Now that the third regiment has broken camp and company F of Baker City has got home, we hope that wedding that the Blade said would have to be postponed on account of the encampment will now come off.

Mr. Wm. Chambers, formerly an old citizen of The Dalles, now of Albina, is in the city on business. Mr. Chambers says his love for his old home is greater since returning for a few days than ever and that The Dalles has no reason to complain as she is one among the best on the coast.

Careful and exact soundings, made under government auspices, with carefully adjusted instruments and exact bearings, on the 10th, 11th, and 12th of June last, show that in the shallowest place in the channel, at low water, at the mouth of the Columbia river, there is a depth of twenty-seven feet.

A gentlemen, living for the last year in this neighborhood, remarked to a representative of the CHRONICLE today while speaking of the delightful summer weather we have been having for the past three days, "I never lived in a country where there are so many fine days in the year as there are in Eastern Oregon."

Jno. W. Carey, of Dufur, last week lassoed an eagle in the timber west of Kingsley. Mr. Carey came on the bird unawares and as it rose from the ground he threw his rope with the above result. The bird measures five and one-half feet from tip to tip of its wings. Mr. Carey made a present of it to A. J. Wall who has added it to the attractions of the Eight Mile zoological gardens.

Mr. J. H. McHaley, of Eight Mile, left at this office what he says is an average sample of a field of oats, sown on summer fallow near the end of April last. The sample measures over six feet in length. It is quite green, just headed out, and the field from which the sample is taken will undoubtedly grow, if not cut for hay, at least another foot or perhaps more. A very fine sample of volunteer barley measuring nearly five feet accompanied the oats.

On Saturday last two of the six men who started the first woolen factory in Oregon in 1857, met in this city to celebrate the Fourth. These were Messrs. Geo. A. Young of Bake Oven and Geo. Welch of this city. The names of two others yet living are L. E. Pratt and P. F. Brown. The remaining two—Thomas Rowley and James T. Wortley are dead. The committee of the Fourth celebration remitted today to the captain of the Maple Dell's base ball club, of the Cascades, the prize of $25 for winning the base ball game in this city on the Fourth.

It is estimated that, at least $50,000,000 of government paper money, supposed to be in circulation, has been destroyed or lost. By the sinking of one vessel off the Atlantic coast some years ago, $1,000,000 in greenbacks were lost.

An Arlington correspondent of the Fossil Journal says that a wheat grower on the Heppner branch made a contract last week with a firm of Portland shippers to furnish several thousand bushels of wheat at 70 cents a bushel, free on board the Ione.

With the majority of the fish wheels the fishing season is practically ended. Last night the wheels of Charley Hall and Captain Stone caught only one fish each. A few wheels in favored localities will continue to catch more or less till the close of the season. Fishermen here say that during the season hitherto, not more than a quarter catch has been taken.

A collision occurred this morning near the Columbia hotel, between the sprinkling wagon and Wood Brothers' meat wagon. The result was that the meat wagon was turned bottom side up and the horse dragged it in this fashion for about a block when he was easily caught. An axle was badly sprung and some slight damage was done to the seat, but neither the horse nor the driver were injured.

The Man that Don't "Kick."

THE DALLES, Or., July 8, 1891.

EDITOR CHRONICLE—As the Fourth and things connected therewith have become a subject of general discussion allow me to suggest that possibly we (that is the "left on us") are slightly related to the mule, though will not admit are assinine and are always looking for an opening to kick and we generally get in no matter whether it be a "brother mule" or an outsider, and generally it is ourselves that are most hurt. Now we have kicked at the Colonel, kicked at the committee and everything else in sight and you often hear the expression, "The Dalles has received a black eye that it will be hard to get over." Well, who has given it? People that came here on that ill-fated day or our jealous and uncharitable way of treating things done? The failure of the sham battle to materialize seems the most agreeable thing to kick at and, while I subscribed several dollars, and gave some time and would like the best in the world to have had it take place, yet, under the circumstances, considering what the men had gone through marching up through the sand and wind and pulled about town in a whirlwind of dirt for hours and then insist that in such a blizzard, that that part be carried out, does not seem to me the part of humanity and will say I am not a member of the militia or brass band, nor do I take much stock in military affairs nor am I an apologist for officers. Neither am I on the inside or know who is to blame, but do believe we are allowing jealousy, prejudice and a propensity to talk just a little louder than the next man to have too much swing.

