DEATH OF PARNELL.

The Great Irish Leader Dies at His Home After Less Than a Week's Illness.

Grant's Statue Unveiled Midst Great Military Display—Walter Q. Gresham Orator of the Day.

The Oregon State Board of Commerce Meets Today—Naval Force of Australia.

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Great Britain and Ireland were startled this morning by the utterly unlooked-for announcement that Charles Stuart Parnell, the noted Irish leader, died suddenly yesterday evening in Brighton. It has been known that Parnell has not enjoyed the best of health for years, and it has been noticed and widely commented upon that since the O'Shea divorce developments and political trouble came upon him, the great Irish member of parliament has grown thinner, and that he has perceptibly aged in appearance. But nobody expected to hear of his death and no inkling as to his illness had reached the newspapers. He died at his home in Walsingham terrace, Brighton, at 11:30 o'clock, yesterday evening. His death is said to have been indirectly due to a chill with which he was attacked last week and which at first was not regarded as serious. Parnell, however, grew worse, and his physician was ordered to be taken to bed. This was Friday last, and from that time Parnell lost strength and finally succumbed. The exact nature of his disease is not known at present. From the day he took to his bed however, the state of Parnell's health was such as to require the constant attendance of two physicians, but in spite of their untiring efforts to prolong or save his life, Parnell gradually sank lower and lower, until he expired in the arms of Mrs. Parnell, who is utterly prostrated by the shock.

In this city particularly the news of Parnell's death came like a thunderbolt upon the clubs and political circles. The last time Parnell appeared in public was at Creggs, Ireland, September 27, when he delivered a long speech upon the attitude and alleged inconsistencies of Dillon and O'Brien. Upon that occasion Parnell stated that he was speaking in defiance of the orders of the doctors. Coupled with the announcement that Parnell died last night comes the news that Sir John Pope Hennessey, a member of Parliament from North Killkenney is also dead. Hennessey, it will be remembered, immediately after the exposure in the O'Shea divorce case, contested the North Killkenney election, backed by Parnell's opponents, and defeated the Parnellites candidate, Vincent Scully, by 1147 votes. This was possibly the greatest test of strength between the Parnellites and the McCarthyites and the defeat of Scully no doubt accounted for a great deal in the future series of disasters which befell the Irish leader.

UNVEILING OF GRANT'S STATUE.

It is Accompanied With Much Speech-Making and Military Display.

CHICAGO, Oct. 7.—Under a leaden sky from which rain had been falling at intervals during the day, in the presence of a great throng of people, the bronze statue of the late General U. S. Grant, was unveiled today. An impressive hush fell on the vast assemblage when General Walter Q. Gresham, orator of the day, advanced to the front of the platform. On either side and beside the speaker distinguished guests were given places. Among them was Mrs. Grant, her white hair showing beneath her widow's bonnet. Massed in front were nearly twenty thousand uniformed men, infantry, cavalry and artillery, both regular and state militia, veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, Bright-plumed Knights of Pythias and many many similar semi-military and civic organizations and back of them the general public, and beyond an imposing array of nearly 200 vessels profusely decked with bunting. Leading up to this was a superb column of infantry in formation on the lake from three miles distant. The command of the great land parade and its march to the statue was under Major-General Nelson A. Miles, of the United States Army. The procession was headed by a platoon of police, followed in order by the United States regulars from Fort Sheridan, infantry, cavalry and artillery, grand army veterans, including the society of the army of Tennessee, Cumberland and Potomac, distinguished guests in carriages, including Secretary Noble,

TIRING OF ROYALTY.

Uncharitable Comments Upon the Birth of Another Princess They Cost Too Much Money.

A Report From the Sandwich Islands That Queen Liliuokalani May Die at any Moment.

Why the British Schooner Otto Was Seized—The Reported Massacre Not Confirmed.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The birth of a grandchild to the queen has given rise to a new crop of the usual comments on the advent of royal descendants. The radicals generally give the little one a cold welcome. The Pall Mall Gazette prints a list of forty grandchildren of the queen, and points out that there is a comfort in the reflection that the succession is safe. This seems to be the only comfort the taxpayers extract from the situation. The baby will, however, be an additional expense for the present to the British treasury. Battenburg and the Princess Beatrice already have a liberal allowance from parliament, and Beatrice has the privilege of living on the queen's bounty, as she accompanies her everywhere. Battenburg, who is looked upon as a mere appendage of the household, has been called the most unhappy man in Great Britain. But the assertion cannot be true, as ever since he married Beatrice he has had enough to eat, whereas, in Germany, he was in very precarious circumstances.

