A NEW MOVE BY CHILI.

Will Take the Refugees From any Merchant Ship in Chilian Waters.

CHILI DIDN'T LIKE IT.

Because Commander Evans Saluted the Spanish Minister.

SENATOR ALGER GIVES HIS VIEWS.

Jack the Slasher, A New York Criminal Caught at Last—The Dead Cardinal—Minor Mention.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Secretary Tracy tonight made public the following dispatch from Commander Evans, of the Yorktown now at Valparaiso, in regard to the Balmacedist refugees aboard that vessel:

The American minister informs me the Chilian minister of foreign affairs has changed his mind about the refugees now on the Yorktown and they may be taken off any merchant vessel touching at the Chilian ports by local authorities. Arrangements had been made for all of them to sail today, but this change on the part of the Chilian minister of foreign affairs compels me to keep them, which crowds me very much. Shall I land them at Callao or Molendo, Peru? No steamers from here go direct to neutral territory. This unexpected act of the Chilian minister is due, he states, in part to my saluting the Spanish minister when he came on board to deliver two refugees. I have requested the American minister to say to the minister of foreign affairs that I am responsible to my own government and not to that of Chili in such matters, and I consider his criticisms offensive, and will not accept it. His action seems unworthy of a representative of any government.

The action on the part of Pereria, the Chilian minister of foreign affairs, in deciding that the refugees might be taken out of any merchant vessel touching at any Chilian port by local authorities, was a great surprise to the officials in Washington. They were lead to believe from the fact that the refugees were allowed aboard the Yorktown without molestation, they would be permitted to leave the country without further hindrance. Notwithstanding this setback to their departure, there is no doubt they will be able to get to neutral territory, if the navy department can bring about such a result. Secretary Tracy said tonight he will send a reply to Commander Evans tomorrow, instructing him what to do in the matter. He will probably order the refugees taken to some place in neutral territory by the Yorktown. There is no ground for offense to the Chilian government in the action of Evans, saluting the Spanish minister when the latter came aboard to deliver two refugees who have been under his care. The naval regulation require commanders to extend courtesy to visiting dignitaries.

Senator Alger's View of the Situation.

DETROIT, Jan. 17.—General Alger, in an interview here today, said:

"There is a good deal of Chilian war talk in Washington and war may be the outcome of the present situation. The army and navy naturally favor it and their influence is felt. War preparations always excite and entuse the masses too, and a war policy is apt to be temporarily popular on that account. But it seems to me it would be prudent and proper to send a commission to Chili, previous to a determination to begin hostilities with the view of thus securing ample reparation and avoiding an appeal to arms, which would sacrifice not less than 10,000 lives and cost $300,000,000. If the commission failed war would be inevitable and I only refer to the appointing of a commission as a means of honorably avoiding hostilities. There is one good result of the war scare, anyway. It has convinced people of the necessity for a strong navy."

JACK THE SLASHER.

A Mysterious Assassin Caught in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—"Jack, the Slasher," that mysterious individual, who since December 29, last, has amused himself, by cutting the throats of drunken men with a razor, and has been the terror of night travelers in the Fourth ward, was captured at an early hour this morning red-handed. He inveigled his victim, a drunken man, to an unfrequented street and then catching the man around the neck with one hand, with the other he drew a keen razor across his throat. He then slunk away, but an officer, who had been watching him for some time and who had been unable to come up in time to save the drunken man from injury, gave pursuit, and with the aid of other officers soon captured "the slasher." Inspector Byrnes has no doubt that he has the right man, at whose door also is laid the death of John Carson, the Baltimore lawyer, and the dangerous wounding of five other men. The prisoner's name is Henry G. Dowd. He is well connected, so far as his family is concerned, but his habits have long made him a social outcast, and for two years at least, he has had no other home than the cheap lodging-houses on the Bowery. He is about 43 years old, and is believed to be insane. Dowd's seventh victim is a man named William Miller, 45 years old, of 328 West Third street, who was walking along James street in a drunken condition. His throat was badly cut, and he was taken to the hospital. Dowd was arraigned this morning in a police court, and was from there remanded to the care of Inspector Byrnes.

The following is a list of the victims of the man who has been dubbed by the police as "Jack the Slasher":

John Heffin, of No. 148 East Eighteenth street, cut by some person unknown, the night of December 29th last (this was the first case); Louis Lawson, of No. 5 Albany street, throat cut January 8; John Clark, of Elizabeth, N. J., throat cut January 9; George Williams, of Brooklyn, throat cut and slashed January 11; Edward Christianson, a Swede, throat slashed January 12; John Carson, throat cut from ear to ear, found dead January 15.

After the preliminary examination of the prisoner he was taken to the Bellevue hospital where Clark, the man who was cut January 9 was being treated for the injury inflicted by the slasher. Clark positively identified Dowd as the man who assaulted him. When Dowd was taken back to police headquarters he made a confession of his crimes, or some of them. He said the impulse to kill was uncontrollable. He said he wanted to kill all the Dutchmen because a German had once ravished his mother at her home in Brooklyn. "Why did you kill Carson, he wasn't a German?" the inspector asked. "I could not help it," was the reply. Then seeing his error, he quickly corrected himself saying he did not kill Carson. Dowd's room was searched and blood-stained clothing found. His shirt sleeves were also full of blood stains.

