LOCAL BREVITIES.

R. G. Sigmau, of Dufur, is in the city.
Mr. J. Campbell of Hood River is in the city.
Dr. P. G. Barrett of Hood River is in the city.
Good roads are indispensable to the prosperity and growth of this country.
If you want to enjoy a good laugh go to the Mic-Mac concert tomorrow evening.
The Congregational choir on sparing no efforts to make the Lena Morgan concert a big success.

The company's tool house, at the corner of Main and Union streets, has been pulled down and removed.

E. C. Pentland, secretary of the Oregon Press Association, is in the city visiting his sister, Mrs. S. L. Brooks.

T. F. Osborn was re-elected president of the Portland chamber of commerce on the 21st. Chas H. Dodd was elected first vice-president.

The state and county tax levy for Baker county for the current year is 32 mills. Taxes come high over there but they must have 'em.

Do not let anything prevent you from going to the Mic-Mac concert on Saturday to hear the dainty little darkey maidens whose pretty dresses will make their sweet singing very effective.

From Robert Snodgrass, of Boyd, who visited the city today, we learn that the farmers are busy plowing in some places out in his neighborhood.

Admission to the Mic-Mac concert is only fifty cents for any seat in the house and the concert is for the benefit of the Episcopal, Congregational and Methodist churches of The Dalles.

All the music at the Mic-Mac concert tomorrow evening will be very lively and pretty, no classical music will be attempted, but it is said that even lovers of classical music cannot fail to be pleased with Mrs. Sarah E. Walker's rich and beautiful voice.

A number of would-be safe experts have been trying diligently during the past two days, to earn the $5 that Sam Klein offered for the opening of Judge Bird's safe. W. H. Lochhead luckily struck the combination this forenoon and captured the money.

B. W. Crooks of Glenn Wood, Washington, returned to The Dalles last night from Dufur where he has been for the past eight weeks under treatment of Dr. Vanderpool for cancer in the lip, face and nose. When he went to Dufur the cancer on his lip was about the size of a hazel nut, and that on his nose and face extended across one cheek nearly to his ear. Almost every sign and trace of the disease is gone as far as can be seen, without any disfigurement of the parts affected. The doctor has five patients under treatment at present some of them very bad cases, one a cancer of twenty years standing; yet all are doing hopefully.

Of Interest of Horticulturists.

The Marion County Fruit Growers Association held its annual meeting at Salem on the 18th instant, when topics of interest to horticulturists and gardeners were discussed. Among the papers read was one by B. S. Pague, on "Horticulture and Climatic Considerations," which contained the following remarks of general interest to fruit growers and of special interest to the fruit growers of Wasco county. Ten acres of fruit trees at the age of five years, he said will yield more in one year than would twenty acres of wheat in five years; each acre each year, yielding twenty-five bushels to the acre, and each bushel selling for 80 cents. He said that the weather bureau record showed that in the vicinity of Hood River and The Dalles, the lowest night temperature was higher in that locality than in any other part of the state from June 1st to September 15th, making the section especially suited to peach culture. He explained how cold air settled in valleys and said vegetation on rising ground is never exposed to the full intensity of frosts or cooler night air and the higher they are situated relative to the immediately surrounding district, the less they are exposed, since their relative elevation provides a ready escape downward of the cooler air almost as rapidly as it is formed. Frosts are most severely felt where the slopes above them are destitute of vegetation, for if the slopes are covered with trees, they offer resistance to the descending currents of cold air and distribute the cold produced by radiation through the atmosphere. He then distinguished the frost and nonfrost periods as they generally exist in Oregon and affect vegetation, and gave an example of how with the dry and wet bulb thermometer any horticulturist could determine for himself the probable approach of frost and gave remedies of how to protect orchards from frost by burning damp straw and allowing the smoke to cover the orchard.

The Fireman's Ball.
The firemen's ball given last night in the Umatilla house was a grand success, both as to the numbers in attendance and in financial results. Colonel Sinnott estimates that a thousand persons were in attendance. Others more conservatively inclined place the number at three to four hundred. All agree that there was an immense crowd, everything passed off pleasantly and a most enjoyable time was had. The first prize for the best sustained gentleman's character was a pair of solid gold sleeve buttons and shirt studs and was awarded to Andrew Keller in the character of a shoemaker. The second, a gold quartz scarf pin, was awarded to Mr. Ulrich, who assumed the character of a soldier. The first ladies' prize, a handsome and valuable dressing case was awarded to Miss Jacobsen in the character of "Sunflower." The second prize was a large cabinet album and was awarded to Miss Pauline Buchler, who assumed the character of Maid of Athens.

