LOCAL BRIEVITIES.

Miss Mattie Johnston returned from a week's outing at Collins' landing this week.

Misses Lena and Bertha Wentz left on the last evening train for Portland to remain for a season.

East End business is very quiet today. The warehouses are nearly empty, there being only about 900 bales of wool in store.

Mrs. S. W. Heppner and family returned from the seaside, the other day, where they were during the hot spell last week.

Messrs Ed Wingate and Bert Phelps left for Ilwaco this morning where they will remain and rusticate for the next few weeks.

Miss Lora Johnston went to Portland Sunday morning to remain for an indefinite length of time, visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. Fred Drews is having a stone addition put on to his fine brick mansion. When completed it will be an improvement to the premises in appearance.

Mr. Thomas McCoy, the barber, went out to the country yesterday to look after his horse and cattle interest, which has been in charge of his brother-in-law, Mr. Abe Mowery.

A handsome brick addition has been made to the residence of Mr. H. Herbring on Fourth street. The brick work was under the charge of Mr. Max Blank and the wood work is under that of Mr. Heroux.

Mr. Thos. Joles and the Misses Cora and Amber Joles, Messrs George Anderson and Will Vanbibber left this morning for the Joles' camping ground on the west branch of Hood River where they will join the Watkins party.

Sunday evening last Mr. Mahoney the hostler at the company's shops came very near losing his life while bathing at the mouth of Mill Creek near where the Regulator is anchored. He was about to sink for the proverbial third time when Mr. Rodney, another employe, caught him by the outstretched hand and saved his life.

A kind hearted landlord advertised for boarders in a paper in the northern part of the state in the following manner: "A few boarders wanted by a private family. Can dress as you please," and the Red Bluff Sentinel says: "If the present hot spell continues much we propose to engage quarters with that good, kind man - style or no style."

The editor of the Chronicle went down to the Cascade Locks in company with several gentlemen this morning, where they will meet Senator Mitchell, who is on an inspecting tour of the state looking into its interests, wants and requirements. It is devotedly hoped that the visit to that point, where all of Eastern Oregon is more interested than anywhere else will be the result of a new regime which will give us an open river within the next generation.

Mr. N. C. Wilson, who has been in the French & Co. bank for the past two years, took his departure yesterday morning for California where he will go into the Belmont Preparatory school prior to entering Harvard college, where he will fit himself for the study of medical science. The place he occupied in the bank is supplied by the presence of Mr. Jesse Hostetter of Concedis, Kan. sas, who arrived a few days ago with his charming young wife. They have taken rooms in the Vogt Block.

The past few days the wind has been furious and the dust intolerable.

A private letter from Uncle J. P. Combs, who went over the mountains recently, states that the wild blackberry crop this year is practically a failure.—Prineville News.

The police court is quiet today. There has not been an arrest, not even a hobo run in although one was seen leaning against a telegraph pole waiting for an opportunity to jump a breakbeam.

The Chronicle has the pleasure of acknowledging the receipt of special favors from Mr. Thomas Butler, of Goldendale. Mr. Butler is one of the wide awake citizens of Klickitat valley.

The Columbia river at this city registers fifteen feet above zero, and is falling about five inches in twenty-four hours. The highest point reached this season was twenty-six and six-tenths, on the 30th of May last.

The "banker's organ" on Court street has a deal to say about the lack of enterprise of business men of this city. He had better pay up his stock in The Dalles, Portland & Astoria Navigation company's steamers, Regulator and Dalles City before he talks of "no enterprise in our citizens."

The steamer Regulator has been changed into position so as to receive the shaft, which will be put in place this afternoon. The boiler has been set, and her machinery is being got into its bed as fast as the machinists can do it. The other work is nearing completion and the painting will be begun in a few days.

There are several places in this city where the trees are not trimmed the required height above the sidewalk making it very troublesome to pedestrians, and especially ladies. We believe there is a city ordinance providing that the trees be trimmed to a certain height and it should be done.

