THE AMERICAN OUTLOOK.

According to the statements of railroad authorities in New York Jay Gould controls 80,000 miles of railroad. If his plans should be carried out Gould will hold the control of something like $800,000,000 worth of railroad property. That is too much for any man on earth to have the unrestricted control of, it matters not how he got that control. It would be an empire and Gould its autocrat, and if such an event should ever transpire another must follow in its wake that will put the autocrat under greater legal restriction. If we must have an imperium in imperio let it be a constitutional monarchy.

SOOTHING SIRUP FOR ONE.

The East-Oregonian is greatly excited and very mad at United States citizens who go to Europe for a summer tour. It calls them "idlers," "snobs," "parasites," "slave owners," etc., and in the intensity of its madness it has created several new comparatives that will henceforth take rank in English literature with the productions of Josiah Allen's wife as, for example, "the self-lecher ignoranter, knavisher many." The remedy that Mr. Jackson proposes for the cure of the evil is free trade and the single tax system. The CHRONICLE suggests that the people of Pendleton give Mr. Jackson a dose of Mrs. Winslow's soothing sirup.

AN ARGUMENT FOR AN OPEN RIVER.

From the Buffalo Courier of the 16th inst we find that 325,000 bushels of wheat were shipped the day before from Buffalo to New York by the Erie Canal. The bulk of this wheat came from Duluth and Chicago, and the charge from these two cities to Buffalo by water is three cents a bushel, and the charge from Buffalo to New York is 3 1/2 cents, the whole cost from Duluth to New York—1750 miles of water transportation, is 6 1/2 cents a bushel. The first week of this month three steamships sailed for New Orleans bound for France, Belgium and England respectively, with cargoes of Missouri wheat, amounting to 170,000 bushels. This wheat was carried from St. Louis to New Orleans on barges at a cost of three cents a bushel. The distance is about 1100 miles and the distance from New Orleans to Liverpool is 4700 miles, making a total of 5700 miles at a total cost of ten cents, less than the price charged by the Union Pacific for carrying wheat from the Dalles to Portland a distance of 88 miles. If this is not an argument for an open river there never was one panned.

TRAMPS.

A so-called reform journal has this to say about tramps: "The restless product of American institutions, the tramp, was practically unknown until we indulged in the luxury of millionaires." If the tramp is an American institution, which we question, he is only so because there is no great country on earth save the United States where a man can get along with so little work and yet manage to live. There were no tramps in the early days of the republic, because men in those days had to work or starve. There would be fewer tramps now if there were fewer kind-hearted fools to give tramps bread and clothing which they never earned. The Pacific coast is infested with tramps, not because there is no work for them to do. The genuine tramp don't want work—won't work, in fact. Reduce the masses to a state of poverty so that they would not be able to feed tramps, or let them solidly determine that they won't feed them and the tramp nuisance will end. Reform journals are wasting a heap of useless sympathy on tramps. Every town on the Pacific coast is full of tramps and yet the farmers are crying for men to help them harvest their crops and offering good wages. It is natural horn laziness that begets tramps and a foolish and almost criminal sympathy that nourishes them. They are not the fruit of our economic system except in so far as the tramp, as we know him, could not exist in a country blighted with poverty. He would have to work or starve, and in either case would pass out of existence.

EXPRESS CAR ROBBED.

Bold Exploit of Three Highwaymen who Capture a Train.
GRITTS, Ga., Aug. 22.—An express car to Chicago, Va., was robbed by three masked men just this side of Collins station last night. Conductor Reid, of the train, says he stopped at Collins to let on a colored woman, and when the train pulled out he saw no one get on, but his engineer saw three men standing on the side of the train, and got on the front of the express car. Messenger Byrne says that as the train left the station, one of the men entered his car with a pistol in his hand, and he was followed by the other two. They ordered him to unlock his safe, which he did at the point of three pistols. The men wore of medium size and wore masks, portions of black hats. They also wore large black aprons. Immediately after robbing the car they rang the bell, and when it was nearly at a standstill they jumped and ran off through a field. The messenger says he does not know the amount taken, but that in their hurry the men overlooked some very large packages. It is rumored the amount is $20,000, though the express officials only acknowledge that about $2500 was stolen. It is believed the woman who got off the train was a confederate.

ON THE BATTLE GROUND.

International Visitors Talk Peace on the Field of Waterloo.
LONDON, Aug. 21.—Quite a number of the Brussels congress made an excursion today to the field of Waterloo. The English delegates chose with few exceptions to absent themselves from the scene of the memorable victory so that the excursionists were mostly French, Germans, and Belgians. The object was to talk over the necessity for universal peace, as illustrated by the famous battlefield. It was noticed that many of the Frenchmen were very reticent, notwithstanding their assumed indifference to the scene, and one of them got into a wordy controversy with a German as to the share of Blucher in the victory that nearly led to blows. The interference of a Bohemian and an Italian was necessary to prevent black eyes, if not bloodshed. At latest advices the visitors were orating on the battlefield in full sight of the somber leonine figure that keeps watch and guard over the dead.

A REGULAR JOLLIFICATION.

The British Officers and their French Visitors are Very Happy.
PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 21.—The admirals of the British and French fleets and the members of their respective staffs are hobnobbing together at Cowes, where the festivity is continuous. Both fleets fire salutes on every occasion. The weather is threatening, but the scene is all animation. The Duke of Connaught, in full state, visited Admiral Gervais on board the French flagship, and salutes rolled from end to end of the line as he arrived and departed. In the era of good feeling which has arisen the English are quite sensitive about showing French visitors the trophies accumulated in the naval exhibition, the greater portion of which are French, and the suggestion is made that England return to France all the guns and flags she has captured from her, and effectually bury the hatchet.

TO RETURN IS DEATH.

Therefore Arabi Pasha Had Better Remain in Ceylon.
ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 21.—The Egyptian authorities recently received information that Arabi Pasha was weary of his exile in Ceylon and was meditating a return to Egypt. The Egyptian government at once notified the British representative at Cairo that any such action would only result in the destruction of Arabi, who would be seized and put to death the moment he should be found on Egyptian soil. Arabi has been discontented for years, notwithstanding his pension of $250 a month from the Egyptian government.

ROBBED A TRAIN.

Villains Rob a Conductor and Kill a Brakeman.
KANSAS CITY, Aug. 21.—Freight train No. 18, on the Kansas City, St. Joe & Council Bluffs road, was held up by two masked men and robbed at Murray, switch outside of Harlem. The robbers took the conductor's watch, and told the rear brakeman, Ed. White, to get off his car. As he stepped toward the ladder the revolver of one of the robbers was discharged, and White dropped dead, the ball entering his temple. The two robbers ran into a thicket. The authorities have been notified, and every effort is being made to catch the desperadoes. White was thirty-six years of age, and leaves a widow who lives in St. Joseph.

SAD ACCIDENT.

Several People Wounded and a Horse Killed in Consequence of a Runaway.
SEATTLE, Aug. 21.—In answering an alarm of fire last night, Chemical engine No. 2 pitched down a 20 per cent. grade on Madison street into a cable car loaded with men, women and children, and the engine and a portion of the car were smashed. Several people were wounded, and the life was crushed out of a $350 fire-horse. The breaks on the engine would not work and the horse ran away. The only wonder is that many people were not killed.

Jack Ireland, city marshal of Milton and deputy sheriff of Umatilla county, died at his home in Milton Saturday night from a throat affliction from which he has long been suffering. Mr. Ireland was well and favorably known throughout Eastern Oregon and Washington.—East Oregonian.
