LOCAL BREVITIES.

C. H. Belcher, of Wasco, is a guest of the Umatilla house.

Mrs. Thorburn of Kingsley is registered at the Umatilla house.

John Medler of Wasco has been in the city for the past two days.

M. B. Potter and F. Noble of Hood River were in town yesterday.

A. L. Allen, of Prineville, is registered at the Umatilla house.

T. H. Johnston, the well known merchant of Dufur, is in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Cook, of Three Mile paid the CHRONICLE office a pleasant visit today.

Alexander Scott the postmaster and merchant in Grass Valley, was in town today on his way to Portland.

The republican state central committee meets today at Portland. M. A. Moody, the member from Wasco county, went down last night to attend it.

H. H. Riddell late with Huntington, Mays & Wilson, now pursuing his law studies in Portland, came up on the noon passenger today on a visit to his parents who are reported to be suffering from la grippe.

Paul Krett & Co. are now quartered in their new store and paint shop on the corner of Third and Washington streets, where they are supplied with a full stock of everything in their line and where they have as heat and handsome a store room as is to be found in this city.

Some sneak thief performed a neat piece of work last evening at the residence of David Graham in the western part of the city. Sometime between the hours of six and eight o'clock while the family was in another part of the house Miss Graham's bedroom was entered and a purse stolen containing a five dollar gold piece and a railroad ticket to Haley, Idaho. No trace of the thief has been found and nothing else is missing.

Two guests of the Skookum house, one a sheep herder from the Jack Knife country and the other a drunken sot from nearer home, were having a grand time of it today about the hour of noon. The gentleman from the Jack Knife acted as chief vocalist while his companion came in on the chorus. Both were as crazy drunk as rat got could make them and their voices could be heard two blocks off.

Alex. Anderson has just received a letter from his brother George who is visiting his old home in Illinois. George reports that he is growing so fat that he has had to enlarge his clothing. Alex. has written him to say that since he is doing so well he ought to stay in Illinois till he gets to be as big as Tom Joles. It is evident George thinks that would be too severe a test on the stretching capacity of his midriff for he has written to say he intends to return about the first of April.

Miss Clara B. Story has opened an art studio in room 3, over Mr. McNerny's dry goods store. A visit to the room found the walls covered with specimens of the work of this accomplished young lady. Among these we noticed a very beautiful sketch of Mt. Hood from Dutch Flat, a handsome oil painting of the Cascades viewed from below the falls, a fine oil painting of Crater's point on the Columbia viewed from the academy window, a Mexican street scene in water colors, a variety of finely executed studies in still life and numerous other works of art impossible to mention here whose execution proves that Miss Story has unquestionably chosen the path of life for which she has a natural genius. Painters, like poets, are born, not made. The genius of Miss Story has been cultivated by the best instruction in her chosen profession the country affords. She will instruct a limited number of pupils in painting in water colors and oils, China painting, and crayon, charcoal and pastels work, and will be pleased to welcome all visitors who may call to see her work.

A Surprise Party on Three Mile.
One of the most pleasant events of the season in this neighborhood was a surprise party given at the house of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller on the evening of January 29th, when a party of their neighbor came in on them entirely unexpectedly with baskets well filled for luncheon. The evening passed very pleasantly, with conversation, games and music. Mr. Miller gave all a treat with his violin accompanied by Mr. John Miller with the organ, which all enjoyed very much. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Brooks; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Creighton; Mr. and Mrs. George Miller; Mr. and Mrs. William Rowson; Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Brooks; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Morgan; Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Cook; Mr. and Mrs. H. Webber; Misses Lulu Creighton and Nettie Cook and Messrs. Charles Rowson, Harry Webber, Orlando Morgan and Master Arthur Creighton.

