WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

THE DALLES, July 24, 1891. Weather forecast till 12 m., Saturday, fair. Nearly stationary temperature. Westerly winds.

The Chronicle is the Only Paper in The Dalles that Receives the Associated Press Dispatches.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

If the flies bother you in the kitchen sprinkle a few grains of camphor on the stove.

Chas. E. Haight has lost a diamond scarf pin and offers a reward of ten dollars for its recovery.

Mr. Frank Lee, editor of the Klickitat Leader, was in the city last night but returned home this morning.

The wife of Mr. Nicholas Blasen, of Eight Mile, was buried today, at 2 o'clock from the Protestant Episcopal church.

Mr. E. O. McCain, who has resided in this city and neighborhood for the past year will leave in a few days to visit his father at Stewart, Colorado.

We are pleased to see Mr. August Buchler again on the street. His arm is yet in a sling but he expects to be as good as new in a couple of weeks.

Mr. Chas. Dehm who has charge of the machinery at Fort Stephens, on the government jetty works arrived from below on the noon train and will remain for a few days.

Elder Richardson of Klickitat county organized two Sundays ago, in the town of Dufur, a church of Disciples, and has engaged to be with them hereafter on the second Sunday of each month.

It is said that since the Rowena trestle was burned, involving a loss to the U. P. company of $1800, sixty watch men have been put on the road between Troutdale and The Dalles.

It is reckoned that the Palouse country will, this year, raise enough grain to fill fifteen thousand train loads of fifteen cars each. No wonder the farmers of that neighborhood fear another blockade.

Nothing is being done at the stock yards beyond taking care of the melancholy brindle cow and calf and opening and closing the gate of the corral to a recalcitrant bovine, brought thither by the assiduous officers of the law.

One of Spokane's newspapers saved that city $7000 last week by exposing a little job to dispose of some bonds without due publicity. Those who were in it for the boodle are as mad as usual against the cuss of a newspaper that is always giving such snafus whenever they are attempted.—Democrat.

The Wasco warehouse will, to night, have only about 700 bales of wool left of the immense number that has been handled there during the season. During the last 24 hours sixty three bales have been received but the wool-hauling is practically ended for this year.

"The sacred walls of old Independence Hall," says the Philadelphia Record, "are literally covered with the pictures of men famous in the history of the United States, Pennsylvania and Philadelphia. Among them is a portrait of John Bardsley. Not one of these pictures has ever been taken down for any cause, and when within a fortnight John Bardsley's portrait is removed from Common Council Chamber, as it certainly will be, a precedent will be established. The picture hangs at the extreme right of the president's chair and is a speaking likeness of the defaulting city treasurer."

The fickle character of the goddess of fortune is aptly illustrated by a story that comes to us from Baker City concerning Dave Scholts, an old time freighter between here and Canyon City. A few years ago Dave got caught, during the winter in this city in a heavy snow storm which held him here, hard and fast under heavy expense for feed for his teams for a period of two or three months, and left him dead broke, so that but for the kindness of August Buchler and two or three other gentlemen in this city, himself and horses would have starved. As it was, in a short time everything he had was sold at a sheriff's sale and poor Dave betook himself, as a dernier resort to prospecting in the Blue mountains. How well he has succeeded can be gathered from the fact that the erstwhile freighter and all-round busted bankrupt sold half of one of his mines the other day for the snug little sum of half a million.

Mr. A. S. Macalister returned from Portland this morning. He informs us that the contract for finishing the City of The Dalles has been let to Paquet & Smith and that the boat will be finished and the portage open and running, beyond a reasonable doubt by the first of September. The lower boat will be first class in every respect, just a little smaller than the Regulator, but, Mr. Paquet thinks, able to beat her in a race and this is saying a good deal as the Regulator will certainly run like a scared wolf.

A Happy Thought.

Mr. E. O. Butler, of the firm of Wiseman & Butler conceived yesterday afternoon, the singularly happy thought of hiring the merry-go-round and giving to the little boys and girls of the city two hours of solid, unalloyed pleasure, without price. The evening papers duly announced the scheme and several hundred hand bills were struck off and distributed by so many little boys that Mr. Butler says "every boy in town, it seemed, called on him for two bits as pay for his work." When the hour of 8:30 arrived a crowd numbering away up in the hundreds assembled around the machine, and for two solid hours, enjoyed themselves immensely. We never saw a happier lot and we could not help thinking that we never witnessed a happier conception than that which furnished the dear little people with so great a treat. The act had indeed the quality of mercy. It was twice blessed. It blest him that gave and those that did receive and happier than the happiest of the happy-lots was Mr. Butler himself. It is but fair to say that while, Mr. Butler contributed the lion's share of the expense the following gentlemen also generously participated in the outlay: Messrs. Hank Knight, C. E. Haight, Chas. Stubbings, G. C. Bills, C. M. Brown, W. E. Garrettson, N. E. Wyers, W. S. Graham, Fred Fundt, F. Lemke, M. Varnus, Tom Kelly, Wm. Cash, Mrs. Cash, C. E. Richmond, and Joe Parodi. Frank Roach, Tom Sullivan and Sam Thurman were appointed special policemen for the occasion and they and Mr. Butler succeeded in maintaining excellent order.

