LOCAL BREVITIES.

Geo. Grey of Grants gave this office a pleasant call to-day.

Mrs. W. E. Garreston, and child have gone on a visit to Salem.

Mr. Wheland returned from a short trip to Portland, last night.

W. S. Barzee of Wasco gave the Chronicle office a pleasant call to-day.

Mrs. E. Menefee Mrs. M. Klingler, and T. H. Johnson of Dufur are in the city.

Mrs. S. R. Husbands of Mosier is visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Young of this city.

Dr. Siddell will leave in the morning for Portland to return about Monday next.

Joe McEachern left to-day on the noon passenger for a short trip to Arlington.

Tom Kelley returned yesterday from a trip to Portland Mrs. Kelley and child and Mrs. Miller remain for a short time in Portland.

Mr. Herman Reaster formerly of Kingsley now of King's Valley Benton county is in the city on a visit to his ranch at Kingsley.

Joe Knebel who was stabbed last Sunday night in this city is reported improving. Young Moreton his assailant will have his examination before Justice Shutz next Friday.

It is with very great pleasure that the friends of the Regulator note that the good people of Sherman county show their good will towards that boat by liberally patronizing it at every opportunity.

In response to numerous requests that we should publish in full the article that appeared in yesterday's Oregonian regarding the Cascades portage road and its management we give today about half of the report—all our limited space would allow. We shall publish the remainder tomorrow.

We call attention to the advertisement of Grant Morse in another column of today's CHRONICLE. Mr. Morse offers his services for the necessary but important work of cleaning closets and chimneys.

All orders left at the store of Chrisman & Corson, the old Ruch stand, will receive prompt attention.

A land contest case is being tried to-day between Jack Rand and Mrs. Oiler of Hood River and the following persons from the village are in the city.

Messrs. W. R. Winans, A. Winans, E. S. Olinger, J. N. Reynolds, John Buskirk, Jack Rand, Judge Wells, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Backus, Mrs. Oiler and Mrs. Jennie Champin.

Thomas Ryan, who was brought up a few days ago from Hood River charged with housebreaking is likely to have a double charge of the same kind preferred against him. Some time ago the house of John Buskirk was broken into and a number of articles carried off.

Several of the stolen articles have been found among Ryan's household goods at Hood River, since his incarceration. Among these is a valuable overcoat, while a ring has been found in the hands of another party who alleges that he stole it from Ryan. A sixty dollar shot gun is still missing with hopes that it too may be recovered.

Mr. Geo. Johnston returned to his home in Portland on last night's passenger.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hinkle of Antelope came into town last evening and are stopping at the residence of Mr. B. F. Laughlin.

Baker City must be in a bad way financially. A late number of the Democrat charges that the city is paying $2.20 a cord more for wood, for use at the water works, than the same can be purchased by private individuals.

To relieve the anxious mind of the Capital Journal the CHRONICLE hastens to say that it is not losing any sleep over the question of the candidacy of Binger Hermann but it dislikes amazingly to see its esteemed contemporary lead a crusade against a man who has the respect and confidence not only of his own party but of a large number of his political opponents when it has no more valid reason for its opposition than the admitted fact that Mr. Hermann is good at shaking hands.

The store of McFarland & French will be closed for the next three days, in order to make preparations for a grand clearance sale of their entire stock of general merchandise. This sale is rendered imperative on account of a change in the partnership relations of the members of the firm. The class of goods held by this firm needs no recommendation at the hands of the Chronicle.

Unsolicited Kindness.

The following letter has been handed us for publication, but it does not tell the whole story of this little band of kind-hearted ladies. They have also raised a subscription of $10 for the Congregational church and $10 for the M. E. church.

ANTELOPE, Oct. 10, 1891.

To the President of the Relief Committee, The Dalles:

LADIES:—In behalf of the members of the Ladies Aid Society of Antelope we extend to you our most heartfelt sympathy in your great loss by the recent conflagration in your beautiful little city, and as a token of our esteem and as we are but a small band of workers we offer you our little donation.

Trusting it will make glad the hearts of some little children, we remain, Yours very truly,

Mrs. C. DURBIN, President.

Mrs. W. BOLTON, Secretary.

A Mere Suggestion.

The people of The Dalles have done a practical thing toward opening the river. They built boats to connect, above and below, with the portage road built by the state. They have shown that they not only want an open river, but they have done something toward making it such.

Pass a resolution turning over the whole matter to half a dozen bright boys of The Dalles. They couldn't do worse; the chances are that they would do better.—Telegram.

It's a Boy.

There is not a happier man in The Dalles today than Engineer Jack Dexter, except it be Grandpa Crossen. Grover Cleveland and his girl baby are nowhere. Jack has got a son, the handsomest and finest little fellow that ever drew nourishment from the fountain of a mother's love.

DIED.