ANTI KICKER.

Some Dalles Fruit.

Mrs. J. H. Covington has brought to the CHRONICLE office some fine peaches which are richly flavored and toothsome. They are of the "Early Crawford" variety and are fully ripe. Mrs. Covington's place is three miles above The Dalles, just this side of the Sentert's. She and her husband have five acres in orchard and are well pleased with the result. The orchard is in a sheltered cove and for the eight years it has been tilled there never has been a failure of any part of the crop. Mrs. Covington says they keep a careful account of all sales and expenses, and that the orchard brings an average of $300 per acre, each year in fruit or melons. Last year $500 worth of melons were sold from a little over an acre, besides what the family used and gave away. At one time $750 worth of strawberries were sold from less than a half acre of the Covington place, all of which goes to show that exceeding fine crops can be raised in the vicinity of The Dalles. On this orchard there is no San Jose scale or other fruit pests, all of which goes to show that by proper care of the trees they can be kept healthy in this vicinity and orchards can be conducted at a handsome profit.

A PLEASANT OCCASION.

A Reception Last Night to Senator Dolph and Wife.

The handsome parlors of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Brooks was last evening the scene of a pleasant reception to Senator and Mrs. J. N. Dolph and their daughter, Miss Ruth. The evening was an agreeable one to all who were present. Senator Dolph was in excellent health and spirits and was glad to meet his constituents in a social way. He does not show the effects of the hard work that he has done for Oregon at the last session of congress, for his eyes are as bright and his form as erect as it was thirty years ago when he did not dream of the senatorial honors of a great state.

Mrs. Dolph was the picture of health and vivacity, and by her agreeable manners and kind treatment of the guests every one was put at ease. She was charmingly attired in light heliotrope silk, cut en train, and trimmed with pearl, with diamond ornaments. Miss Ruth wore white India silk with blue sash and looked very handsome. The bright little miss presided at the tea table during the evening and in a charming manner served iced tea and cakes to all who bowed at her shrine. The reception was an entirely informal one and no attempt at a programme of entertainment was made, the evening being passed in social conversation.

Among those present were Judge Bennett and wife, Mrs. Smith French, Dr. Shackelford and wife, Col. T. S. Lang and wife, Dr. Doane and wife, Col. E. W. Nevius, Mr. W. D. Palmer, Mr. J. M. Patterson and wife, Mr. M. T. Nolan and wife, Capt. John W. Lewis and wife, Dr. Peck, of Cleveland, Ohio, Mr. Linnus Hubbard, Prof. Ingalls, Rev. O. D. Taylor and wife, Mrs. N. B. Sinnott, Mrs. Jud Fish, Mrs. Fred Barton, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Brooks.

The United States Land office at this place has received enough money in the form of commissions, during the quarter ending June 30 1891, to pay the salaries of the register and receiver for the current year. Nearly as many entries have been made during the period as were made at both the offices of La Grande and Oregon City.

Arsenious Acid.

The medical dose of arsenious acid is about one-twentieth of a grain given in pill form after meals. This dose is increased under the directions of physicians, but it is a thing with which the laity should not tamper. The lethal or deadly dose is generally placed at about one and one-half grains for an adult. It has been placed at about one and one-half to two and one-third grains. The effects of arsenical solutions, such as Fowler's, are more rapid and severe than those of the solid drug.

