The death of Parnell has called out, in a remarkable way, that characteristic of our common humanity that prompts us to speak nothing of the dead but what is good. The storm that has raged around his name for many months his death has reduced to a calm. The bitterness fomented by the thousands who regarded his late conduct as the chief barrier in the way of that home government, for which he had struggled so heroically in former years, has subsided, and now with rare exceptions, he is everywhere spoken of with charity and kindness, as men remember what he has accomplished and what he might still have been. The Catholic Sentinel voices the sentiments of a large majority of Parnell's countrymen when it says: "We do not wish to scatter thistles on the grave that should be crowned with wreaths of shamrocks, and moist with the tears of a patriotic and long-suffering people. Perfection is not made for any of the children of humanity, Peter denied the Savior; Judas betrayed him; Solomon, endowed with more than human wisdom fell. And if Parnell, infatuated by an Irish Cleopatra, recklessly trampled upon his crown and character, he suffered in the knowledge of his fall. May God grant him that forgiveness in the next world that the Irish people accord him in this."

State Senator Henry Blackman is in favor of petitioning Governor Pennoyer to call an extra session of the legislature for the purpose of making an appropriation for a portage railroad around the dalles rapids. We believe a movement of this kind would be very popular in Eastern Oregon, and that the legislature, if convened, would pass such a law or rather make sufficient appropriation to put the law we have into effect. For it will not be forgotten that the Watkins bill gave the state authority to build both portages, but only appropriated sufficient money to build one. The Norton survey has demonstrated that the portage in question can be built for much less than the last legislature seemed more than half inclined to give, had the measure not been killed by those who ought to have been its best friends. If a special session were called and the bill passed the road could be easily built and in operation before next harvest. We believe this matter is worthy of serious consideration and would like to hear what our Eastern Oregon exchanges have to say about it.

The state of Louisiana must be in a bad way, morally, when all the other issues of the political campaign now in progress are forgotten in the presence of the question of amending the constitution so as to recharter the nefarious Louisiana lottery swindle. It is a question that should not be entertained for a moment yet leading papers of the state are urging the acceptance of the lottery company's offer of an annual bonus of $1,250,000 in consideration of a recharter that shall last twenty-five years. One is less surprised at this moral obliquity when it is remembered that Louisiana has 127,444 voters that can neither read nor write.

C. P. Scott, editor of the Manchester Guardian and liberal candidate for member of parliament from that city was defeated on the 8th inst., by about 150 votes by Sir James Fergusson the conservative candidate. The liberals had fully counted on success and are much disappointed because a triumph for them would have been a severe blow to Lord Salisbury's cabinet. The defeat is all the more ominous because the constituency is largely one of working men and it is taken to show that they have not yet become converted to Gladstone's home rule doctrines.

The country ought to be satisfied now that Mr. Blaine is a sick man when we find a statement to that effect in an official communication of the president to the Canadian government.

The Portland Chamber of Commerce has made a new move in the matter of raising money to enable Oregon to be suitably represented at the World's Fair.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach has been selected by Lord Salisbury to succeed Hon. W. H. Smith as government leader in the house of commons.

BRIEF STATE NEWS.

Miss Grace Isaacs, of Walla Walla, an estimable young lady, who was one of the unfortunate victims of the fearful railroad disaster at Lake Labish, near Salem, is now stopping at the home of her grandparents, Colonel Fulton and wife, at Biggs' station, Sherman county. Miss Isaacs is still in a precarious condition of health and is confined to her room a good portion of her time.

Another attempt is being made to enlist Umatilla Indians in the service of Uncle Sam. The first trial some time ago resulted in a complete failure. The Indians said they did not want to leave their homes and preferred peace to war. It is understood that this time also, the proposition to enlist does not meet with favor among the Indians. Captain Lee, Lieutenant Hardman, and a small body of troopers from Fort Walla Walla are the agency for that purpose.

Grant Thompson arrived in Eugene just after dark one night last week from east of the Cascades with a herd of horses. As he reached the railroad crossing a freight train was coming in. The horses became unmanageable on hearing the approaching train and got on the track at the crossing, when the train struck them and killed five outright and seriously injured another. Mr. Thompson says it happened too quick to know how it was done. The horses were valuable ones and it is a serious loss to their owner.

John W. Hellenbrand, of Oretown, Tillamook county, reports having seen in the Nestucca valley millions of the worms that are this season playing such havoc with the timber in the Nehalem country. The road in the valley was full of these worms and they seemed to be drawing their slow lengths along eastwardly. About twenty miles this side of the valley, in the mountains, they overtook more millions of these worms, advanced in that elevation another stage in their development. The insects in the mountains were winged.

During the fire at Condon last week two Indians confined in the county jail pending removal to the penitentiary to serve a sentence of one year for horse stealing, were released and rendered valuable service in extinguishing the flames. As a reward for their services a numerously-signed petition has been sent to the governor asking their pardon. The two Indians passed through this city last week in charge of an officer, for Salem, says The Dalles Sun, and it may be that executive clemency in their behalf was invoked in vain.

Alvin B. Dunton, Professor. CAMDEN, Me., Oct. 8.—Alvin B. Dunton, professor of penmanship, died here today, aged 79 years. Mr. Dunton was the author of the Dunton system of penmanship. He was the champion of the world at his middle age, and had few equals with the pen even at an advanced age. He has taught in nearly every state in the union.

Wheat Crop of North Dakota. ST. PAUL, Oct. 9.—Reports from the wheat fields of North Dakota and northwestern Minnesota today are more encouraging. The weather is fine, and threshing is in progress in a number of places. Less than half the crop is threshed, and fears are entertained that much is to be lost.

The Last Chance Injunction Dissolved. BOISE CITY, Idaho, Oct. 9.—The injunction of the Tyler Milling Company against the Last Chance Milling Company of Wardner, Idaho, resulted in dissolving the injunction against the Last Chance Company. The mine will be started up immediately with full force.

Killed by a Falling Elevator. SHELSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 9.—At the Shelby Cabinet Company's furnishing rooms this morning, Joseph Scott, foreman, Clint Nelly and H. Thayer, were fatally crushed by the falling of an elevator.

Persia's Exhibit at the World's Fair. WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The department of state is informed that the Persian government exhibit at the Columbian exposition, Chicago, will probably aggregate $200,000.

An Old Adage. There is an old adage: "What every body says must be true." Henry Cook, of New Knoxville, Ohio, in a recent letter says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has taken well here. Everybody likes it on account of the immediate relief it gives." There is nothing like it to loosen and relieve a severe cold. For sale by Snipes & Kinersly, druggists, dw