THE SANDWICH ISLANDS.

Report That Queen Liliuokalani May Die at Any Moment.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—The Examiner has advices from Honolulu to the effect that Queen Liliuokalani has been taken ill with serious fainting spells, and her physician, Dr. Trousseau, has pronounced her trouble organic disease of the heart, for which he can suggest no remedy. Death, it is stated, may occur at any moment. The queen has been advised of the worst and has made her will. The Honolulu press is silent on the subject, but it is known that all the political factions are busily at work. It is stated no one can be found whom all the factions will agree upon for regent to hold power during the minority of the heiress to the throne, Princess Kaiulani, who is now finishing her education in England. The father of the princess is an Englishman, with pronounced English sympathies, and the opinion is expressed that in the event of Kaiulani's accession to the throne on the islands an effort will be made to bring the islands under English control. The native sentiment is preponderating in favor of an American protectorate in some form.

Disastrous Fire in Montana.

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 6.—The barn of the Manhattan Maltng company at Manhattan, Gallatin county, was destroyed by fire yesterday, while the employes were at breakfast. The fire was caused by the bursting of a lantern. There were ninety-one horses in the barn at the time. The employes got out fifty of them, but four of those rescued were so badly burned that they had to be killed. The other forty-one had to be abandoned, and were burned to death. Three thousand bushels of oats and other food was destroyed. Loss, $10,000; insured.

Not Enthusiastic for the Exhibition.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Paris correspondent of the News telegraphs that replies to the government circular would indicate a dearth of enthusiasm among the people of France in the matter of sending exhibits to the world's fair to be held in Chicago. Manufacturers generally, as expressed in their answer, regard the invitation of the United States, following, as it does, the adoption of the new American tariff, as a mockery. About 100 Parisian manufacturers and tradesmen have announced their intention to exhibit their goods at the fair.

Right Honorable William Henry Smith is Dead.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Right Hon. William Henry Smith first lord of the treasury, government leader of the house of commons and recently created lord warden of the cinque ports died this afternoon. Mr. Smith is supposed to have left a fortune of about $10,000,000 which he accumulated by the sale of newspapers and literary matter. He was at the head of what in England corresponds to the American News Association. The immediate cause of his death was gout. He was about to be raised to the peerage as a reward for long services rendered to the government.

Why the Schooner Otto Was Seized.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The statement contained in a dispatch from Ottawa, published in the papers, that the British sealer Otto was seized by the United States ship Mohican, on account of an irregularity in her papers, is pronounced at the navy department as without the slightest foundation. Reports have been received at the navy department from Commander Colton, commanding the Mohican, which shows the Otto was seized August 31, for violation of the modus vivendi; that she was taken in the Behring sea, twenty miles northwest of Unalaska Pass, with a full sealing outfit and sixty-eight skins on board. It further appears that five days before the seizure was made Commander Colton had received an official letter from Commander Turner, senior British naval officer at Ounalaska, stating that he considered the Otto a just and lawful capture. No question arose in reference to her papers. The Otto was delivered two days after her capture to the commanding officer of her majesty's ship Pheasant at Ounalaska.

The Report Not Confirmed.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 6.—Dr. Plutarco Canelas, Mexican consul in this city, was asked concerning the alleged massacre of nearly 200 white colonists in Salancingo district, state of Hidalgo, Mexico, by Indians. He stated the published report was the first intimation he had received of the affair, although he receives daily reports by telegraph from the seat of government of Mexico. "I am convinced," said he, "that the report is unfounded, or that it has been greatly exaggerated. The story of the massacre, as given by Pardon, looks very improbable, to say the least. I have telegraphed the secretary of foreign affairs in the City of Mexico asking him as to the truth of the report."

To Stop Bull Fighting.

BERLIN, Oct. 6.—The Belgian authorities are taking steps to put a stop to the bull fights which have recently disgraced the town of Spa. The fighting has aroused the indignation of English tourists and others, who made representations on the subject to the police, with a result that the sport is to be forbidden in the future.