Henry G. Dowd, "the slasher," is an Englishman by birth, and is one of the children of Patrick M. Dowd, the civil engineer, who was engaged in laying out Central Park. He is well connected on his mother's side, his mother's sister having married Samuel N. Hoyt, a son of the late Jesse Hoyt, the famous millionaire, whose will was vigorously contested by his daughter, Mary Irene Hoyt. All who know the prisoner say they have always considered him insane, and it is said that Dowd was once confined in an asylum, from which he escaped.

THE DEAD CARDINAL.

Fully Fifty Thousand People View the Dead Prelate Remains.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Not less than 50,000 persons visited today the body of Cardinal Manning, lying in state in the Chappel le Ardeme in the cardinals house at Westminster. Most of the visitors were working people, and many of them testified, by their affections for the departed prelate, an affection apparently which had nothing to do with religion, as it was evident that the large majority had come irrespective of religious faith. Among the visitors were leaders of nearly every trade organization in London, and they could be heard expressing in earnest tones their appreciation of the dead cardinal's services to the cause of labor. Chief Rabbi Naham M. Adler alluded to his services Saturday to the breadth and humanity of Cardinal Manning's mind and especially to his cordial support of the effort to obtain amelioration of the condition of the persecuted Hebrews of Russia. In most of the churches and chapels there was some mention of the cardinal, as well as of the duke.

The decision of the state board to make the state levy from the assessment rolls as revised by the state board of equalization will meet with the approval of the people. To have ignored the work of the board through a mere technicality would have placed our taxation laws in still more inextricable confusion than they are. If Portland is aggrieved she knows her remedy.

CHILI GETTING READY.

Unofficial Reports State that Chili is still Preparing for War.

A SHORT CABINET MEETING.

The Chilian Question was the Subject of Discussion.

GETTING THE MONITORS READY.

They Will be Used for Coast Defense in Case of Trouble—The Tennessee Miners Out Again.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—It cannot be learned that any communications have passed this morning between the state department and Minister Egan, nor was the Chilian minister at the department. Several senators and representatives called upon Secretary Blaine in the forenoon. One of the former said that he had heard nothing directly from the secretary relating to Chili, but he knew this country should now assert its dignity and spank the bumptious little South American republic.

The reported preparations of the Chilian government for war, though lacking official confirmation in all the details, are viewed with deep concern at the navy department. The reported dispatching of a fleet of three cruisers and torpedo boats from Valparaiso under sealed orders, which are reported from Chili through private sources yesterday, is thought to be for the purpose of guarding the straits of Magellan, which are regarded to a certain extent as the gateway to Chili. A comparatively small number of well-armed vessels advantageously placed in the straits could, in the opinion of naval experts, hold that important passage against a large fleet. To be sure this would not necessarily prevent the ultimate rounding of Cape Horn by an American squadron bound for Chili, as two day's steaming almost would carry the ships into the Pacific by an outside route. The theory is, however, that it is the desire of the Chilian government to afford ample protection to its important coal supply station at Port Cabello in the straits. The capture of this station would be a serious blow to Chili, and might ultimately be the object of a campaign in southern waters in case of hostilities. Secretary Tracy was in his office all morning seeing members of congress and other callers. The navy department was in constant telegraphic communication with the navy yards and naval stations in all parts of the country for several hours last night.

A Short Cabinet Meeting.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—There seems to be no good foundation for the war rumors circulated last night. Yesterday's cabinet meeting, instead of being three hours long, as one of them stated, lasted but an hour and a quarter, and was one of the shortest for months past. Of course it was important, as the Chilian matter was under consideration, but so far as can be learned, none of the sensational incidents reported occurred. Both state and navy departments were in receipt of communications from Chili this morning, but the officials state that they contained nothing of unusual importance. The fact that dispatches were received, however, is satisfactory evidence that Minister Egan has not abandoned his post, as a telegram to the London Times led some persons to infer.

To be Made Ready for Sea.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 17.—Orders have been received at the League Island navy yard to put in proper condition and get ready for sea the monitor Montauk, which has been "laid up in ordinary" in the Delaware river front since 1883. The Montauk was built during the civil war, and served during the latter part of that struggle in the naval campaign on the Mississippi river. She has a single revolving turret, in which are mounted two fifteen-inch rifled guns, which are formidable weapons for use in coast and harbor defense. It is understood that as soon as the Montauk's machinery has been connected and made ready for operation, similar work will be done on the Nahant and Jason.

The Situation in Tennessee.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 16.—Alarming reports were received from Coal Creek late tonight. A man in on a late train says miners to the number of 2000 are assembling on the mountain overlooking the soldiers' camp with a view of making an attack. At 11:30 the operator in the camp telegraphed that many miners were massing on the mountains and some were forming pickets. The camp is in much confusion, expecting an attack, but the men are prepared to hold the fort. At midnight nothing further was heard.
