LOCAL BREVITIES.

John Fulton and wife of Biggs are in the city.

Agent Sibley went up to Pendleton today to spend his Christmas.

State Senator Blackman of Heppner was a passenger on the noon train today.

A dress maker's chart was found on the street. The owner can find it at this office.

One hobnob and one drunk occupied the city jail last night. The drunk—an old offender, was fined $20.

An installation of the officers of Wasco Lodge, No. 15, A. F. and A. M., will be held next Monday evening the 28th inst.

Hon. F. P. Mays came up on the noon train to spend Christmas. Mrs. Mays and the children arrived a few days previously.

The CHRONICLE force is indebted to the kindness of Assessor Barnett for appropriate and appreciated Christmas presents.

Leslie Butler exhibited in one of his show windows today a nice, well preserved water melon which he has kept over for Christmas.

Will Graham has closed his restaurant business and intends going back to his old business of railroading. He says he may go back to business again in the spring.

Tickets for the Mendelssohn concert are for sale at Snipes & Kinerly's. No extra charge for reserved seats. "First come, first served." Go early to secure a good seat.

Hear good music and enhance the interests of the town by attending the Mendelssohn concert on Saturday night at the court house. To be sure of a seat, buy a ticket now.

The Methodist, Baptist and Congregational churches will join in a Christmas tree at the court house this evening at 7 o'clock. The members of the three Sabbath schools will be appropriately remembered and there will be a short programme before the distribution of gifts.

Tomorrow being Christmas Day, no paper will be issued from this office. No one will grudge the CHRONICLE force the rest and enjoyment of the happiest holiday of all the year. To the many readers and friends of this journal the CHRONICLE wishes a merry Christmas and many returns of the season.

The CHRONICLE sincerely regrets to learn of the death of Cedric Thompson, the eighteen months old son of George H. Thompson of Arlington. The child died yesterday after a short illness. The remains were brought to the city last evening and were buried today in the Odd Fellows' cemetery. Little Cedric was an unusually winsome and affectionate child, and his departure is a bitter sorrow to his parents, who have a heartfelt sympathy of all who know them.

This morning the occupants of the land office building heard cries of distress proceeding from the office of Dr. Siddall, but for a time paid no particular attention to it supposing it to be some young person who was getting a tooth pulled. As the cries continued some one made an investigation when it was discovered that little Theodore Nickelson, son of Mrs. Weis of this city had visited the doctor's office to get a tooth pulled and closed the spring bolt of the front door which left him in the vestibule so that he could get neither in nor out. The doctor was absent and the poor child was half scared to death till outsiders assured him the doctor would soon be back and let him out. It was only a little till he was released but as soon as the door was opened he burst into tears.

They Got the Cake.

Yesterday, just as the sun was sinking behind old Seven Mile mountain, and the gray darkened into night, a little company gathered in the cozy parlor of Mrs. Myers on Third street where, with the aid of Rev. W. C. Curtis, Miss May Farley was wedded to John A. Christians.

After the usual congratulations the party adjourned to the dining-room where a finely ordered table seemed to have gathered all the luxuries of the season. To the cheer of the host and hostess was added one or two "that reminds me," of our story teller which prevented too much attention to more edible good, and recalled all to the enjoyment of each other. Near the close of the feast one bethought him of a certain notice in the CHRONICLE to the effect that A. Keller, the leading baker of our city, had offered one of his fine wedding cakes to the first couple who should be married before Christmas eve and wondered if it might not properly belong to our happy couple, but just as a look from the hostess was enough to signify that the question might possibly be out of place, for even then she was preparing to surprise the company by putting upon the table that identical cake. It was recognized immediately, for some who sat there had looked at it with longing eyes as the baker dilated enthusiasm over the mixture, replete with everything charming to the palates of such as dare to taste its richness. The proof of the compound was in the eating, and regrets were voted for the next couple unless they are fortunate enough to secure one of Keller's loaves. After the feast music and good-bye and Mr. Christians and his bride started for Portland and San Francisco. The CHRONICLE wishes them a pleasant journey and a safe return.

