She crossed the plains in 1853 and with her husband came to reside in The market for throat and lung diseases. Dalles in 1863, where they have remained ever since. She leaves a husband, one son and one daughter. Mrs. Dehm was a thoroughly good, hard working and $2,519 72 industrious woman and was held in the highest esteem by all who knew her. She was a devoted wife and mother and a kind and sympathetic neighbor, one, withal, who met in the pathway of life more than her usual share of trouble When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria, and sorrow, but who bore up under it as a brave and true woman only can. Peace to her ashes.

Thanksgiving Day in New York City. It used to be that Thanksgiving day in New York was, like the day all over the eastern part of the country, a day which centered around a dinner. This dinner was inevitable, and the families saw each other then that never saw each other in a group at any other time. The prodigal returned for it; the poor relation looked forward to it and praised it as it progressed heavily through its different courses; and the several members of the family tried to be more polite and genial and loving toward one another at that meal than at any other of the three times 365 other meals of the year. There are some who like family dinners, and there are other wicked ones who sympathize with the young woman who assented to having a family dinner by saying, "Yes, and let us have any family but our own!" many homes, and it is made more so, as a rule, by some one of the elder of the poor relations, who endeavors to enliven the general gloom by trying to be "the life of the dinner." He does this by growing reminiscent over the younger members, and telling how pretty they were as children, and how they used to make him tell and retell the old story of the roast pig he stole the night before Gettysburg, with which introduction he promptly tells the old story again.

It may not be so everywhere, but around New York city this has all changed. It is not that the families around the great metropolis love each other less, or that they have less cause or less desire to be thankful, but a great and powerful and fascinating rival has come te take the place of the Thanksgiving day dinner, and it is known not only in New York, but from Texas, or wherever else a Yale man is carrying a transit, to Canada, or wherever else the Princeton man is building a bridge, as the Thanksgiving day game.

And now everybody goes out to see Princeton and Yale decide the football championship, and instead of boring each other around a dinner table, grow hoarse and exhausted in shouting for their favorite son or the college of their son .-Harper's Weekly.

A Georgia Mule Mine. Squire Spudler has just discovered an extensive bay mule mine on his farm near here. The squire was fishing down by the creek near where an old Indian mine was worked for mules, and he was attracted by a sound resembling the bray of a mule coming from a little cave in the bank of the stream. The squire General Blacksmithing and Work done commenced a search and soon discovered the ears of a mule protruding above the soft earth near the water. Work was at once commenced and several fine specimens were unearthed. The squire's sonin-law started with one fine specimen to a mineralogist's to have it assayed, but it bucked and jumped with him, and; after sending him off on a voyage of discovery toward the planet Saturn, went on a grazing spree in the adjacent cow lot. It is believed that the mine will prove very profitable, and fodder and corn have advanced to fifty dollars per front foot.-Calhoun (Ga.) Times,
