory to a trip to the country. For the convenience of the expressman the trunk was set outside on the porch. During the night Mr. Smith heard a noise outside and on opening the door he confronted a man stooped over the trunk which he had forced open. The thief was using a candle to help him make his selection from its contents. The moment the door was opened the man took to his heels. Mr. Smith only got a glimpse of him but did not know him and could scarcely identify him: Three gold rings are missing only, which goes to show that the gentleman had a select taste in the choice of his plunder.

The residence of Mrs. Jucker in this city was the scene last evening of a very pleasant ceremony, being the marriage of her youngest daughter, Gussie, to Mr. Chas. F. Hobart. Rev. Father Bronsgeest, in the presence of the family and a few near friends joined the happy pair in holy matrimony and all sat down to a bountiful spread of all the season's delicacies made beautiful with rare and choice flowers. Hardly had all feasted ere strains of music from the Third regiment band were heard. Some very pretty selections were rendered after which the band boys were seated and partook of refreshments. Many gifts of plate and decorative art told the newly married couple what high esteem they shared in the hearts of friends and many were the well wishes of happiness and good fortune through life.

MAY NOT HAVE THE REGIMENT.

A Correspondent Intimates That It is Doubtful About Our Having the Encampment.

EDITOR CHRONICLE: I see the town placarded with an announcement detailing the proposed exercises on the coming Fourth of July and would like to know through your columns if said announcement is not a little premature. As I understand it there is no certainty as yet of the Third regiment going into camp here, on account of no suitable grounds being available within the means, at the disposal of Col. Houghton, and unless the Fourth of July committee get to the front in short order or some other enterprising citizens of The Dalles make arrangements to secure the only suitable piece of ground in this neighborhood, our Fourth of July celebration will be a fizzle and some more enterprising city will reap the benefit.

This camp is to be a camp of instruction and not a holiday. It is absolutely necessary that proper parade grounds, both company and battalion, be provided and if the efforts of Colonel Houghton to hold the encampment here are not ably and promptly seconded, some other locality will have to be selected. As I understand the adjutant-general has issued instructions to that effect. A U. S. army officer has been detailed to thoroughly enquire into and inspect the soldierly qualities of the O. N. G., and upon the behavior of the boys this year future encampments will depend. The Light Battery of artillery have been ordered into camp with the Third and this will mean sixty more men and horses with all the accoutrements for two gattling guns and will be a potent factor both in the street parade and the sham fight. All the supplies for the whole encampment will be purchased at the place where the encampment is held. The citizens of Eugene will appropriate over $2000 to have the Second regiment camp there, and they have given them outright $1200 and also provide a parade ground and transportation to and from it. The little town of Milton will spend nearly as much for the First regiment encampment.

Several towns in Eastern Oregon will give a large bonus to have the encampment of the Third in their vicinity, but if the citizens of The Dalles will secure the only available parade ground (viz. the Irving place) that is all they will be asked to do beyond what has already been promised for blank cartridges and other necessary expenses for the Fourth. It is to be hoped that some one will take hold of this matter and take hold of it promptly. As the time is near at hand for the encampment now and if prompt action is not taken, good-bye to the Fourth of July celebration at The Dalles. Yours, O. N. G.

Authority to Build a Portage Road at Celilo.

EDITOR CHRONICLE: Permit me, through the columns of your paper, to call attention to sub-division 1 of sec. 1 of the Portage Railway act, which reads as follows, to wit:

1. To build, construct, run, equip, operate and maintain a portage railway between the highest and lowest points of the navigable waters of the Columbia river at the Cascades, in Oregon, and also between the highest and lowest points of the navigable waters of said river between The Dalles and Celilo, in Oregon, as in their judgment shall be sufficient to meet the demands of transportation at those points; provided, that said board shall have the right to determine which railway shall be first built. Section 8 of said act provides for the appropriation of $60,000 for the uses and purposes aforesaid. It will be seen from the foregoing that there was no necessity for the Raley bill, and it only remains for future legislation, upon recommendation of the Board of Portage commissioners, or otherwise, to make appropriations for the completion of both roads.

PROBONO PUBLICO.

