WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

THE DALLES, June 12, 1891. Weather forecast till 12 m., Saturday; light rains. Cooler.

The Chronicle is the Only Paper in The Dalles that Receives the Associated Press Dispatches.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

This is circus day. The circus train arrived in the city today about 11 o'clock.

A large number of people are in town presumably to attend the circus.

Mr. R. G. Guthrie, a prominent stockman from Sherman county, is in the city.

Dr. Logan, on his late visit to Portland visited Mr. Solomon and was pleased to find him improving though somewhat slowly.

Watch your houses closely tonight. Thieves run in company with most circuses, and this one may prove no exception to the rule.

Mr. Guy Wright and Fred Fisher who used to work in the Company's shops at this place came up this morning from Portland.

The new model cyclone fish wheel of Winans' Brothers is doing good work. No run of fish has occurred in the river as yet, nevertheless the three wheels of these gentlemen caught in the twenty-four hours of yesterday about 4000 pounds.

The country between Dufur and Tygh Ridge had another fine rain last night, the heaviest precipitation being, as usual, on the ridge. Parties from that neighborhood inform us that they have had all the rain they need and that nothing can now prevent large crops except hot scorching east winds.

In the rush of going to press yesterday the name of Mr. Frank Menefee was omitted from amongst the signers of the letter of acceptance, and we reprint the letter with his name in its proper place today. His name may have been left out accident all before election, but he will not be left on that day for he is a deserving gentleman and will be elected by a handsome majority.

The excursion and picnic of the pupils of the public schools, which took place yesterday, was a grand success. The Baker arrived at Hood River about 9 o'clock a. m. and the little and big folks as well, heartily enjoyed themselves in the woods around Hood River till the boat left at 5 o'clock. The Baker arrived home about seven without an accident to mar the pleasure of the trip.

The success of the Australian ballot system in this country is hastening the period of time when the electoral college will be abolished, and presidents as well as United States senators, will be chosen by a popular vote of the people. In this sense the proposition becomes a startling proof of the belief that the government is largely undermined by corruption. The senate has long been called a millionaire's club, and the demand for elections by the people has assumed very significant proportions the past few years.

Hon. H. H. Dufur brought with him from the Colville reservation a present from Moses, chief of the Columbia Indians, of which he is very proud. It is a tomahawk that was once the property of Saragamo, chief of the Okonagans, who died at an advanced age about two years ago and who owned the weapon as long as Moses remembers. Saragamo made a gift of it many years ago, to Moses and Moses in turn presented it to Mr. Dufur. The weapon is remarkably well made. Its hollow handle serves as a pipe-stem and the head is the shape and form of a tobacco pipe. It is studded with star marks and has a round copper plate set in the center of the blade. What tales the old weapon could tell, if it could only speak.

The business council of the Patrons of Husbandry held at Eight Mile, closed its labors on Wednesday after a very successful and enthusiastic session. From Mr. S. R. Husbands, who was a deputy of the Mosier grange, we learn that the attendance was good and the interest of the granges, in matters relating to the benefit of the order and of the farming classes generally, was unabated. An interesting discussion was held on the matter of assessment and taxation, and steps were taken for the formation of a beneficiary department, something after the style of the A. O. U. W., in connection with the order. The council was able to announce that plans had been fully arranged for the formation of a fire insurance company that shall give the benefits of absolute insurance against loss by fire to members in good standing, at the lowest possible cost to the parties insured. We heartily wish these measures abundant success.

Card from Prof. Ingalls. WASCO ACADEMY, June 12, '91. Editor Chronicle: Permit me to express through your columns my appreciation—as well as that of the officers and pupils of the academy—of the kindness of the many friends whose efforts contributed so largely to the enjoyment of our commencement last evening. Our thanks are due to the Congregational church and society for the use of their pleasant house of worship, and to the friends who furnished flowers and other material for decoration.

Miss Elizabeth M. Folsom, who had charge of the decorations, and the pupils who assisted her, are especially to be congratulated on the skill and taste displayed. The music furnished was a rich treat, and the performers one and all, are the recipients of our sincere thanks for their share of the exercises. We are also under obligations to Mr. I. C. Nickelsen for the piano used, and to Mr. J. M. Huntington for efficient services as chief usher.

I cannot close without alluding to one other matter which gave me more genuine pleasure than anything else. It has been my fortune to be present at a great many commencements, but I have yet to see, on such an occasion, a more attentive and appreciative audience than that which assembled last evening. Sincerely yours, W. C. INGALLS, Principal.

Thatcher's Minstrels. Manager Kinnersly begs to announce to the amusement-loving public of The Dalles that he has concluded arrangements with George Thatcher's famous minstrels to appear at the Vogt Grand next Monday evening, June 15th. The company is certainly the strongest and best in the country today, and should be liberally patronized. The Portland Oregonian says of the company's appearance at the Marquam Grand: A crowded house greeted George Thatcher's minstrels at the Marquam Grand last evening. Their performance throughout was excellent, in fact it was probably the best minstrel entertainment ever given in Portland. The audience was in splendid humor over the consolidation, victory and greatly enjoyed the varied programme.

