THURSDAY'S EARTHQUAKE.

Further Particulars Brought by a Trapper from the Gulf of California.
 YUMA, ARIZ., Aug. 9.—C. Smith, an American trapper, accompanied by a Copah Indian, returned from the Gulf of California, and gives additional details concerning the earthquakes and tidal wave of Thursday last. About 6 o'clock that morning a heavy shock was felt near the Lordo colony in the state of Sonora, Mexico, on the Colorado river. The sky darkened and a terrible thunder storm came up. A huge wave from the gulf was driven inland, and fences and landing places were washed away. A second earthquake shock caused the earth to open in many places. Some of the fissures were four to seven feet wide, and from twenty to thirty feet long and seemingly fathomless. Men were thrown to the ground by the force of this shock. About a mile from Lordo they noticed a fissure in the middle of the river bed, into which the Colorado was pouring with much noise. A third shock of earthquake destroyed three small habitations of colonists and cracked others. No human life was lost but a large amount of live stock was killed. The damage done by the earthquake in Sonora is principally to the herds of cattle in that region. The settlements there are small but it is feared that J. Milton, G. Larsen and T. Thursen, who went down to the gulf several weeks ago, are drowned, as no trace of them can be found.

FATAL STORM IN WISCONSIN.

Two Boys Crushed to Death and Several Persons Injured.
 ASHLAND, Wis., Aug. 8.—This afternoon there was a disastrous wind and rain storm here. The Swedish Baptist church was torn from its foundation and the roof blown off a block. Many small buildings were blown from their foundations, and half a dozen yachts moored in the bay were torn from their fastenings and wrecked upon the shore. At Washburn, on the opposite side of the bay, a circus tent collapsed, and in the panic which ensued among the spectators of the performance in the tent, two small boys were crushed to death and a number of people seriously injured. The postoffice building also collapsed, two women being injured, one seriously. The roof of the Omaha elevator was torn from the building and deposited in the bay. Many thousand feet of lumber was blown into the water. The derrick and hoisting engines at the coal docks were blown over. It is estimated the damage at Washburn is $50,000.

SPOKANE'S BIG FIRE.

A Lodging House is Burned to the Ground, Causing Loss of Life and Property.
 The inmates Jump From the Windows and Receive Internal Injuries.—A Panic Stricken Crowd.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 10.—At 3:30 this morning a patrolman on Second street saw flames issuing from Conway's lodging house, at the corner of Second and Mill. He immediately turned an alarm and the department responded at once, but before an engine arrived the building was a mass of flames and the inmates were flying for their lives. It is not known how many persons were in the building, but all but one known to have been inside have been accounted for. The hook and ladder truck was immediately called into use to save the lives of the inmates. Chas. Johnson, a man about 60 years of age, was taken through the second story window on Mill street. He had been suffocated to death. His face was burned almost beyond recognition. Just across from him on the east side of the burning building was a negro named Washington, a barber his hands and arms were terribly burned, the skin being entirely pooled off; He will not recover. A man named Green jumped from the third story on the Mill street side and is injured internally. He lay on the pavement just across from the burning building and made piteous appeals to the bystanders to fetch a doctor. He can hardly recover. A few yards from him lay J. H. Dwyer, another inmate who had jumped from the third-story window. His injuries were a broken arm. Wm. Clifford jumped from the third floor and escaped unhurt. Frank Brown threw his trunk from the second story and jumped after it. His trunk was smashed to pieces but Brown was unhurt. The building was almost entirely gutted, being a large three-story tinder box. Had there been a west wind the entire block would have gone. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin. There seemed to be no person whose duty it was to attend to the sufferers, as they lay on the street their groans adding to the panic of the crowd.

In the Hands of His Friends.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—A special says: "A man who talked with Congar of Ohio, a member of the national republican committee, is authority for the statement that Blaine's health permitting, he will be in the hands of his friends when the nominating convention meet in 1892.

The outward symptoms are enlarged bones, the body and head growing to enormous proportions. The dictionaries, as late as 1880, do not give the name of the disease. ### NATIONAL POLITICS.

Curiosity as to Quay's Attitude Toward Blaine—His Course Criticized.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The Washington correspondent of the Herald sends the following regarding Quay's attitude toward Blaine: "Has Matthew Stanley Quay broken with the administration? That is a question very much discussed by politicians just now, in view of the fact that Senators Quay and Cameron are credited with being ready to turn over the Pennsylvania delegation to James G. Blaine in 1892. Those best informed and most conversant with the history of Quay's standing at the White house assert that he and the president are still on good terms, but that the ex-national chairman has been feeling the pulse of the party in his own state, and finds himself unable to contend with the tide of enthusiasm that has set in for Blaine. Rather than play on the losing side, he yields to pressure, and has a dream that Blaine is the coming man. There is some criticism here on Senator Quay's course. It is argued that, as he has received pretty much all he asked for, it would be the correct thing for him to make the Harbison fight in Pennsylvania. On the contrary, the Blaine men, who are rejoiced over the report that Quay has practically declared for the Planned Knight, assert that the junior Pennsylvania senator is not in Harbison's debt, that his services in 1888 have not been fully requited and that he can with perfect propriety espouse the candidacy of another, especially when the state is overwhelmingly in favor of a more popular candidate.

NEARING THE END.

The Columbia River Salmon Fishing Season Closes at Midnight Monday.

ASTORIA, Aug. 8.—The salmon season on the Columbia river closes at 12 o'clock midnight Monday. Correct footings give the total pack on the river for the year, 375,000 cases, a shortage of 60,000 cases on the pack of 1890. The Associated Press correspondent there has an authentic telegram tonight from New Westminster, B. C., that the total British Columbia pack including the Frazier, Skeena and Naus rivers and their inlets is 210,000 cases. The British Columbia pack of 1890 was 410,000 cases.

Hanging too Good for Him.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Edward M. Sage, the village blacksmith at Pittsford, was arrested today on complaint of his wife and daughter that he had been criminally intimate with the latter for over a year. It is stated that the mother had been aware of the fact for some time, but under the threat of death from Sage, she failed to reveal the condition of affairs until forced to do so from Sage breaking in the door of their sleeping apartment last night and brutally beating the mother. The daughter is a handsome girl of 18 years. Sage was held without bail.

The Desperadoes Escaped.

CARLEISLE, Ill., Aug. 9.—In a free-for-all fight here tonight between Thomas McLaren and Toby Kleeder, two local youngsters, and City Marshal timesmith, assisted by several citizens, who were trying to arrest them, Kleeder hit Anthony Huder in the head with a stone, fracturing his skull. He then turned and struck A. F. Ford on the back of the head, cutting him badly. J. Daly was accidentally shot by the marshal, but his wound is not serious. A reward has been offered for the two desperadoes, who subsequently made their escape.

Work in the Fields Suspended.

ST. LAWRENCE, S. D., Aug. 9.—The hottest weather ever experienced here has prevailed for three days past. So intense was the heat that men and animals have succumbed in many instances, and harvest work is entirely suspended throughout the middle of the day. At 1 p. m. yesterday, the mercury rose to 108 and 110 degrees in the shade. Late wheat suffered terribly and some of the fields will not be cut. Other wheat is all right. Corn is suffering for rain. Unless showers come soon, or a cool wave, but little will survive the ordeal.
