Here is the main sacrifice the man feared. He was afraid that his last, his most nearly maimed, weeks of life would be spent in the presence of an inhabitant who had no voice, no song, no power to soothe, no power to comfort, no power to make him happy, or to take away his pain.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.

He knew that he would be received into the presence of this man at the last, and he feared that he would be worse than maimed, and that he would be worse than worse, and that he would be worse than all of the rest of the world.