The Dalles Typographical Union blossomed forth like a new blown rose, last Wednesday evening. The convention of printers was held in the office of The Dalles Daily Chronicle (which is now a strictly union office and recognized as the staunch friend of organized labor) a majority of the journeyman printers in The Dalles being present. The temporary organization was presided over by Doc. W. F. Osburn, of Portland, the district organizer of the American Federation of Trades. The committee on constitution and by-laws submitted their report, which was adopted. The constitution and by-laws were adopted section by section and article by article. Following is a list of the officers and members: President, A. E. French; Vice President, J. F. Haworth; Sec. Treas., H. C. Woodnutt; Corresponding Sec., Milton Harlan; Sergeant-at-arms, J. M. Baldwin; Executive Committee, M. Harlan, J. F. Harworth, R. C. Fleck and H. C. Woodnutt. The officers will be installed at the meeting in August. The Dalles Typographical Union is here to stay; though few in number the Union has the pleasure of knowing that it will be backed and supported by the most powerful labor organization in the world—the American Federation of Labor, which has a membership of nearly 4,000,000 of the most skilled mechanics and artisans on the face of the globe. The following motto has been adopted: "One for all and all for one."

A woman named Molly Gardner arrived with her two children from Portland this morning and at once applied to his Honor Judge Thornbury for food and transportation further east. She claims to be a resident of Indian Territory, where her husband deserted her, after attempting to poison herself and children and actually poisoning her youngest child. After her husband had deserted her to take up with another woman she and her two children left their home for Washington, D. C. where she claims to have an aunt residing. By some means she was carried to Portland, Or., and after she had made known her history to the authorities, there, being destitute, they forwarded her on the way to The Dalles. The kind hearted judge, after hearing her plaint made ample provision for her being cared for between here and Pendleton. The woman speaks very poor English, and appears to be otherwise mentally defective.

It has been decided to give a moonlight excursion to Hood River on the Baker next Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock. The boat will leave promptly at the hour named and return about midnight. This decision is based on the supposition that 150 tickets can be sold at seventy-five cents each, of which we have no doubt in the world. Mr. Lytle will place the tickets on sale immediately and when the number of 150 is secured the fact will be duly announced. Our gentlemanly agent Mr. E. E. Lytle, in reply to an inquiry addressed to the general passenger agent of the Union Pacific company, received the following: "If you can get a guarantee of 150 people at seventy-five cents each to Hood River and return, for moonlight on the Baker, any night it will pay us."

Mr. Elliott, the U. P. baggage master at this place, was taken with cramps while bathing last evening opposite the D. S. Baker landing, and would undoubtedly have been drowned had not Roger and Nicholas Sinnott come promptly to his rescue, as he called for help. We are told this is a dangerous place for bathing as there is a strong, cold undercurrent that the strongest swimmer can scarcely tackle with safety, and more than one person has been sucked under by the treacherous current.

Persons leaving the city for a summer outing can have the CHRONICLE sent to them without extra charge.

If you want fine job printing call at the CHRONICLE office.

Advertised Letters.

The following is the list of letters remaining in The Dalles postoffice unclaimed for Friday, July 24, 1891. Persons calling for these letters will please give the date on which they were advertised: Davis E. L., Dodson Mrs T D, Elkins Jack, Gerken Albert, Hearing Will, Marshall H J, Srew W W, Davidson Mrs J W, Dunlap C A, Finlayson Mrs M, Hazell James, Lung Sing, McKinney George, Walsher Jim, M. T. NOLAN, P. M.

This morning E. N. Chandler entered the store of Leslie Butler with a face as radiant as a full moon and announced his determination to renounce the superintendency of the granger store, which he has graced for the few months the store has been in operation. It was quite a blow to Mr. Butler who has learned to respect and esteem Mr. Chandler very highly and he naturally enquired the cause of this sudden determination. "Well, you see," said Mr. Chandler, "away back in Michigan, over thirty-two years ago, a man beat me out of a sum of money and I have just got word that the whole amount has been expressed to my address." "I hope," said Mr. Butler, "you will conclude to remain with us and invest the money in some enterprise that will benefit the town." "You see," he continued, "we need a portage railroad and a woolen mill and a scouring mill and a—by the way, how much did you say the amount was?" "Fourteen dollars and eighty cents," replied Mr. Chandler, "and I am going to start a bank."

