THE SOUTHERN IDOL.

Unveiling of a Statue to General Stonewall Jackson at Lexington, Virginia, Yesterday.

The Fitzsimmons-Hall Prize Fight will Go On—A Defeating Treasurer Captured in Mexico.

LEXINGTON, Va., July 21.—This is the thirtieth anniversary of the first battle of Manassas, and Lexington, the quiet agricultural village in which was spent the lifetime of Stonewall Jackson, the most picturesque figure of the Southern Confederacy, is brilliant with life and color.

The procession first moved to the campus of the Washington and Lee University and halted at the platform, which was handsomely decorated. Rev. Dr. M. C. Hopkins, of West Virginia, who as chaplain of the 2d Virginia regiment, was with Jackson in nearly all his fights, opened the ceremonies with prayer.

The weather was fine, a fresh cool breeze tempering the rays of the sun. The streets and buildings were appropriately decorated. Three beautiful arches extended over Main street.

The statue stands on an eminence in the center of the City cemetery on Main street, well set off with giant trees. It is of bronze, heroic size and portrays Jackson with uncovered head leaning on his sword and left leg and looking out upon the field of battle.