Thatcher, who is one of the best-known minstrel comedians, was, as usual, a whole show in himself. The famous Lew Dockstadter captured the audience with his specialties and his local hits. His song, "Try, Try Again," in which he took occasion to localize with points on consolidation and city affairs, "took immensely" and he was encored time and time again. He appeared made up as President Harrison, and for nearly an hour the audience would not permit him to leave the stage. Bert Shepard makes a good partner for Thatcher on the end and was enjoyed almost as much. After Dockstadter's great hit the most enjoyable selection was R. J. Joe's rendition of "The Lone Grand." The audience that one is given an opportunity to hear a voice of such marvelous sweetness as that possessed by Mr. Joe. H. W. Frillman is well known here, and he sang "The Lost Chord" as only he can sing it. The vocalization of Raymon Moore, Thomas Lewis, J. A. Coleman, and the other members of the company was heartily enjoyed. The show was made up of bright and clever specialties, none of them tiresome, but all just long enough to cause the audience to wish for more. Frank La Mondhu, in his original act, "Fun on a clothes-line," Cain and Lorenzo, in their burlesque trapeze performance, Shepard's comical cornet solo, and Thatcher's monologue and song, kept the audience wavering between open-mouthed wonderment and uproarious laughter. The performance terminated with "The Fete of the Gold-dollars," introducing the entire company in a beautiful Terpsichorean feature that aptly illustrated the poetry of motion. The audience, which was the largest of the season, several hundred being turned away, departed more than satisfied with the show.

Commencement Exercise. The tenth annual commencement of the Wasco Independent Academy was held at the Congregational church last evening. The church was a bower of beauty and the decorations were superb. The building was crowded by friends and well-wishers of the school, and nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of the evening. The motto "Gradatim"—step by step—was hung conspicuously over the choir's alcove and was in handsome letters. The graduates were Misses Nona Iona Ruch, Iva C. Brooks, and Margaret Ann Keys, each of whom read the regulation essay. They were beautiful young ladies and each was dressed with becoming taste. Each graduate received from twenty to thirty floral tributes during the evening. We regret that we have not space to spare to comment on the programme which was well arranged and carried out. It was a pleasing and successful commencement and creditable to the academy.

The Encampment. The Dalles has responded liberally to the call for money to lease grounds for the use of the approaching encampment of the 8d regiment and this morning lieutenant R. H. Norton went out to the grounds to survey them, preparatory to getting them in shape for such purposes as the regiment shall want. Colonel Houghton is entitled to much credit for bringing this encampment about. He has had many obstacles to overcome and it has been only by his untiring efforts that the object has been attained. The Dalles owes the colonel a vote of thanks for his efforts in this direction and we feel sure that it will be given heartily.

The oil painting "Multnomah Falls," which has been on exhibition for some time at the Umatilla House, was raffled last evening and Neil McLeod of Golden-dale was the lucky man.

THE COMING ELECTION.

The Gentlemen on the Ticket Headed by Hon. Robt. Mays Signify Their Acceptance.

THE DALLES, Or., June 11, 1891. Messrs. Jas. A. Orchard, Chas. L. Schmidt, C. F. Hobart and others:

District attorney Wilson calls our attention to a little inaccuracy in our article of yesterday on the arrest and trial of Sam Gates. Mr. Wilson did not "recommend" the discharge of the prisoner. He says he made the best case he could and submitted it to the court without argument. But he also says he had no case and that justice Schutz could do nothing but discharge the prisoner. The testimony of the night watchman, alone, who was the main witness for the prosecution, was sufficient to show that the boy had no dishonorable intention whatever. We are informed that his shoes were found stuck in the hole of the water closet and not as if he merely had taken them off to facilitate a quiet escape. He did not make the least effort to escape but was found quietly asleep with his coat under his head and his shoes fifteen or twenty feet apart in the position already described. The friends of the boy may rest assured that not the slightest stain of dishonor attaches to him or them on his account, beyond the fact that he was so drunk that he did not know what he was doing.

Letters Advertised. The following is the list of letters remaining in The Dalles postoffice uncalled for Friday, June 12, 1891. Persons calling for these letters will please give the date on which they were advertised: Buhrer, Albert Chew, Robert Chrisinger, H Davis, Ed Dye, J W Eaton, Ben Grab, Maurus Gray, S K Gillespie, W P Herman, Chas H Jester, W E Husband, Ed Lewis, J L Miller, E Rogers, Frank Shmett, E C Robbins, M L Spooner, E M Soesbe, Mrs J A Woodman Society. M. T. NOLAN, P. M.

Night before last about 9 o'clock, as Charley Richmond was returning in his buggy from Charley Hall's fishery, two men ran out from the pines beyond the old powder house and one of them made a grab at the horses, but missing his grasp Mr. Richmond gave the horses a sharp cut of the whip and dashed past his assailants. The men fired two shots after him neither of which took effect. One of the men is described as being about the size and complexion of Mr. Richmond and wearing a light coat and a stiff hat. The other was thick set, with dark clothes and a black mustache. It is needless to say that Charley came to town as fast as his horses could bring him.

Charles Bascom, an old resident of this city, was struck with paralysis yesterday while sitting in his chair reading a newspaper in the saloon of Meatz & Pundt. He will be taken to St. Stephen's hospital at Portland.

We understand that a public meeting will be held in the city tonight to nominate candidates for the coming city election, but we give it merely as a rumor and have no authority to announce it as a fact. If the report proves true, notice will be given tomorrow evening.

Baby is sick.—The woeful expression of a Des Moines teamster's countenance showed his deep anxiety was not, entirely without cause, when he inquired of a druggist of the same city what was best to give a baby for a cold? It was not necessary for him to say more, his countenance showed that the pet of the family, if not the idol of his life was in distress. "We give our baby Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," was the druggist's answer. "I don't like to give the baby such strong medicine," said the teamster. You know John Oleson, of the Watters-Falbot Printing Co., don't you? inquired the druggist. "His baby, when eighteen months old, got hold of a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and drank the whole of it. Of course it made the baby vomit very freely but did not injure it in the least, and what is more, it cured the baby's cold. The teamster already knew the value of the Remedy, having used it himself, and was now satisfied that there was no danger in giving it even to a baby. For sale by Snipes & Kinnersly.
