Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Sparks visited this city last Sunday to see for themselves the desolation wrought by the great fire. They remarked to the writer that neither they nor the people of Portland had any conception of the extent of the destruction of property. Today a kindly sympathetic letter was received by Mrs. Hugh Gourlay informing her that Mrs. Sparks had shipped to her address a box of clothing for those who were in need. The box will be placed, on its arrival, in the hands of the relief

The CHRONICLE congratulates Signal Service Observer B. S. Pague on the fact of an addition to his family of a boy, which he has christened Donald Mitchell Pague. May the lad's voyage through life be blessed with "fair weather" and "cloudless skies" and may he never be called upon to "observe" from the standpoint of practical experience any of the

"storms" and "cyclones" that so often make up the sum of haman existence.

The following net concerning an accident to T. J. South of Wamic was left at the Chronicle office this morning: 'While riding from Wamic to his stock ranch, T. J. Corum was thrown from his horse and two men fell on him while he was in an unconscious condition and robbed him of $411, in coin, a thirty-five dollar silver watch, and a knife, and The Dalles that Receives the Associated then fled to parts unknown. His shoulder and hip are badly broken, although he is now resting easily."
