LOCAL BREVITIES.

Mr. J. C. Hayes, the surveyor from Hood River, visited the CHRONICLE office today.

Miss Caroline Davenport of Mosier has gone to Portland to visit her sister, Mrs. P. H. Robinson.

Mr. Will Rand, Mrs. Sallie E. Capps and Mr. M. V. Harrison, of Hood River were in the city today.

Mr. Theodore Liebe of Spokane, brother of Mr. G. A. Liebe of this city, passed through town today on his way to Portland.

There is a rumor that Jay Gould will visit The Dalles in a few days and that things are being put in ship shape for his reception.

James McGinty has completed the excavation for the receiving reservoir on the Mespie place and is now ready to put in the concrete. His contract will be finished by the end of the present month.

A special train, consisting of four coaches filled with Boston tourists, bound for Alaska, arrived in this city this afternoon. They will remain over till morning and go down to Portland on the D. S. Baker.

About 100 men are now employed at the government works at the Cascades. They are pumping the water out of the canal and expect to have it empty by Friday next, when it is to be presumed, a larger force will be put to work.

If half the energy that was displayed by Major Handbury, in improving the mouth of the Columbia, had been spent on the Cascade Locks they would have been finished long ago. But no line of railroad parallels the mouth of the river and it is in the interest of no corporation to retard the work.

Professor Ingalls desires us to state that students will find no difficulty in obtaining board and lodging here, and at reasonable rates. Mr. Ingalls would be pleased, if those who have accommodations, and are desirous of boarding or lodging pupils would be good enough to inform him of the fact that he may be able to locate them when the time comes to do so.

Mr. M. V. Rand of Hood River came up to this city this morning. Mr. Rand informs us that he has peach trees that were "budded" three years ago, that he estimates will produce 500 lbs. of peaches to the tree. It will be very hard to beat that record anywhere.

Mr. Rand's orchard is on a high bench above the Hood River canyon and has not a drop of irrigation. A thousand persons in the Hood River valley could do as well as Mr. Rand. The fruit crop of the valley this year, is very large and the same result that always follows a glutted market is there also.

Yesterday, Tom Joles started from this city to go to the Joels' camp, above the forks of Hood River. He had only got about a mile above the Vanbibber ranch when the wagon axle broke square in two and dumped him out on the road side.

must be a heavy freight wagon. Tom borrowed one of this class from Alex Anderson and put his traps in it and started anew, and as no word has since been heard from him, the freight wagon may have stood the strain of carrying him to his destination.

Mr. Joseph Paquet, of Portland, contractor for the Regulator, is in the city. Buckskin Joe paraded the streets today, in grand style, behind his fine three horse trained tandem team.

Al Sutton of Portland is in the city on his way from the Malheur country. He has sixty-six head of horses on the way to The Dalles, from whence they will be shipped to Portland and offered for sale.

"Noah advertised the flood. He lived through it and the fellows who laughed at him were drowned. Ever since then the advertiser has been getting along and those that don't advertise in the DAILY CHRONICLE have been getting left."

We understand that only two persons left The Dalles today to meet Senator Mitchell at the Cascade Locks, and one of these was a newspaper reporter.—Times-Montaigner.

Brother Mitchell blunders. It was not a reporter, but the great editor himself, of the best paper in Eastern Oregon who went down yesterday, to meet Senator Mitchell. The CHRONICLE does nothing by halves.

One of Will Graham's youthful customers, who is engaged in business in a small way took in 45 cents yesterday and forthwith proceeded to invest it. He bought five cents worth of peanuts, five cents worth of candy, twenty cents worth of cigarettes and the remainder he invested in nine ears of green corn, at Graham's restaurant, which he ate to the last grain.

would travel twice the distance to do them honor, who would not go as much as a yard to meet them in the company of Major Handbury, and that as far as the major is concerned The Dalles has no use for him. It was urged upon them that we believe the whole business has been conducted under railroad influence, from the time of the first enlargement of the original plans—an enlargement which is beyond the need of any vessel that will ever go through the locks—to the present moment.

HE WAS AN AMATEUR.

And his Entire Plant is Captured by United States Officers. Yesterday's counterfeit was captured, with all the tools and appliances of his nefarious trade around him, in a room in the old central school building, over the Evening Telegram office.

The fellow gave the name of Thomas McIlvane, but from letters and a bank-book found on him it is certain that his name is Thomas Sheppard. He took possession of the room last Friday. Between his room and the adjoining one, occupied by Mr. W. E. Long, is the door in which is a window which had been darkened by having paper pasted over the glass.

The paper had been torn from one square of this glass and Sheppard, on taking possession placed a newspaper over this square. There was a little place torn in the paper over another square, which he did not notice; and this led to his detection, for Mr. Long hearing hammering and filing going on in the room peeped through this hole and saw Sheppard busily making counterfeit money.

INSPECTING THE LOCKS. Senator Mitchell and Hon. Binger Hermann Visit the Cascade Locks. Yesterday Senator Mitchell and Hon. Binger Hermann paid a visit of inspection to the Cascade Locks. They arrived there a little before 10 a. m., and were accompanied by Major Handbury, ex-Governor Moody, State Senator Cogswell and Hon. D. J. Cooper.

Viewed in the light of the purpose that brought them there, their visit was a decided failure. They hoped to meet a large representation of the leading citizens of The Dalles and to hear from their lips what complaints they might have to make or what suggestions to offer with reference to the future conduct of the works.

Buck skin Joe the king of the cow boys has arrived in this city and will be out on the streets with his three horse tandem-educated team next Wednesday. He represents Coburn, Tevis & Co., of San Francisco, Enoch Morgan, Son's Sapolio and the celebrated C & S Axle grease and various other lines of goods which have taken the lead everywhere he has been.

Lost, a diamond scarf pin—the above reward will be paid by returning to C. E. Haight.
