A watch was raffled last night at the saloon of Wiseman & Butler and won by M. T. Nolan.

Miss Sadie Whitmer, who has been camping at Collins' Landing for some time, came up yesterday.

Freight engine No. 558 came in from the west last night with freight train No. 28 looking as if she had been struck by the business end of a cyclone. One of the cylinder heads was blown out and the engine had to make part of the trip on one leg.

Strong efforts are being made by the world's fair committee to have the passenger rates to and from the fair cut down to one cent a mile, on all the railroads of the United States. If the committee succeeds even newspaper editors will be able to attend.

Prof. Ingalls desires to express his gratification for the readiness displayed, to provide accommodations for pupils at the academy. He is now able to provide at least twenty-five students with board and rooms in good families. Those who wish to board themselves can also find rooms or houses at low rent.

A jute bag factory, to be conducted by convict labor, is being erected in Walla Walla and the people up that way are expecting, when it is got in running order, that it will put a stop to the excessive rates generally charged for grain bags at the time when farmers require to use them. The factory is expected to be completed and in running order by next December.

Upwards of 5000 signatures have been attached to a requisition addressed to D. L. Moody, the well-known evangelist, that he would visit Scotland during the coming fall. Among those who have signed the requisition are the Earl and Countess of Aberdeen, Lord Polwarth, Sir William Moir, Principals of the leading Scotch universities, 250 ministers of Edinburgh and Glasgow and ministers and members of so many denominations as to make the document thoroughly representative. It is very likely Mr. Moody will comply with the request.

A marriage licence was issued today to J. T. Gibson and Mary Gordon, both of Wapinitia.

It took some of Salem's mechanics sixteen days to open a safe that refused to heed the combination racket. They would make successful burglars.—Portland paper. The gentleman in charge of the matter was a resident safe expert at Portland.—Salem Journal.

There is as vile a stench as ever greeted mortal nostril, smelling up to heaven itself, and spreading its sickening odor toward every point of the compass, at the foot of Court street, where garbage and rotten offal of all kinds are dumped on the beach. People ought to be compelled to dump the garbage in the river or burn it or do something to stop the infernal stink.

"Who is this James McGinty who advertises in the CHRONICLE for men to work on the reservoir up Mill Creek?" said Pap Chandler to a CHRONICLE reporter this morning. "Why," said the reporter, "it's Jimmie McGinty, who passed himself off on the water commissioners for a Frenchman, and spelled his name McGintie to get the contract and got it too." "I see by the CHRONICLE," said Pap, "he wants ten men to work on the reservoir." "He does," answered the scribe. "Well, said Pap, "I want you to notify him to call at the Grange store. I have got two first class men, E. Jacobsen and M. N. Eastwood, who are solemnly bound to me to undertake a job of anything, from street sweeping up, at a moment's notice. I'll hire them out to him at reasonable wages." "All right," said the scribe, and McGinty is notified accordingly.

We are informed that Mr. James Brown has rented a part of his place to Mr. Coon of Hood River, who is now setting the same out in strawberries. We think the location a good one for this profitable industry.

We would like to suggest to some of our young folks that it would be a good idea to have some changes made in the rustic seat and thus afford themselves a better opportunity of viewing the morning star.

We thought we would have some wedding reports to send you before now. We think the prospects are favorable that we shall have "something" to tell you in the near future. M. G.

Portland should not lag in the work for an open river. The business men of Portland could well afford to build, through their chamber of commerce, a portage road around the obstructions in the river at a cost of $250,000. It would prove to be the best investment they ever made.—East Oregonian.

HELD UP.

A Daring and Successful Robbery Between Here and Bake Oven.