We noticed a lot of mill machinery at the Wasco warehouse which we understand is for Messrs Stewart and company at Prineville. Messrs Williams and Great of Portland are furnishing it. Messrs Stewart & Co., are having their old mill changed into a first class roller, and when done Prineville will stop importation of flour as they will be able to supply themselves with the best made.

Last evening, as a CHRONICLE reporter was passing down Second street, he saw something that would make the average policeman hard to find, and which very much resembled a lively free-for-all Irish wake. A number of young men, variously armed with clubs, brooms and coats, were engaged in a lively war. The fun lasted some time, and it was discovered, after carefully examining the ground, that by an accidental discharge of a club, they had succeeded in killing one small bat. The rest of the participants escaped without injury.

Col. Beebe, of the first regiment, O. N. G., has issued an order complimenting the militiamen under his command for the good work done while they were in camp. Our boys in the third regiment have been looking in vain for something of the kind, for they certainly demonstrated heroic courage and unlimited endurance in their war with heat and dust at The Dalles. But up to date about all we have noted is, that the boys didn't do quite enough to please the selfish instincts of the residents at the sandy city. The third regiment will never bother The Dalles again with its encampment. There are other places where more white people live.—Captain McCully of Co. I, Joseph, Or.

A little item is going the rounds of the papers that rightly interpreted is full of meaning. It is this: "The first shipment of Walla Walla wheat has reached Portland. It cost sixty-three cents in Walla Walla, and is worth a dollar in Portland." What an argument for an open river. Wheat bought in a section tributary to the Columbia enhanced in value 60 per cent, by carriage a few miles! Under right conditions that wheat would produce the Walla Walla grower nearer the dollar a bushel, and be worth as much afloat at Astoria as afloat at San Francisco.—Astorian

Two questions arise in connection with the salmon run in the Columbia river this season; the first is, where did all the big salmon come from this year: why were the salmon of 1891 so much bigger than the salmon of previous years? The other is, what are the hybrid salmon, the spotted fish caught so numerously in the traps this year? Two jars of those spotted fish have been sent back east, one to Professor Jordan, of the United States fish commission; the other to the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D. C., with a request that their ichthyological contents be properly classified by those fish sharps.—Astorian.

Uncle Jerry's Happy Lot.

Uncle Jerry Rusk is the envied member of President Harrison's Cabinet. Everybody has an admiration for his great good nature and an amiable consideration for his fads. He has more fun than anybody when he goes out ballooning, and his estimable wife and charming daughter, returned to fruit canning, preserve-making and butter-churning for the summer, cause him none of the unbusiness incident to sunbathing and yachting.—Kansas City Times.

Persons leaving the city for a summer outing can have the CHRONICLE sent to them without extra charge.

View is Rightly.

It should be understood by the general public, which, of course, the Oregonian failed to state, that the full page puff, and double headed editorial leader on the same, concerning the proposition made by the Columbia Railway and Navigation Co. to the citizens of Portland to take $500,000 in stock of that company, was a paid for advertisement and should be looked upon as the same and viewed with the same suspicion as any other money making job attempted to be foisted upon the public. It is in nature a good deal like Villard's blind pool, of unsavory repute, by which so many millions of Portland money was squandered. In no part of the proposition, nor in the double headed editorial, (also paid for) does this mythical company state what the capital stock of their company is or is proposed to be. All the citizens of Portland are asked to do is to dump in their $500,000, and "gentlemen, we will do the grand packing act." See?—Portland World.

The treasurer of the United States is responsible for the custody of 4500 tons of coin. It is estimated that if burglars broke into the vaults it would require 90,000 men of average strength to carry the money a distance of fifty feet.

A good many wheat fields in the Ochoco and McKay valleys have been practically ruined by rust. The ground being wet and the grain very rank, the crop was in no condition to withstand the effects of a broiling sun, and many farmers whose prospects were so brilliant a few days ago are making a natural sore over the unavoidable misfortune that has befallen their wheat crops.—Prineville News.