Fowler's solution is a preparation much used. Women take it because it gives a plump appearance and beautifies the complexion. It is given in medicine as an alternative and is much used in skin diseases. Fowler's solution contains four grains of arsenious acid to the ounce. It is nearly colorless, with a faint taste of the compound spirit of lavender which is in it. The average dose in beginning is five drops in a wineglassful of water after meals. The ounce of solution contains about eight teaspoonfuls, and according to this the teaspoonful contains about half a grain of arsenious acid.—Kansas City Star.

Silk Raising in France.

During the first half of the present century silk raising in France was quite prosperous. In 1808 the production was 500,000 kilograms. It then increased steadily until 1849, when it was about 2,000,000 kilograms. In 1854 mulberry trees began to be attacked by a ravaging disease, which destroyed many plantations, and was merely the first of many reverses which have harassed and discouraged French silk growers. Since then the production has been subject to great fluctuations. In 1876 the low water mark for the century was reached, with an output of but 155,000 kilograms. During the last ten years the annual production has been from 600,000 to 800,000 kilograms.—Cor. Dry Goods Economist.

When Moses Day Walked.

Moses Day, of Boston, began life as a poor boy. When a young man he walked from Boston to Baltimore in search of work. Finding none he walked back again. He finally obtained employment in a ropewalk, which by diligence and inventive ability he transformed into one of the largest cordage factories in the country.—New York World.

"No; it's because you are English."—Life.

Father—A list of your debts would make very interesting reading.

Son—Possibly. But a little heavy. I fancy.—Munsey's Weekly.

A Very Small Farming Area.

Some interesting facts regarding New Mexico are contained in a census bulletin recently issued. It appears that crops were raised by irrigation in the year ending June 30, 1890, on 91,745 acres, or 143.95 square miles, a little more than one-tenth of 1 per cent. of the entire area of the territory. The aggregate number of farms was 4,174 (not including those of the Pueblo Indians), and of these 2,085, or nearly three-fourths, depended upon irrigation.

The Northwestern Life Insurance Co., OF MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN.

Assets over $42,000,000.00.
Surplus over $6,500,000.00.

LAGONDI HEIGHTS, SPRINGFIELD, O., June 15, 1891.

Prof. E. L. Shuey, Dayton, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Replying to your request for a statement of the facts concerning my experience with the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York in their last settlement with me, I would state that in the early part of 1881, my age being 56 years, I took out a Ten-Payment Life Policy in the Equitable upon their Ten-Year Tontine plan, for $10,000. My premiums during the period amounted to $7,512.00. The Tontine period expired early in January of the present year, and the Company then offered me the following terms of settlement:

FIRST—A paid up policy for $40,000 00
And cash $751 60
SECOND—A paid up policy for 54,500 00
THIRD—Surrender my policy, and receive in cash 36,406 80

I was so little satisfied with the results of my investment that I chose the third, cash, proposition, but when I so decided, the company, through several of its representatives, labored to induce me to take one of the other forms of settlement, but finding that I was determined to surrender the policy and take the cash, they finally instructed me from the home office to send policy and receipt for the amount, $36,406.80, to their State manager in Cleveland, and he would remit me the amount. I followed their instructions and sent the policy and receipt through my bank in Springfield to correspond in Cleveland, only to have it returned from the Cleveland Bank with the information that the State manager of the Equitable states that he "had not sufficient funds to meet it." This forced me to return it to the New York office, and compelled me to wait some twenty days after maturity before receiving final settlement.

I have given no statement endorsing the Equitable, or expressing my satisfaction with their settlement with me. On the other hand I have positively refused to do so. The fact that my returns were $1,018.20 less than my total investment renders further comment unnecessary.

During the time I carried the Equitable policy and up to the day when they submitted the above proposition to me, I was kept in total ignorance of the condition of my investment.

In marked contrast with this has been my experience with the Northwestern, in which in 1882, I took a Ten-Year Endowment Policy, Ten-Year Tontine, for $10,000, that company having from their actuary, so that while my policy has not yet matured, and will not until next year, I have the satisfaction of knowing that at maturity it will net me from $4,000 to $5,000 more than the face of the policy calls for.

Very truly yours,
ROSS MITCHELL.
