ENGLAND IS ANXIOUS.

The Political Situation in Norway is in Favor of Russia.

SERIOUS TO ENGLAND'S COMMERCE.

As Usual England Wants a Finger in the Chinese Pic.

FRANCE IS AFRAID TO ACT.

The Brazilian People Are Determined to Maintain the Republican Government.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The importance of the recent elections to the Norwegian storting has just begun to be sufficiently recognized by English politicians seeing that it is quite possible they may lead up to grave international questions, in which England will be peculiarly interested. Mr. Stein, the radical leader, has obtained a decided majority, and as he advocates the policy that Norway and Sweden should each have a minister of foreign affairs, instead of one for the two countries, there is some alarm among English politicians and those interested in the triple alliance. The British minister in a dispatch to the foreign office states that this policy really means a separation of the two countries, and playing into the hands of Russia, which power is doing its best to obtain the concession of a harbor on the western coast belonging to Sweden and Norway. The harbor is not named, but it is stated that should Russia manage to get it, British shipping might, under certain circumstances, be threatened and imperiled. Of course the foreign office would have something to say to an action of this kind. England has treaties with Sweden, and an alliance exists of the date of 1855 between Sweden, England and France. The position is one of great moment to England and the powers of the alliance, and much anxiety is felt as to the turn affairs may take.

CAN DO NOTHING.

Fear that England Will Help China Hold France Back.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—A Shanghai dispatch says the French are only restrained from aggressive action by fear that other powers, especially England, might indirectly aid the Chinese. The Russians are understood to be behind the French in urging them against China. It is said that one reason Li Hung Chang is keeping his well-trained army together, instead of using it to aid in suppressing the outbreak, is that he has secret designs of his own and does not wish to fritter away the strength that might make him a formidable factor in a crisis. He is feared at Peking, but the palace cabal does not feel strong enough to attempt anything against the powerful viceroy, who has the best part of the military and naval force of the empire at his command. His regular soldiers, about 50,000 in number, trained in European tactics and armed with breech-loading rifles, are the pick of the Tartars in China, while the best part of the Chinese navy, from which he has been careful to eliminate all foreign influences, is devoted to his service. Li Hing Chung, through shrewdness and energy, has become a greater man than the emperor, and it is suspected that he has an eye on the Chinese throne. Europeans are confident that he could have readily suppressed the disturbance and that personal ambition is the only explanation of his course. Li Hing Chang has lately made himself very accessible to foreigners and is willing to explain the situation so far as it suits his purposes. He is not personally hostile to foreigners and appreciates the strength of Europe. He is apparently anxious to keep Europe from taking a hand in the Chinese difficulties, which might seriously interfere with his plans. He has another advantage over the Peking government, as he has plenty of money at his command. Meantime it is certain that England will not consent to any hostile action of France against China, and should France take such action she will have to bear the brunt of the struggle alone and will not be permitted to gain any important advantage.

No Chance for an Empire.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—A Rio Janeiro special says the news of Dom Pedro's death was received with sincere grief, but while all unite in regret, there is a deep determination that the empire should never be revived. Should Princess Isabella and the Count d'Eau make any demand for the imperial succession, the result will probably be the confiscation of all the property of the imperial family in Brazil. This would be a severe loss to the princess and her husband, who have little else to depend upon. The count is cordially hated in Brazil and it would be dangerous for him to attempt to return.

Will Crush Its Rivals.

LIMA, O., Dec. 5.—An advance of five cents per barrel in the past two days has caused any amount of flurry and excitement among the producers in the Ohio and Indiana oil fields, which have been in a greatly depressed condition for several months. The advance is made by the Standard Oil company, and means they have commenced warfare. The Standard has been usually quiet for several months, and the present upward movement is the initiatory step to the crushing out process to all competition. The Manhattan company is the heaviest competitor to the Standard Oil company, and the largest independent producer in two states, in anticipation of a hot fight, is removing its oil refinery to Wilkerson, a town in the southern part of Wood county.

Unleashed the Sailor.

VALPARAISO, Dec. 6.—The judge of crimes yesterday addressed a letter ostensibly to the intendente, but really to the public, stating that a sailor belonging to the Baltimore appeared in his court drunk. From motives of profound consideration for the Americans he did not punish the disorderly sailor, but sent him on board, where Captain Schley tried him. The sailor was an Englishman. He was tried by summary court martial, and Captain Schley approved its sentence, which was thirty days on bread and water in double irons, saying that the sailor showed a lack of respect for his dead shipmate and gross disregard of the gravity of the situation. The sailor also forfeits three months' pay.

No Change in the Speakership Fight.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The day opened without any apparent change in the speakership contest. The five candidates are as cheerful as ever and their followers seemed imbued with the same confidence and persistency which characterized a feature of the contest. The caucus met promptly at ten this morning and without any preliminary proceedings. The secretary began the roll call. The eighteenth ballot stood as follows: Crip, 94; Mills, 90; Springer, 17; McQuillan, 19; Hatch, 5; Stevens, 1.

A Big Mining Suit in Prospect.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Another big mining suit is soon to be filed in San Francisco. The suit will be brought by Ernest Dale Gwen, of this city, as trustee, against John F. Boyd, of the Nevada bank, and other San Francisco parties, for $2,300,000 for value of ore dug on what is known as the Ronquillo grant in Presidio county, Texas. This suit was formerly brought in the federal court here, but has been dismissed, and will be transferred to San Francisco.

The Montgomery Launched.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 6.—The United States cruiser No. 9, known as the Montgomery, was launched at the Columbia iron works at 11:30 this morning.

KING'S WONDERFUL STORY.

Says a Steam Engine Reversed Itself in Response to His Prayer.

William King, of 400 T. street, gave a reporter yesterday a very interesting account of a miracle which he says happened to him recently. The matter seems to have been kept very quiet, for it is not known by the general public. He is employed as an engineer in the dry goods store of Olds & King. Here he was found at work with his arm in a sling yesterday afternoon and was questioned by a reporter about the circumstances of the reported miracle.

"It was a week ago last Monday," Mr. King said. "I was working at the elevator engine here and had my hand on the governor, when this upright rod broke and my hand was instantly caught in the revolving machinery. I am familiar with the faith cure, having been brought up from death's door, where consumption and asthma had taken me. I am now well and strong, as you see.

"When I felt my hand being drawn into the machinery, I called: 'Praise be to the Lord!' In an instant the engine reversed and returned my hand to me, though it was badly lacerated. I am yet unable to use the hand, though it has been recovering rapidly. The doctor put ten stitches in the cut. It was split from the fingers nearly up to the wrist. Nothing but the mercy of God prevented my entire hand and arm from being drawn into the swift machine.

"After my hand had been returned by the reverse motion of the engine, it went right on again in its forward course."

Mr. King's neighborhood abounds in accounts of faith cures, though the beneficiaries speak of being "healed" always, instead of "cured."

Mrs. Richardson, of 443 T street, explained how her daughter Etta was healed of inflammation of the bowels instantly, after being given up to die by a council of local physicians. The neighbors all say also that a Miss Spencer received her sight after being blind for fourteen years, and that a paralytic named Ford threw his crutches away and walked home for the first time in five years.—Oregonian.
