NO TELEGRAPH.

We are compelled to go to press today

We paid our money and went on board the vessel, which was anchored about three miles from shore. We found a promiscuous crowd from every nation under heaven, the predominating type being that of the American rough. The deck was so densely packed with men from stem to stern that we could scarcely move. Many were prostrate with sickness, or supported by friends, or lying in hammocks swung along the side rigging. All day long this crowd of men were seething, swaying, quar-reling and cursing. No food was pro-vided, and hunger and thirst gave an edge to the bad passions of the mob.

The captain, a United States naval officer, had not assumed command be-cause he was shut off from his men by the chaotic crowd. At length, toward evening, he stood on the quarter deck and shouted above the angry mutters and jargon of the crowd that the deck must be cleared for his men so that they could raise the anchor. I had conferred with a few of the more respectable look-ing passengers, and we had concluded that there were more men on board than our contract stipulated for, so we replied to the captain that the anchor could not be raised until we had had a count. The effort to get the men in order and to set them in motion so that they could pass around in line required two or three hours, but was at last accomplished, and the result showed 440 persons on board besides the sailors. This attempt of the consignee to increase his enormous profits dishonestly at the risk and discomfort of the passengers excited a torrent of indignation. Inflammatory speeches were made, and a committee was appointed to visit the consignee and adjust the matter. About 100 men left for the shore in bosts that the natives had in waiting about the vessel, and those who remained agreed to keep the ship at anchor until they should return.—John C. Fremont in Century.

Light is necessary to health. People who live in gloomy places, say state prisons, for example, are always peakish. Owls affect the twilight and the dark, and what miserable mopes they are. Eagles love the sunshine, and how strong of wing they are and how exultingly they soar. It is true that one may have too much sun, but it is cheering to see the sunlight, even when it is necessary to sit in the shade. How it enlivens us in winter, exhilarates us in spring, enhances our appreciation of the shade in summer and charms us in glorious au-

HE WILL FIGHT AGAIN:

John L. Sullivan Will Once Again Enter the Prize Ring.

Bosron, June 13.—Sullivan writes a friend here that he will probably rejoin the ranks of professional pugilists on his return from Australia. Sullivan says the fight between Corbett and Jackson was no fight at all. The men appeared to be afraid of each other. Corbett, however, he says, had much the better of it, and would have been the winner if the contest had been to a finish. Sullivan says the contest had been to a finish. Sullivan thinks Corbett is a good man and a good scientific boxer. The champion confesses he has been waiting to see what the result would be between Corbett and Jackson, and Slavin and Kilrain, before announcing his plans. He feels sure that Kilrain will come out a victor in the contest with Slavin. He thinks whichever man wins, he will feel anxious to meet Corbett. If such a match takes place in the near future, Sullivan says he will meet the winner. IN DEEPER TROUBLE.

The Prince of Wales May Figure in Sensational Divorce Case.

LONDON, June 13 .- Today it is stated on what appears to be good authority that a divorce suit, instituted by Lord Brooke, is imminent, and that the Prince of Wales will be named as corespondent. Whether it arises because of the recent scandal and his presence, assistance of the impecunious prince with a least of $500,000 mbers it to the company's affairs. It is this alleged fact, it is said, which caused the recent revealation of the financial condition of the prince. Young Authur Stanley Wilson, the chief baccarat witness, is represented to have come to the assistance of the impecunious prince with a least of $500,000 mbers. by special request of the prince, at Tranby Croft, cannot now be stated. Society is all worked up over the matter, and it may be that revelations will be made rivaling the sensations of the Mor-daunt suit. Certainly the gossips intidaunt suit. Certainly the gossips intimate that the prince in some way communicated the charges against Sir William Gordon Cumming to Lady Brooke, and that she probably, in supposed confidential conversation, let the story out; hence all the recent hubbub. Why she was intrusted with the secret concerning the signet of the "hush" document is a mystery, which is only heightened by the sensational divorce proceedings talk now indulged in. Lady Brooke has thus, if the story is reliable, immensely increased the troubles which surround the heir to the throne on all sides. the heir to the throne on all sides.

Taken to the Morgue too Soon.

San Francisco, June 13.—The story has just been made public of a curious incident connected with the death of Marchesico Dominico, who died May 28 last. Dominico went to sleep in a restaurant. When the proprietor at-tempted to awaken him and put him out, he was apparently dead. The body was carried to the morgue and placed on a slab. A few hours afterward, when the officers entered the morgue, the body was gone. The coroner's men searched enerywhere for the body, but without success. During the search a telephone message announced the finding of a dead on the street. It was Dominico, who had been in a trance at first, and on awakenidg had fled from the morgue.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13,-The most important news developed today was the fact that John Bardsley proposes to make a full and complete statement of his transactions with the public funds, when he appears in court next week. Case of the Japanese Women

San Francisco, June 13 .- The cases of the women who were shipped from here on the steamer Pemptos by order of Col-lector Phelps, and who were afterward released from custody by Judge Deady when the Pemptos reached Portland have taken another odd turn. They were all said to be Japanese women when they were here. Now Collector Phelps has information that at least three have since returned to this city, but they have not yet been located here.

Heavily Indebted to the Barings.

London, June 13.—It is rumored the Prince of Wales is indebted to the Barings in a large amount, and is being pressed for payment by the liquidators of the company's affairs. It is this alleged fact, it is said, which caused the recent revelation of the financial condition of the prince. Young Authur Stanley Wilson, the chief baccarat witness is represented to have some to the assistance of the impecunious prince with a loan of £500,000, wherewith to meet the Baring claim.