A Christmas Poem.

Editor Chronicle:
There is always an abundance of Christmas poetry; but there are less often seen poems, whose authors have caught the full inspiration of this season of universal joy, and have been able to impart it to others through the medium of their verses. The author of the following stanzas, Rev. John Westall, for many years the beloved and honored pastor of the Swedenborgian church, of Fall River, Mass., has succeeded, where many another, far better known to the reading public, has failed: W. C. I.

CHRISTMAS.

"Oh! how shall I keep my Christmas?"
My heart whispered softly to me,
For I had been reading the story
Of the Lord's nativity.
And slowly and clearly before me
The words, like pictures, rise,
And the scenes appear in the beauty
Of the starry Syrian skies.
O cradled He was in a manger!
For lowly and poor was He
Whose throne is the splendors of Heaven,
Whose power is infinity.
And He bore His cross to save us,
To save us from Death and Sin,
And He trod all alone the wine-press,
To make us pure and clean.
In glory the hosts of the angels
Came singing His song of praise,
And billing the Heavens with music
In those wonderful old days:
Singing, "Glory to God in the highest!"
And "Peace upon Earth," and then
The mighty chorus of voices
Pealed forth, "Good will to men!"
"Oh! how shall I keep my Christmas?"
As they kept it in Heaven above:
O keep it with peace and thanksgiving,
And cherish the love of love,
And share with the poor and needy
The joys which the Lord gives thee:
And thy heart shall keep with the angels
The Lord's nativity.

MARRIED.

At his study in the Zimmerman place of this city, by Rev. W. C. Curtis, pastor of the Congregational church, on the morning of December 24, John W. Sellers to Ellen Hendricks, both of Klickitat county, Wash.

DIED.

At Arlington, Or., Dec. 23, Arthur Cedric, infant son of George H. and Emma Thompson, aged 1 year, 3 months, and 24 days.

While J. H. Gauntlett, of Brandon, was sitting at his table eating his dinner last Monday, says the Brandon Recorder, the wind carried a limb about two inches in diameter by two feet long, from a tree standing about 135 feet south of his house, and hurled it through the upper sash of the window, scattering the glass over the house and clearing his table of its contents without ceremony. Mr. Gauntlett says the limb passed so close to his head that it seemed as though he felt it pass. After wrecking his dinner, the limb passed on, striking the wall on the opposite side of the room.

J. J. Caffee, of Stanley, Pacific county, publishes a singular letter in the Pacific Journal, in which he informs his friends that should he be found dead, or disappear in some mysterious manner, they will find a letter in his safe that will tell them the cause. He states that his life has been threatened, and if anything happens to him he hopes his friends will bring the guilty party to justice.

A team of horses belonging to Dean Blanchard was instantly killed under very peculiar circumstances at Ranier a few days ago. A tree that was being felled by some woodsmen was swung around by the wind, fell across the head of one and the neck of the other animal, and then sprung back, and now stands about eight feet above where the team stood.

The Old and the New.

"Of course it hurts but you must grin and bear it," is the old time consolation given to persons troubled with rheumatism. "If you will take the trouble to dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bine it on over the seat of pain your rheumatism will disappear," is the modern and much more satisfactory advice. 50 cent bottles for sale by Snipes & Kinerly, druggists. daw

For Sale Cheap.

A gentle, handsome family horse and a new covered buggy and harness for sale cheap. Apply at this office. 151f

A Preventive for Croup.

We want every mother to know that croup can be prevented. True croup never appears without a warning. The first symptom is hoarseness; then the child appears to have taken a cold or a cold may have accompanied the hoarseness from the start. After that a peculiar rough cough is developed, which is followed by the croup. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse; a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will prevent the attack. Even after a rough cough has appeared the disease may be prevented by using this remedy as directed. It has never been known to fail. 25 cent, 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by Snipes & Kinerly, druggists. daw
