Political corruption is the subject of many stories from the pulpit. A Provisional Democrat in October last, says: "The story of the glowing article of Mr. Sloan is one of the most outstanding examples of the power of the "youthful crust." He has been working for a long time on the subject of the graft, and it is surprising how effective his work has been in bringing about a reform in the city. He has exposed the corruption of the city officials, and has gained a measure of success."