The Walla Walla grand jury, impaneled to investigate the circumstances connected with the lynching of Andrew J. Hunt by the soldiers of the Walla Walla garrison, have found a true bill against seven enlisted men of the Fourth U. S. cavalry. In their report they express themselves as satisfied that others of the soldiers, against whom they found it impossible to procure sufficient evidence, are equally guilty with those indicted. They charge Col. Compton with negligence in not taking sufficient precaution to keep his men under control, pending the excitement in the city over the shooting of soldier Miller. They blame the sheriff for not making proper resistance against the mob and express their opinion that had he done so a general alarm could have been sounded and in all probability the mob dispersed without gaining their object. They recommend that as the outrage was caused by United States troops, the county commissioners should make a list of all expenses to which the county has been and will be put in consequence, and have it submitted to congress for reimbursement. Finally, as the relations between the citizens and soldiers of the garrison must continue very much strained, they recommend that proper steps be taken to have the soldiers exchanged, and express the hope that the war department may accede to their wishes. The report bears evidence of great diligence on the part of the jury and of their disposition to treat all the parties concerned with perfect fairness and justice.

THAT BURGLARY AFFAIR.

A True Statement of the Facts of the Case.

The breaking into the store of Messrs. Roscoe & Gibbons, night before last was not alluded to in these columns solely out of consideration for the widowed mother and sisters of the boy who did the deed. Right or wrong this was our only motive in concealing the facts from the public and it needed no prompting on the part of any one to induce us to do it. Our contemporary having alluded to the matter last night, after having given his solemn word that he would say nothing of it and having entitled the article as a "burglary committed," and left the inference to be drawn that the young man in question was a thief, we have felt it our duty, in justice to the family of the young man as well as to himself to lay the whole matter before the public. Sam Gates, a son of the late Colonel Gates was found night before last, by Night Watchman Howe in a room back of Roscoe & Gibbons store at between two and three o'clock in the morning lying on the floor with his coat under his head and his shoes about twenty feet from him. He had entered the building by breaking a pane of glass in the door and putting in his hand and turning the key that was left in the store. He was promptly arrested by the watchman, and later in the morning was brought before Justice Schutz under the charge of burglary. The young man having pleaded "not guilty" two witnesses were examined for the prosecution, which was conducted, as was the case, by Prosecuting Attorney Wilson. Neither of the witnesses had any evidence whatever that gave any proof of intent to steal. On the contrary Mr. Roscoe testified that there was no sign of anything in the store having been touched or tampered with, and the night watchman swore that above an hour before the arrest he saw the boy in a drunken condition on one of the streets. Mr. A. A. Bonney was called for the defense and swore that sometime about 2 o'clock in the night he heard a noise and shouting outside as of somebody calling, "Oh, Newt; Oh, Newt," or some name with the sound of the letter u in it. Presently he heard the noise of broken glass but by the time he got out of bed and had opened the front door all was still. There was therefore not the slightest evidence of intent to steal, beyond the breaking into and presence in the building, and Mr. Wilson recommended his discharge. Judge Schutz, in giving his decision said there was nothing to hinder the boy from being prosecuted for housebreaking or trespass if parties were so inclined. The writer visited Mr. Ad. Keller who informed him that if he (Mr. Keller) had been brought into court he would have sworn that at 2 o'clock of the morning in question Sam Gates was so drunk that he refused to give him any more liquor and told him to go home. Mr. Roscoe, whose store was entered, said to the writer also: "I don't think the man had any intention of stealing. If so he would have made the least possible noise at the door, instead of calling so loudly and breaking the glass so violently as to wake Mr. Bonney sixty or eighty feet away."

Such is the story, simple and unvarnished, as we have it, both from the records of Judge Schutz's court and the witnesses. No one can believe for a moment, in the teeth of the evidence, that the boy had any intent to steal. Everything shows that he was simply so drunk that he did not know what he was doing. If we thought otherwise we should say so or say nothing. We hope the event will be a lesson to the boy that he will remember during his future life.

Baby is sick.—The woeful expression of a Des Moines teamster's countenance showed his deep anxiety was not entirely without cause, when he inquired of a druggist of the same city what was best to give a baby for a cold? It was not necessary for him to say more, his countenance showed that the pet of the family, if not the idol of his life was in distress. "We give our baby Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," was the druggist's answer. "I don't like to give the baby such strong medicine," said the teamster. You know John Oleason, of the Watters-Talbot Printing Co., don't you? Inquired the druggist. "His baby, when eighteen months old, got hold of a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and drank the whole of it. Of course it made the baby vomit very freely but did not injure it in the least, and what is more, it cured the baby's cold. The teamster already knew the value of the Remedy, having used it himself, and was now satisfied that there was no danger in giving it even to a baby. For sale by Snipes & Kinnersley.