The editor of the Klamath Star has got a new safe and here is what he has to say about it:

Our safe has arrived. Now, dear delinquents, be moderate and careful about firing the coin in, and above all don't step on one another's coat tails. At present we are using the cool iron chest as a receptacle for our landlady's butter, but will throw it open when the coin begins to fly in. We think the butter will then be strong enough to take care of itself.

The Buffalo Express intimated that Henry Waterson, of the Courier-Journal, was a "thick and thin Cleveland man," and to this the "Star Eyed Goddess" gave this reply: "He was never a thick and thin anybody's man. He opposed the nomination of Mr. Cleveland in 1884. Of course he supported his nomination in 1888, in common with all good democrats. He is for his nomination in 1892, if New York consents. But, if the attitude of the New York Democracy indicates that Mr. Cleveland will be knifed out of the vote of the state again, as he was before, it would be suicidal to nominate him, and when the party leaves Cleveland, it leaves New York. Is this sufficiently explicit?"

Charley Miller, the veteran miner, is in the city from his Greenhorn property. He reports mining matters quiet in that camp, also that the Bennett claim is looking exceedingly well, there being about three feet of high grade ore. Mr. Miller will endeavor to start up his mill at the monumental mine for custom work. This is a move in the right direction, and if he succeeds in starting the mill the greenhorn miners can pack out a sufficient amount of ore, the net proceeds of which will enable them to further develop their prospects, build roads and otherwise help themselves. Mr. Miller has thoroughly canvassed the whole region tributary to his mill and feels confident that the mill, if started can be kept running night and day on custom ore.—Condon Globe.

A. M. WILLIAMS & CO. The Northwestern Life Insurance Co., OF MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN.

Assets over $42,000,000.00. Surplus over $6,500,000.00.

Prof. E. L. Shuey, Dayton, Ohio. LAGOONA HEIGHTS, SPRINGFIELD, O., June 15, 1891.

DEAR SIR:—Replying to your request for a statement of the facts concerning my experience with the Northwestern Life Insurance Society of New York in their late settlement with me, I would state that in the early part of 1891, my age being 56 years, I took out a Ten-Payment Life Policy in the Equitable upon their Ten-Year Tontine Plan for $40,000. My premiums during the period amounted to $7,512.00. The Tontine period expired early in January of the present year, and the Company then offered me the following terms of settlement:

FIRST—A paid up policy for $40,000 00. And cash 9,753 60. SECOND—A paid up policy for 54,600 00. And cash 36,496 80. THIRD—Surrender my policy, and receive in cash 54,600 00.

I was so little satisfied with the results of my investment that I chose the third, cash, proposition, but when I so decided, the company, through several of its representatives, labored to induce me to take one of the other forms of settlement, but finding that I was determined to surrender the policy and take the cash, they finally instructed me from the home office to send policy and receipt for the amount, $56,496.80, to their state manager in Cleveland, and he would remit me the amount. I followed their instructions and sent the policy and receipt through my bank in Springfield to our correspondent in Cleveland, only to have it returned from the Cleveland Bank with the information that the state manager of the Equitable states that he "had not sufficient funds to meet it." This forced me to return it to the New York office, and compelled me to wait some twenty days after maturity before receiving final settlement.

I have given no statement endorsing the Equitable, or expressing my satisfaction with their settlement with me. On the other hand I have positively refused to do so. The fact that my returns were $1,015.20 less than my total investment renders further comment unnecessary. During the time I carried the Equitable policy and up to the day when they submitted the above proposition to me, I was kept in total ignorance of the condition of my investment. In marked contrast with this has been my experience with the Northwestern, in which in 1880, I took a Ten-Year Endowment Policy, Ten-Year Tontine, for $10,000, that company having from time to time furnished me with a memorandum of the surplus on my policy over the signature of their actuary; so that while my policy has not yet matured, and will not until next year, I have the satisfaction of knowing that at maturity it will net me from $4,000 to $5,000 more than the face of the policy calls for. Very truly yours, ROSS MITCHELL.
