THE ST. MAUDE DISASTER.

Still the Talk of Paris—More Particulars of the Collision.

PARIS, July 28.—The terrible excursion train collision at St. Maude near this city, is still the feature of popular interest here. The newspapers of this city and the provinces are filled with harrowing details of the disaster, such as ghostly railroad accidents not being every day occurrences here and are popularly supposed to be confined to the United States.

The funeral of the victims will be held in the cemetery of St. Maude and will be conducted at the expense of the commune.

The assistant station master at Vincennes and the driver of the second engine has been arrested. The lady announced as being among the victims of the disaster is not Marquise De Monteforata but Madame Blancey or Blanchet of New York City.

Up to the present the official inquiry has failed to establish clearly the real cause of the collision which is attributed in turn to revenge, malice, carelessness and incompetence according to the revelations of the hour.

The action of the firemen in drowning the roasted and wounded people imprisoned beneath the wreck is most severely condemned. Seven additional people, victims of the collision, died last night, making a total of fifty dead which is accounted for.

ELLIOT CONVICTED.

The End of a Long Trial—Direct Result of Personal Journalism.

COLUMBUS, O., July 28.—William J. Elliott the former proprietor and editor of the Sunday Capitol who, with his brother P. J. Elliott killed Albert Osborne a reporter of the Sunday World and W. L. Hughes, A. Bisland, besides wounding a number of people during a shooting affray on High street on the afternoon of February 23d last, was convicted this morning of murder in the second degree. The trial has been in progress since May 11th. The crime was the direct result of personal journalism.

THE BONES OF COLUMBUS.

Proposed Meeting of Historical Societies to Determine Their Resting Place.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The press of San Domingo is urging a convention of the representatives of all the historical societies in the world to be held in that city to discuss and settle the vexed question of the place where rest the earthly remains of Christopher Columbus. Havana claims to have the only genuine bones, and this is indignantly denied by the Dominicans. The controversy is raging in the newspapers with as much vehemence as the dispute as to the superiority of Western towns. It is thought if a representative body of men of that kind could be gathered on the scene of the acts in dispute, that the matter might be settled forever.

Providence Was Kind to Them.

GLASGOW, July 28.—A school of over one hundred whales was recently driven by the tide into Wilsford bay near Kirkwall, on the Orkney coast, and hundreds of the inhabitants of that district, armed with weapons of every description, rallied to the spot and began slaughtering the huge creatures and dragging their carcasses ashore. Not a single one escaped. The scene was the most unique in whaling annals. The people of the vicinity have been suffering from hard times, and are inclined to think the sudden free gift of so much eatable and saleable matter providential.

Called Him to the Telephone.

CLEVELAND, O., July 26.—At Akron today, Otto Schonbuve, aged 19, an employe of the Warner Printing company, called the cashier, who was making up the payroll, to the telephone. When the cashier returned to the office Otto was missing, he having stolen $2000 from the bank and disappeared. Two confederates were waiting outside with a team. Officers are in pursuit, but no trace of them has been discovered.

A TIME FOR PRAYER.

Lightning Strikes the Steeple of a Crowded Church.

GREENVILLE, Pa., July 26.—This morning while the Rev. J. C. Sceler was delivering a sermon in the United Presbyterian church, a sudden storm arose and the high steeple was struck and shattered by a bolt of lightning. There were over 300 people in the church at the time, and a panic followed which was only quelled by the pastor and cool-headed men commanding that no rush be made for the door. Many women screamed and fainted when a blinding flash was followed by the creaking of the steeple; but outside of several slight shocks no one was injured. The congregation then joined in prayer and thanksgiving for the marvelous escape, and was dismissed with a tremulous benediction.

WANT THE WAR ENDED.

Rumors of Offers of a Compromise From the Congressional Party.

NEW YORK, July 26.—A special from Lazarna, Chili, says: The British gunboat Daphne has arrived here from Iquique. She is the bearer of important letters from Jorge Montt, commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the congressional party, to President Balmaceda the contents are a secret. It is believed here, however, that they will offer some sort of compromise with the government. Rumors are afloat in this city, and are generally believed, that the insurgents are weakening. It is said that they contemplate a movement upon Balmaceda's forces at once as a last resort. They are anxious to have the struggle settled at once and for good. The government forces are missing here.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Went to Embarrass the Commission.

PARIS, July 26.—The French papers of Friday last contained what purported to be a telegraphic dispatch from Chicago, stating that Germany would be more favorably treated than France by the Chicago fair authorities. The statement was obviously designed to embarrass the fair commission. Reporters from all the leading papers kept the Chicago commissioners busy with the interviews on the subject. The visit of the commissioners has greatly increased French interest in the fair.

For Exhibition at the Fair.

KANSAS CITY, July 26.—Mrs. Samuel, mother of Jesse James, has received an offer from Chicago for her one and one-half story log house for exhibition at the world's fair, and has accepted the offer.

The Pine Nut Gold Discoveries.

CAESON, Nev., July 25.—The excitement over the Pine Nut gold discoveries is growing daily. Between twelve and fifteen prospectors arrive at a time, and all go armed to protect their claims. Bloodshed may follow over some ledges. The Holman, foreman of the Best & Belcher and Gould & Curry, of Virginia City, returned tonight. In an interview he said: "I have made thorough investigation and regard the excitement based on good foundation. The discoveries are as good as those made on Comstock's, and if the surface indications amount to anything, the result will be a heavy influx of mining men."

It Worried the Child.

A wonderfully precocious five-year-old girl listened, while apparently taking no notice, the other afternoon, to a conversation between her mother and a visiting friend. The ladies were discussing the financial straits of a young married couple of their acquaintance, and both freely wondered and expressed their displeasure at the conduct of the wife's parents in the case. The condition would be so much ameliorated, they decided, if Mr. and Mrs. S., living alone in a wealthy, luxurious home, would bring the young people under their roof, and thus they chatted over the matter. That night little Lida aroused her mother near midnight. She hurried to the crib in the next room to her own to find the child wide awake and evidently full of absorbing thought. "I can't sleep, mamma," said the youngster, "because I'm afraid when I grow up and am married you'll be like that other lady and not let my husband come to live in your house."

The astonished mother quieted her little daughter's anxiety by promptly promising in any circumstances to receive her future son-in-law, after which young Lida sunk into peaceful slumber. "A child's amang ya takin' notes" oftener than parents suspect.—New York Times.

That Fetched Her.

There are tricks in the trade of collecting taxes. Here's how one successful collector does it, or a part of it. He had particular difficulty in getting the poll tax out of one man in his town. The wife was the financier of the household, and whenever the tax man called she concealed her spouse in the background and vigorously talked the persistent money scraper off the premises. This worked twice, but on the third visit the collector sprung his surprising dodge. He grabbed the woman's little child, pulled out his book and said with determination: "Very well, madam; we won't trouble about your husband, I'll place the tax on this young one, and will arrest him if he don't pay it at once."

The woman wasn't highly posted in tax questions. She evidently placed the child a step higher than the husband, and the requisite two dollars were produced from behind the kitchen clock.—Lewiston Journal.

F. M. Grover, who was elected to the office of magistrate at Topeka, Kan., has been totally sightless for over thirty years. One of the peculiar customs of the East Indian coolies called Lascars, is the putting of a ring on the great toe when they marry.
