A subscription is today being presented to the citizens of The Dalles for the purposes of raising funds to have a test made of the rain producing powers of the Interstate Artificial Rain Co., of Goodland, Kan. The subscriptions are conditioned on the satisfactory fulfillment of any contract made with the company. It is a case of no rain, no pay. No difficulty is anticipated in the matter of raising all the money required and twice as much if necessary.

The Citizens Meet and Discuss. A meeting was held in the court house last night which was called at the express desire of the county court in order that that body might obtain an expression of the minds of the tax-payers as to whether or not the court, in making the county levy, should ignore the findings of the state board of equalization as Multnomah county has done and make the county levy from the roll of the county assessor. Mr. Joseph T. Peters was called to the chair and after a brief statement of the object which brought them together a motion was made by D. M. French, to the effect that the county court should make its levy from the returns of the county assessor. The motion was seconded by Rev. Mr. Spencer, who earnestly urged that it was the duty of the county court to uphold and recognize the work of the state board. Mr. Spencer held that in ignoring the work of the board as Multnomah county had done we were assuming to be judges of the constitutionality of the law that created the board, a thing that the supreme court alone had a right to do. He believed that mortgages should be taxed at their face value and that if we ignore the work of the state board we so far give our moral support to a county that has become notorious for its opposition to any legislation that tended to make it pay its just proportion of the taxes of the state. Hugh Gonrly, replied by saying that if it were a question of violating the statutes, the state board had set the example. All property in the state must be assessed equally. It did not require the supreme court to decide that it was illegal to assess one class of real estate at one-third or one-half its value and tax mortgage, which the law created real estate for the purposes of assessment and taxation, at their full face. This matter had already been tested and Judge Deady had decided it could not be done. There could be only one outcome to a suit of this character should the state sue Multnomah county, and in the event of such an action if the supreme court should sustain the state board we would lose nothing. Wasco county could in that case pay the additional state tax and that would end the matter. On the other hand should the work of the board be declared unconstitutional, as he had not a shadow of a doubt it would be, we would be saved the endless complications that would arise from having made the county levy on an illegal basis. Mr. W. Lord said if we paid the extra $1,400 state tax that would be the last we would see of it and that the ignoring of the work of the state board would not embarrass the state in the least. The ayes and noes were then called for, when the motion was carried by an apparently overwhelming majority.

THE GOLDEN ROD. There's gold in the miser's chest Fast locked with a golden key; And a gold more rare in a woman's hair And a gold in the hands as see; There's a tawny gold on the wheat's little length Where its breeze tossed billows nod, But never a gold so full and free. Ah, me— None, none like the goldenrod.

There's gold on the maple's branch That gleams on an autumn leaf; And a golden crown when the sun dies down While the shadows turn and flee; There's a wealth of gold in the pointed leaves Where the willow strows the sod, But no such feathery flagree, Ah, me— None, none like the goldenrod.

There's gold in the dawn's faint streaks That glint on the poplar tree; There's gold in the mist, and in leaves of wine, And gold on the humble bee, But by the plumes of its knightly crest, Where the wild wind rides roughshod, There is never a gold so fair to see, Ah, me— None, none like the goldenrod. Ernest McGaffey in Arkansas Traveler.

For the Children. "In buying a cough medicine for children," says H. A. Walker, a prominent druggist of Ogden, Utah, "never be afraid to buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it and relief is always sure to follow. I particularly recommend Chamberlain's because I have found it to be safe and reliable. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. daw

La Grippe! The tendency of this disease toward pneumonia is what makes it dangerous. La Grippe requires precisely the same treatment as a severe cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of severe colds. This Remedy effectually counteracts the tendency of the disease to result in pneumonia, provided that proper care be taken to avoid exposure when recovering from the attack. Careful inquiry among the many thousands who have used this remedy during the epidemics of the past two years has failed to discover a single case that has not recovered or that has resulted in pneumonia. 25 cent, 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. daw

The following petition has been presented to the Hon. county court of this county: WHEREAS, There has been a failure of crops to a great extent in Wasco county for the last three years on account of the lack of moisture, both in the earth and in the air; and

WHEREAS, There are parties who profess to be able to produce rain by artificial means at a small expense; and WHEREAS, A good rain in the month of May in Wasco county would be of incalculable benefit to the whole county in the increase of crops of wheat and other grains aside from the benefits to be derived from such rains on the increase of grass on the range etc.; and

WHEREAS, The Interstate Artificial Rain company of Goodland, Kansas, is willing to enter into a contract with parties to produce a rainfall in the month of May A. D. 1892, said rainfall to cover an area of not less than 10,000 square miles and to cause a precipitation of enough rain for all practical purposes at the aforesaid test in the said month of May 1892; and

WHEREAS, The aforesaid Interstate Artificial Rain company agrees to make artificial rain in the said month of May 1892 for the sum of $750, and for the further sum of $200 for the expenses with the understanding "No rain no pay"; and

WHEREAS, A good heavy rain in the Month of May in Wasco county would be a benefit to the whole county and the expense of such test should not be borne by a few, but by the public at large; now

THEREFORE, We the undersigned, a committee appointed by Columbia Farmers' Alliance No. 1, composed of farmers residents of Wasco county would respectfully petition your honorable body to make an appropriation of as much as the aforesaid sum to meet the expenses of said deal as your honorable body thinks meet and just and your petitioners will ever pray.

Signed: J. E. MCCORMACK, H. L. POWELL, JOHN RYAN, GEO. H. RIDDELL. Committee.

A New Firm. The East End has added another handsome new store to its business houses. The new candidates for commercial favors are Orchard & Fisher, both of whom have been well known and respected citizens of this county for years. The firm has opened in the handsome new two-story frame building just erected by J. L. Thompson on the lot immediately west of the Diamond Flouring mills. A visit to the store found Messrs. Orchard & Fisher well supplied with a general stock of groceries, glassware, tinware, farm produce, such as eggs, butter, bacon, potatoes, etc., flour, mill feed, canned goods, tobaccos, cigars, etc. Besides these the new firm will keep a full supply of grain and hay just as soon as they can be conveniently procured and stored. The firm makes a special feature of five, ten and fifteen cent bargain counters where a great variety of goods can be procured at these prices that will cost more elsewhere. On the five-cent counter we noticed handsome tin cups, pie plates, cookie cutters, cream skimmers' funnels, glass salts, tea strainers, potato mashers, tea stands, etc. On the ten cent counter dippers, egg-beaters, strainer ladles, cullenders, pushing pans, gauged quart measures, nickle and glass salts, water cups, match safes, vegetable strainers, flesh forks, jelly moulds, etc. On the fifteen cent counter, deep pudding pans, sauce pans, quart milk cans, spring balances, dust pans, syrup pitchers, tracing machines, feather dusters, scoops and curry combs, besides other things too numerous to mention. We predict the bargain counters will become a popular feature of the store. A stand in the middle of the floor is crowded with a handsome assortment of crystal ware in sets or single pieces, besides tumblers, water pitchers, fruit dishes, cuspidors and lamp chimneys that the firm professes to sell "cheaper than anybody." Mr. Orchard says the motto of the firm is "Cash, quick sales, small profits and square dealing." These principles carried into effect ought to make the business successful and we hope they may.
