The farmers of Klickitat county have built a shute at Rockland from the bluff near the ferry landing to the river. They have also purchased the Moody scow and anchored her at the foot of the shute. Here the wheat of the county, contiguous to The Dalles, will be shipped by the Regulator to the Portland market.

Frank Lasaile, formerly of Kingsley, who now lives near Mitchell, was robbed a strict account of everything that has last night in the Brooks and Beer's feed been done, and as far as I can see have last night in the Brooks and Beer's feed yard, of $45 dollars in money. Mr. Lasalle, stretched his blankets in one of the stalls near his horses and went to sleep about ten o'clock. His money was by him in the pocket of his pants. In the morning he found the money gone and mittee have been prompted by the pursuit of the stretched his blankets in one of the been done by anyone.

SEERING THE AUTHOR.

Superintendent Farley Denies Certain

Charges. The Oregonian yesterday contained a letter from the Cascade Locks signed by "One Who Knows," purporting to give inside facts as to why the lower incline of the Cascades portage has not been completed. Governor Pennoyer was asked about the statement, but would say nothing beyond that "there was no truth in it." The governor, Secretary McBride and Treasurer Metcshan went to the Cascades yesterday to investigate the work.

G. J. Farley, superintendent of construction of the portage, felt considerably put out on account of the article, inasmuch as the allegations made affect him directy. He has obtained information which gives him a clue to the author of the article, and is on the warpath. In an interview at the Perkins last night he denied the charges in toto. "We are finishing the work as fast as possible," said the superintendent, after reading the article over. "We are working day and night, and have funds enough to complete the work within the time specified. The incline at this end is on a foundation of cement gravel, in which it is exceedingly difficult to drive piling, and progess is necessarily slow.

"The author of the article in question says it is well known that the superintendence of the work has cost nearly $1 a day for each man employed. That is absolutely and unqualifiedly false. He says again that none but disrated railroad men could procure employment in such superintendence, some of whom have been discharged from former employ for incompetency and some for worse. That also is false. The master mechanic is C. C. Hobart, formerly master mechanic of the Union Pacific shops at The Dalles, and I defy any one to Lawre Edward produce a better mechanic on the Pa- Mason Geo B cific coast. He is an honorable, upright man. The bridge and carpenter fore-Friday: Fair weather; slightly man is T. H. Walsh, formerly bridge superintendent of the Union Pacific. Neither was ever discharged from the employ of the Union Pacific for incompetency. Mr. Hobart may have been asked to resign on account of a change of management, but Mr. Walsh resigned of his own accord. I do not know that a single one of my foremen was ever disa single one of my foremen was ever dis-charged from any employment for in-competency. As evidence of good faith, I invite any one to inspect the portage, and if a better piece of work can be found I will confess conviction.

"Again, the correspondent alleges that time and money which should have been spent upon the main line and the lower incline have peen spent upon land to incline have peen spent upon land to which the state has no title and in build-ing a dwelling for the superintendent. The main line cannot be completed as rapidly as other portions on account of the difficult pile-driving. As far as improvements on land to which the state has no title are concerned, that much is true. However, the state has instituted suit for the condemnation of this land, being unable to agree with the owners regarding prices. The land was needed for terminal buildings, and I have put them up. All this I have done by direction of the attorney-general. It is totally false that a dwelling has been built for the superintendent. As far as I am concerned, my residence is in The Dalled and I intend it to stay there. That was the understanding I had with The main line cannot be completed as a ride on the steamer Dalles City.

A. A. Brown, the grocer, has rented the store next door east of Crandall & Burgett's furniture store and will transfer his goods from his present location in the Fraser building as soon as the building is ready to receive them.

J. J. Dickey, superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company arrived in The Dalles yesterday in his special car. Mr. Dickey went down to be Portland on the Baker this morning where his car will join him tonight.

Miss Clara B. Story was called to Portland last night at the request of one of the leading art firms of San Francisco, to see if arrangements could not be made for Miss Story to take a position with them in San Francisco, or to take charge of a branch house in Seattle.

The farmers of Klickitat county have being to the store of the legislature. It is being used now though it is not completed."

A. A. Brown, the grocer, has rented to boy, who was paid $1 per day, and a boy on the pipe line who received $1.75 per day. It is not true that 25 per cent of the propose wasted to the super legion was paid $1 per day, and a boy on the pipe line who received $1.75 per day. It is not true that 25 per cent of the propose wasted has been wasted in mistakes. Trifling mistakes have been made, it is true, but they amount to nothing. In reference to the lower incidence when they amount to nothing. In reference to the lower incidence was high water.

High salaries are not paid on the portage. Mr. Walsh, the bridge foremand that the request of one of the leading art firms of San Francisco, to see if arrangements could not be made for Miss Story to take a position more to please people than for any other purpose, and could have made more by staying at The Dalles and attended to promise the propose of t

I further find that the reason for the work being done by the sub-committee is that the committee, or a large portion of it at least, has never done much of anything and consequently the work devolved upon the sub-committee.

I wish to say further that the strictures that appeared in the Chronicle a few days ago against the sub-committee would not have been made by me if I had informed myself as I should have done before making them, but everything has been in such a hurry and bustle since the fire that it has been very hard for me to do justice to anything to which my attention has been called.