A daring and successful robbery was committed yesterday afternoon about 8 o'clock on the daily stage that runs between this city and Bake Oven. As the driver, Charley Adams, neared the top of the hill on the other side of Shear's Bridge, at no great distance from the spring on the left hand side of the road, a masked man jumped out of a clump of brush and presenting a rifle at the driver ordered him to throw out the mail sacks. The driver was alone and without any weapons, and, as most men would have done under the circumstances, readily complied. Just at this moment the sound of wagon wheels were heard lower down the hill and the robbed asked, "what is that noise?" The driver informed the robber that it was a freight team; when the robber responded, "Then you drive on," which he accordingly did. The robber got away with three mail sacks, one containing the through Antelope mail, one through Prineville mail and the third, what is known as the way sack. When the driver had got a short distance further up the hill he was met by Lem Burgess, to whom he related the circumstance of the robbery. Mr. Burgess hastened down the hill and when near the scene of the robbery he met the team already referred to, which proved to be that of Mr. H. W. Wells. The driver of the team was asked if he had seen any sign of the robber and answered, "No, but he must be in the clump of brush below for the noise of some person in the brush, as I passed, nearly frightened my team into a runaway." Mr. Burgess hastened down the hill but found no signs of the robber and as he too was unarmed he hastened to the bridge only to find that they had several guns but no ammunition. Mr. Fairchild, who is keeping the bridge in the absence of Mr. Sherar found two Indians who had rifles and sent them up the hill to the scene of the robbery. When they arrived there, of course the robber was gone but they found a mask, made out of a piece of unbleached muslin, and Messrs. Phil Brogan and John Grant arriving about the same time found another mask and two of the mail sacks, both rifled of their contents except a couple of parcels of store goods and two or three newspapers. Mr. Fairchild is of the opinion that the Prineville sack may have contained considerable money as there were some apparently valuable letters in the sack addressed to the Baldwin Land and Live Stock company of Hay Creek, Crook county. It is somewhere in the neighborhood of twenty years since the newspapers of this county had to record a stage robbery committed within its borders. About that time the mail stage coming this way, was held up by masked robbers near the head of the Antelope canyon and robbed of the mail. Ad Edger was the driver and four men were afterwards arrested and sent to state's prison, for the offense. It is last case only one man was seen, but from the fact that two masks were found he may have had an accomplice. Who the robber or robbers was or were is at this moment unknown. It is probable they were from the other side of the Deschutes and may have had secret information of the arrival of some valuable mail matter.

Something New.

The bankrupt sale of dry goods, etc., now going on at H. Solomon's old stand is a "new thing" for The Dalles, where a failure in business is a rare occurrence. Close and careful buyers, however, are improving the opportunity by buying goods at greatly reduced prices thereby proving the rule, "What is one man's loss is another's gain." 8-15-1f

The Northwestern Life Insurance Co., OF MILWAUKEE, WISCONSIN.

Assets over $42,000,000.00.
Surplus over $6,500,000.00.

Prof. E. L. Shuey, Dayton, Ohio.

DEAR SIR:—Replying to your request for a statement of the facts concerning my experience with the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York in their late settlement with me, I would state that in the early part of 1881, my age being 56 years, I took out a Ten-Payment Life Policy in the Equitable upon their Ten-Year Tontine Plan, for $40,000. My premiums during the period amounted to $37,512.00. The Tontine period expired early in January of the present year, and the Company then offered me the following terms of settlement:

FIRST—A paid up policy for	$40,000 00
And cash	9,731 60
SECOND—A paid up policy for	54,000 00
THIRD—Surrender my policy, and receive in cash	36,498 80

I was so little satisfied with the results of my investment that I chose the third, cash, proposition, but when I so decided, the company, through several of its representatives, labored to induce me to take one of the other forms of settlement, but finding that I was determined to surrender the policy and take the cash, they finally instructed me from the home office to send policy and receipts for the amount, $36,498.80, to their State manager in Cleveland, and he would remit me the amount. I followed their instructions and sent the policy and receipt through my bank in Springfield to our correspondent in Cleveland, only to have it returned from the Cleveland Bank with the information that the State manager of the Equitable states that he "had not sufficient funds to meet it." This forced me to return it to the New York office, and compelled me to wait some twenty days after maturity before receiving final settlement.

I have given no statement endorsing the Equitable, or expressing my satisfaction with their settlement with me. On the other hand I have positively refused to do so. The fact that my returns were $1,015.20 less than my total investment renders further comment unnecessary.

During the time I carried the Equitable policy and up to the day when they submitted the above proposition to me, I was kept in total ignorance of the condition of my investment.

In marked contrast with this has been my experience with the Northwestern, in which in 1882, I took a Ten-Year Endowment Policy, Ten-Year Tontine, for $10,000, that company having from time to time furnished me with a memorandum of the surplus on my policy over the signature of their actuary; so that while my policy has not yet matured, and will not until next year, I have the satisfaction of knowing that at maturity it will net me from $4,000 to $5,000 more than the face of the policy calls for.

Very truly yours,
ROSS MITCHELL.
