SOUTH SEA ISLANDERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8 .- The brig Tahiti, which put into Drake's bay Saturday in distress, is reported to have left today for San Benito, Mexico, with her human cargo of 200 South Sea Islanders. Customs officials were in doubt as to what course they should pursue in the United States provide for the seizure aud forfeiture of any vessel found within the jurisdictional limits of the United States having on board any person of color with intent to land the same within the United States or elsewhere as a slave or to be held for service or labor. Collector Phelps states, however, that the vessel had been driven on the coast by a stress of weather, and that her officers had not intended to enter American waters. He had no revenue cutter with-other craft for that service.

Captain Ferguson, who is part owner of the craft, states that he is acting as the authorized agent of the Mexican government to assist emigration to that country, and that the terms of the con-tract, which were explained to the natract, which were explained to the natives before signing, provide that they shall work three years for $8 monthly; shall be given free passage to and from the islands, and shall be given a house and tract of land and be furnished with food and clothing. The bark Helen W. Almy took 240 islanders from Tahiti to San Benito last year under the same terms. Before the vessel can leave the island with such a carro, said Capt. Ferisland with such a cargo, said Capt. Ferguson, some consular representative must examine each native and certify to the passenger list. In the case of the Tahiti this was done by A. Rick, consular agent of the United States at Gilbert islands.

A SLANDERER HORSEWHIPPED.

A Plucky Connecticut Girl Publicly

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 7 .- Miss Mary Jacobs, who is regarded as the prettiest girl in the village of North Haven, last evening horsewhipped Wiiliam Van Doren, aged 60, one of the most prominent farmers in the village. To emphasize Van Doren's humiliation, girl's friendship for Brackett. Yester-day morning Miss Jacobs and her father appeared at Van Doren's just as he was going into his barn. Miss Jacobs interprogated him as to whether he had made remarks about her which had been attributed to him. The old man attempted to explain his conduct on the grant of the senate chamber at Washington, his eyes greedily fixed on the presidential chair in which he will never sit. The coming contest is that of Hillism and a widow of 83, both of them belong grafted onto Tammanyism against the political conscience of the voters of this commonwealth, and on such issue we shall suffer no defeat."

Among the visitors to the holy coat are a man 86 years and a widow of 83, both of them belonging to a village near Treves, who saw the commonwealth, and on such issue we shall suffer no defeat." to explain his conduct on the ground that it was somewhat strange for a girl to be seen with a married man so much, when Miss Jacobs suddenly produced a big horsewhip and began to vigorously apply it to the slanderer. She aimed every blow at his face and her aim was every blow at his face and her aim was true. Her rage increased and every blow seemed to fan the flame. While old Van Doren yelled pitifully with pain, neither his entreaties to spare him nor his efforts to protect his face were of any avail, and before the enraged girl was through with him his face was raw. Then Jacobs took a hand and Van Doren was thrown on his back and severely was thrown on his back and severely pummeled.
