WE CAN BEAT THE WORLD.

One of the most important industries of the great state of California is her grape culture. Lands adapted for raising grapes command prices ranging from a hundred to five hundred and a thousand dollars an acre. Here, in Oregon, there is a stretch of country, bordering on the Columbia, from the John Day river to the Multnomah county line, that, for raising grapes is not excelled by any part of California. The truth of this statement has been demonstrated a hundred times in a hundred ways. No one acquainted with the country pretends for a moment to deny it, and yet many of these lands can be purchased today for five to twenty dollars an acre, while others, in some respects little inferior can be had for little over the government price, and, even excellent fruit and grape lands can be had for the taking up. A resident of this city, who spent his first twenty-eight years on the Rhine and the remainder of an extended life on a favored grape-raising section on the Mississippi river, remarked to the writer that he had been engaged in grape culture and vineyard work all his life and that he never saw a country that excelled this for raising grapes. These facts are so well known to the people of this section that they require no proof. The only strange thing about them is that they have not been taken advantage of to a greater extent.

WHERE THE MONEY.

The Chicago Tribune lately published a brief table which is of considerable interest to every student of the liquor question. The population of Chicago, is in round numbers 1,200,000. A recent report of the city board of health gives the number of firms and persons engaged in various occupations. From that report the Tribune takes the figures in the following table, which shows the number of inhabitants to each saloon, meat market, etc.: Saloon, 217; meat market, 770; lawyer, 450; cigar shop, 900; grocery, 377; drug store, 2,000; doctor 700; office holder, 120. The office holders are at the head of the procession and the saloons come next. Notice the great jump there is from the saloon to the grocery and meat market, both of which cater to the prime necessity of mankind—food. The Tribune remarks that "there is one municipal and government employe for every 120 Chicagoans, men women and children; that is a good record, and it shows where the taxes go." But there is one saloon for every 217 people—men, women and children in Chicago and this shows undoubtedly, where a great deal of the money goes.

WHAT HE KNOWS ABOUT FARMING.

Where is General Varney and Emile Schanno and Uncle Jerry Rusk and the Oregon Horticultural Society and the State Entomologist? The Times-Mountain has made a discovery and here it is: "The forthcoming pest of the country is the Hessian fly which is developing its propensities in the orchards of the different portions of the state." Shades of Cincinnatus and Horace Greeley! That's what a man gets by "studying logic and metaphysics." That beats the city belle who supposed that cow's milk was obtained by pumping it out of the cow, and using the tail as a handle. That beats the editor who advised farmers to exterminate the weevil from their grain bins with a shot gun. We shall not be surprised to soon hear of the devastating effects of horse flies on the green corn, or type lice on printer's eyes.

A COMMENDABLE ACT.

When Governor Merriam interposed to stop the slugging match the other day in St. Paul he performed an act for which he will have the grateful thanks of every right minded citizen, without respect of class, creed or party. These beastly exhibitions of brute force and mis-called science are becoming thoroughly disgusting. They are a blot upon the civilization of the age and ought to be as repugnant to the taste of anyone entitled to be called a gentleman as a Roman gladiatorial murder or a modern Spanish bull fight.

The East Oregonian says that Pendleton contains a nephew of the famous sensational actress Sara Bernhardt, and that Sara is originally from the state of New York and that she ran away from her home, in that state thirty-nine years ago. According to this story the Bernhardt is not a French woman, as is generally supposed, but an American of French and Jewish extraction and she has several relations, including two sisters and one brother in the United States, whom she is expected to visit when she comes to this country.

Comes of Prolific Stock.
Mrs. Lucian Mayberry, of Little Rock, Ark., has beaten the record and is the mother of ten children, all born within a married life of thirty-nine months. Of the number there are two triplets and two pairs of twins, one of the latter being only a few days old. The children are all healthy and even unusually intelligent for their ages. Mr. Mayberry is a well-to-do merchant and regards his extraordinary family with pride, though he says he does not feel like the head of a founding asylum. Mrs. Mayberry is a pretty blonde woman of barely twenty-four years, plump and good-natured over her numerous brood. She says that her mother gave birth to six pairs of twins, and her grandmother, Miss Annabel Humphrey, of Maryland, and a great belle at Washington during the first Harrison's administration, presented her husband every second year for twenty years with triplets. Mr. Mayberry, on the contrary, states that he was the only child of parents themselves only children. Another peculiarity of his little family is that they are all boys. Physicians say that Mrs. Mayberry has surpassed by one any case of which they have any record, a Polish countess in 1705 having given birth to nine children in the same length of time, but she died on the last occasion and three of the children died with her, while all were undersized and deficient in intellect and physical vitality, living only a few years and dying of premature decay.

Oregon Contributes Her Part.

The Financial and Mining Record deduces the fact from the eleventh census that the mineral product of the United States for 1890 was the largest ever reported for any country on the globe, reaching the stupendous total of $556,989,450. Its production employed 512,114 persons; cost in wages, $212,409,891, and involved a capital investment of $1,173,000,000. There are 30,000 industrial mining establishments in the country. Here are one half million employes in a line of industry that probably not one-third of that number of beings in the United States outside of themselves imagined that the mining interest of the country was so very extensive. Oregon's record in mines is greatly increased in the past few years, but if experts are to be believed, there awaits a surprise in this state in the development work of some new mines in Baker City district. —Baker City Democrat.

A man was run over this morning, near Evans, four miles above Walla Walla, on the Dayton branch of the O. & W. T. Engineer Johnson was speeding along with a freight train when he noticed the fellow walking on the track toward the engine. Thinking of course the man would get out of the way, he did not stop until it was too late, but rang the bell and whistled. The unfortunate did not budge, however. He simply threw up his hands as the train neared him and was struck by the engine and killed instantly. He was doubtless tired of life, and took this method as a quick and easy one for "shuffling off this mortal coil." The coroner was notified at Walla Walla, and went out to the scene to hold an inquest over the remains. —East Oregonian.

A wicked exchange says that nothing is worse than to get rich. It is only to trust nobody, befriend none, get all you can and save all you get; stint yourself and everybody that belongs to you, and to be the friend of no man and have no man for your friend; to heap interest cent upon cent; to be mean, miserably and despised for some twenty or thirty years, and riches will come as sure as disease, disappointment and death. And when pretty nearly enough wealth is collected by a disregard of all charities of the human heart and at the expense of every enjoyment, death will finish the work. The body is buried, the heirs dance and fight over what you have left, and the spirit will go—where? By all means get rich. It will pay—the devil.

"The printing press has made presidents, killed poets, furnished bustles for beauties, punished genius with criticism. It has curtailed the power of kings, graced the pantry shelves and busted. It has converted bankers into paupers, and made lawyers out of college presidents. It has educated the homeless and robbed the philosopher of his reason. It smiles and cries and dies, but it can't be run to suit everybody and the man is a fool who tries it. —Weston Leader.

The success of the steamer Wetmore that carried 95,000 bushels of wheat direct from Duluth, Minnesota, to Liverpool is the first triumph of the kind. This adds to Chicago's glory in the coming world's fair, and when ocean steamers once begin to traverse Lake Michigan the hub of the universe will be transferred from Boston to the Windy city. —Salem Journal.

An intimate friend of Baron Fava says that the New Orleans affair is to be settled by congress passing a bill providing for the payment of $1,000 to each of the families of the Italians who were citizens of this country when they were lynched.
