THE ST. LOUIS CONVENTION.

Thelong expected meeting of the commercial men of the world will open in St. Louis at 9 a.m. today. The rumblings of the gathering have been heard for weeks, and the air has been charged with expectation. When the doors were opened the vast hall was filled with a great concourse of people from all parts of the civilized globe. The convention is to be held in the old armory, which has been so admirably fitted up for the purpose that the men who have attended have expressed the opinion that it is the most commodious and convenient hall in the world. The committee on arrangements has done magnificent work, and the city of St. Louis is to be congratulated on having given the world such a tribute of hospitality.