An Important Meeting.
An adjourned meeting of the county court will be held next Monday. The principal business to come before it will be the county levy. In view of the fact that Multnomah county has ignored the work of the state board of equalization, and that its recognition by Wasco county would involve a considerable addition to our state tax, Judge Thornbury desires that the citizens of The Dalles meet in the county court room next Monday evening at the usual hour to counsel with one another as to the course the county court ought to pursue in the premises—whether or not to ignore the findings of the state board as Multnomah county has done and make the levy from the assessment roll as returned by the county assessor.

NORTHWEST NEWS.

Captain J. W. Troup, ex-superintendent of the Union Pacific water lines, has accepted a position as manager of the Columbia and Kootenai Steam Navigation company.

The Salem Irrigator says that a gentleman of that place who contemplates the purchase of a certain piece of real estate in this vicinity, becoming somewhat impatient with the real estate agent who was negotiating the sale at his tardiness in obtaining the abstract, impatiently exclaimed: "Now, here, I want you to hurry up and get an abstract that land and no more fooling about it."

The big Willamette Valley flouring mills at Salem have been shut down in accordance with an order received from the main office at Portland. The men have been discharged with the exception of the warehouse men, who will continue work till the flour on hand is shipped to Portland. Between 20,000 and 30,000 bushels, which it is claimed is stored in the company's warehouse at Salem, will be shipped to some of the other mills to be ground into flour.

CURRENT COMMENT.

"It seems to me the government ought to pension all sons of veterans who were born since the war." "Why?" "Think of the risk the poor boys ran! If their fathers had been killed they might never have been born."—Buffalo Express.

President Harrison is not rushing into a war with Chile. Neither is he rushing away from his original proposition. There is plenty of time ahead of us in which to deal with Chile. If we have peace it will be upon honorable terms; if we have war it will not be the result of reckless conduct by this government.—Spokane Review.

If the Pittsburgh Dispatch has told the solemn truth, it is easy to secure a very cheap and safe light for temporary use. It is only necessary to put some heated olive oil into a small bottle, drop in a piece of phosphorus, cork it up securely and put it in a safe place. Any time the cork is removed for a few seconds and then replaced a powerful light will be given out by the bottle, which will last several minutes and be again renewed at any moment by pulling out the cork.

From a lengthy editorial in the New York World reviewing the work of Hill as governor of the state we take the following extracts: "He has saved the state not less than $4,000,000 of wasteful expenditures by his vetoes alone, and a much larger sum by securing the abolition of costly and unnecessary bureaus, and by the deterrent influence of his known hostility to extravagance upon the acts of the legislature. He has made possible the lowest tax-rate in thirty-six years, with no direct tax at all for state purposes.

How to Manage Husbands.

"How to Manage Husbands" is debated by Sorosis, and sundry futile suggestions are offered, such as "Hold your own tongue," "Tell him your secrets," and such like. George Du Maurier, in Punch, gives one recipe worth the whole batch of them: "Feed the brute."—St. Joseph News.

The best suggestion came from Lily Devereaux Blake, who proposed, as the best rule for marital happiness, that the wife should not always ask the husband where he was going when he went away, and where he had been when he came back. Lily is a darling.—St. Joseph Gazette.

The noted female society in New York called Sorosis met the other day to discuss the question: "How to Manage a Husband." As most of the members of Sorosis are spinsters on the shady side, they are supposed to know all about managing husbands—of other women.—Lafayette Journal.

Resolutions.

At a meeting of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, held on the evening of the 21st the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted: WHEREAS, The need of immediate improvements of Oregon's water-ways is of the utmost importance, not only to the state, but also to the commercial interests of the entire coast, and

WHEREAS, The river and harbor committee of congress are willing and desirous of having the needs of this section in this matter presented to them by a delegation before February 10, therefore, be it

Resolved, That our delegates to the National Board of Trade session to be held in Washington, D. C., on January 27, be and are hereby requested and instructed to wait upon the river and harbor committee and present the needs of Oregon in the matter of the improvement of her water-ways.

They Speak From Experience.

"We know from experience in the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy that it will prevent croup," says Messrs. Gaddberry & Worley, Percy, Iowa. They also add that the remedy has given great satisfaction in this vicinity, and that they believe it to be the best in the market for throat and lung diseases. La Grippe!

The tendency of this disease toward pneumonia is what makes it dangerous. La Grippe requires precisely the same treatment as a severe cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of severe colds. This Remedy effectually counteracts the tendency of the disease to result in pneumonia, provided that proper care be taken to avoid exposure when recovering from the attack. Careful inquiry among the many thousands who have used this remedy during the epidemics of the past two years has failed to discover a single case that has not recovered or that has resulted in pneumonia. 25 cent, 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. daw
