A Pointer on Rates.

Wheat is worth all the way from 84 to

Wheat is selling at 60 cents and barley at 70 cents in the Grand Ronde valley and the farmers are complaining that these prices are not high enough when compared with outside prices. They think that a few middle men are getting away with the profits.

History often repeats itself. Old settlers remember the time when the railroad company reduced the rate to Portland to fifty cents and a number of Dalles people having been caught in Portland, when the opposition was killed off, they had to pay $4 to get back.

Jacobsen & Co., refused yesterday to receive a lot of goods which they had ordered shipped by the Regulator but which came up the river by the Baker. It is the same old game. The goods were on the round trip by buying tickets for plainly marked and everything was regular, so far as instructions and shipping receipts were concerned.

A few days ago a steer raised on the bunch grass plains of Crook county, by Howard & Baldwin, was weighed on the scales at Sherar's Bridge and tipped the beam at 1920 pounds. Another, a fouryear-old belonging to S. L. Logan weighed 1950 pounds pounds. Our informant asks, "How is that for dry bunch grass and cold mountain water?"

The Judge not to Blame.
