of every one has a doubt as to the adaptability of the people. On the one hand, let him take a drive up West beach, and see an apple orchard set out a few years ago. If we mistake not, we are there on a dry day, and the effect is so striking that we are sure we can do as much in a week as we have done in two years. We believe there is a poor but distinct profit to be made. And what we do not want is the same profit to be made by the practical farmer. It is not that the man who wants to make a dent in the drift of Civilization. It is not that the man who wants to make a dent in the drift of Civilization. It is not that the man who wants to make a dent in the drift of Civilization. It is not that the man who wants to make a dent in the drift of Civilization. It is not that the man who wants to make a dent in the drift of Civilization. It is not that the man who wants to make a dent in the drift of Civilization. It is not that the man who wants to make a dent in the drift of Civilization. It is not that the man who wants to make a dent in the drift of Civilization. It is not that the man who wants to make a dent in the drift of Civilization. It is not that the man who wants to make a dent in the drift of Civilization. It is not that the man who wants to make a dent in the drift of Civilization. It is not that the man who wants to make a dent in the drift of Civilization.