State lecturer Holder came into town last evening and left this afternoon for Dufur. He informs us that he has just had a letter from Professor French of the State Agricultural College who promises to hold a farmers' institute at Dufur, sometime during the month of October next. Four of the college professors intend to be present and take part in the proceedings, which, if they are anything like those of one lately held in Wasco, will be both pleasant and profitable to all who may be privileged to attend.

Hop Sing, a wall-eyed Celestial, was splitting wood, this morning, in front of his den on First street. Hop evidently was dreaming of some wall-eyed, pigeon-toed beauty in the flowery kingdom, for instead of splitting wood with the axe he was using, he split his foot. Hop hopped off with a hop and is now busily engaged in nursing a foot and cussing, in choicest Mongolese, the cause of his woes.

Lo! these many moons ago, there arrived in the beautiful city of The Dalles, a youth so slender that he could have easily been blown through a flute! Yesterday we met him on the street and—well, now you could not blow him through the shell of the largest sized baseball drum. All the result of this wonderful health-giving climate.

George Nowak, the contractor, this forenoon finished the work of removing the Catholic church building and locating it on its new lot, when it was received by the church committee, Messrs. E. P. Fitzgerald, Max Vogt and H. Horbring. We understand services will be held in it next Sunday at the usual hours.

Any of the ladies of The Dalles who desire to learn to ride bicycles will be given instructions free of charge by Mr. Fee of Portland on Friday, Saturday and Monday evenings, at Armory hall, beginning at 8 o'clock.

This morning we saw six-and-a-half feet of humanity attempt to ride a kid's bicycle. The attempt was a dismal failure. The machine went one way and his legs flew somewhere else.

Maier & Benton, proprietors of The Dalles Ice Company, received this morning two car loads of the famous Coco Lalla ice, which is superior to anything in the market. Maier & Benton always lead and never follow.

Mr. Frank Pike, of Wasco and Hon. W. McD. Lewis and Mr. J. P. Abbott of Wapinitia are in the city.

It was 102 degrees in the shade yesterday in Portland at 3 o'clock, the highest temperature ever known in that city.

Horses Wanted.—I want to buy a span of good ponies weighing from 900 to 1000 pounds each. They must be sound, gentle and well broken to harness. Enquire at Tom Ward's stable. RICHARD G. CLOSTER, THE DALLES, Or., July 22, 1891.

LAGONDA HEIGHTS, SPRINGFIELD, O., June 15, 1891.

Prof. E. L. Saucy, Dayton, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Replying to your request for a statement of the facts concerning my experience with the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York in their late settlement with me, I would state that in the early part of 1881, my age being 56 years, I took out a Ten-Payment Life Policy in the Equitable upon their Ten-Year Tontine Plan, for $40,000. My premiums during the period amounted to $7,512.00. The Tontine period expired early in January of the present year, and the Company then offered me the following terms of settlement:

FIRST—A paid up policy for $40,000.00 and cash 9,751.60. SECOND—A paid up policy for 54,000.00 and cash 35,496.80. THIRD—Surrender my policy, and receive in cash 54,000.00.

I was so little satisfied with the results of my investment that I chose the third, cash, proposition, but when I so decided, the company, through several of its representatives, labored to induce me to take one of the other forms of settlement, but finding that I was determined to surrender the policy and take the cash, they finally instructed me from the home office to send policy and receipt for the amount, $36,496.80, to their State manager in Cleveland, and he would remit me the amount. I followed their instructions and sent the policy and receipt through my bank in Springfield to our correspondent in Cleveland, only to have it returned from the Cleveland Bank with the information that the State manager of the Equitable states that he "had not sufficient funds to meet it." This forced me to return it to the New York office, and compelled me to wait some twenty days after maturity before receiving final settlement.

I have given no statement endorsing the Equitable, or expressing my satisfaction with their settlement with me. On the other hand I have positively refused to do so. The fact that my returns were $1,018.20 less than my total investment renders further comment unnecessary.

During the time I carried the Equitable policy and up to the day when they submitted the above proposition to me, I was kept in total ignorance of the condition of my investment. In marked contrast with this has been my experience with the Northwestern, in which in 1882, I took a Ten-Year Endowment Policy, Ten-Year Tontine, for $10,000, that company having from time to time furnished me with a memorandum of the surplus on my policy over the signature of their actuary; so that while my policy has not yet matured, and will not until next year, I have the satisfaction of knowing that at maturity it will net me from $4,000 to $5,000 more than the face of the policy calls for. Very truly yours, ROSS MITCHELL.