TO THE COLUMBIA.
Roll on, thou old, cheerful Columbia
And bear thy wild waves to the sea,
And though others may flatteringly praise thee,
It ne'er shall be done by me.
Stern fate sets my lot on thy borders,
And here I must bide for a time;
But to love thee I can not, no, never;
Thou art not for my kindred or clime.
I love not thy wild surging billows,
Nor the gales of thy cold cheerless climate;
Thy shores girt with basalt and granite,
And decked with the grim fir and pine,
Few flowers 'ere breed thy rude borders,
Or songsters ere haunt thy grim pines;
And the breezes that sweep thy cold bosom
Would blight the fair orange and lime.
Thou wast sure the Norseman's river,
And a type of the Norseman's soul;
No smile on thy storm cold features,
No warmth from thy bosom, 'ere cold.
Thy name, too, wast given in summer,
Else sure, it had never been thine;
They'd have called thee the Thor or Old Odhu,
Or some other old northern divine.
—S.—Hood River.

A Prosperous Year.
The winter has been a remarkable one in many respects: the rainfall has been unusually heavy and every drop of it penetrated the soil. The lowest temperature has been about 25 degrees above, and this only for a few hours. The snow fall has been light and remained on the ground but a few days. Fall grain is looking splendidly, and the fruit prospects are fine, though the strawberry vines have suffered slightly in places owing to the alternate freezing and thawing of the ground to a depth of an inch or two, which lifted some of them. With no heavy frosts in the spring the peach crop should be the best ever raised here, and the orchards should yield abundantly. It does not seem possible that the ground can dry out before fall, for at present it is thoroughly saturated. Taken all in all, the outlook for our fruit-growers was never better than it is today.—Hood River Glacier.

Fruit Growers of The Dalles Should Organize a Canning Company.
A. F. French, secretary of the Fredonia, New York, Canning company, makes the following report: Amount paid for produce, material and help in 1891 was $53,000, the greater portion of which was distributed in Fredonia. There was $5,000 added for improvements to machinery and buildings. The product for 1891 amounted to 558,400 two and three-pound cans filled with corn, peas, beans or tomatoes; 31,000 gallon cans filled with apples. There were 25,000 boxes used, and $2,000 worth of tin-plate has been bought for making cans during the winter. This is an important industry in Fredonia.

The total tax levy for this year, state and county, is 25 mills, 2 of which are for road purposes. This is the same as last year and is made upon the county assessor's returns instead of on that of the board of equalization. The county court very wisely determined to ignore the state board of equalization and to take the assessor's ratings instead of those of the board. It is quite probable the state board will recede from its position, for it is plainly untenable. The act creating it did not intend to create a state board of assessors, but a board of equalization, and when that board went into the assessing business on its own account it got way off its nest.—Glacier.

C. A. Van Houten, a prominent stockman of Crook county, Or., tells the Ochoco Review that this has been a hard winter on sheep, owing to the great amount of rain that has fallen. The heavy-wool sheep of Crook county do no stand rain well. When their fleeces become thoroughly wet they will not travel around to find food and keep warm.

There dwells in Texarkana, in the state of Arkansas, a gentle maiden only eight feet three inches high, but if you should go down that way don't sass her, for she has a couple of nine-foot brothers, who use their brogans at night as props for the barn, but could easily put them on and make you think you were struck astern by a whaleback.—Linkville Star.

See here, Governor Pennoyer! You are neglecting your plain duty in failing to compel Multnomah county to pay her just proportion of state taxes, or know the reason why. As you have often said in your messages, the constitution requires you to see that the laws are enforced. Why don't you do it? Have you no backbone? Or are you afraid of Portland money-bags?—Salem Statesman.

The Gesang Verein will hold their annual ball at Wingate's hall on Wednesday, February 3rd proximo. Tickets $1. Sold by the committee: H. Hansen, J. C. Hertz, J. Niteckne, C. Weigel, Geo. Keller, B. Rorden, C. Stubling, A. Keller, Ad. Keller, Aug. Buchler, E. Jacobsen, F. Lemke. 1-25-92.

As Staple as Coffee.
"Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is as staple as coffee in this vicinity. It has done an immense amount of good since its introduction here." A. M. NORDELL, Maple Ridge, Minn. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. daw

La Grippe.
The tendency of this disease toward pneumonia is what makes it dangerous. La Grippe requires precisely the same treatment as a severe cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of severe colds. This Remedy effectually counteracts the tendency of the disease to result in pneumonia, provided that proper care be taken to avoid exposure when recovering from the attack. Careful inquiry among the many thousands who have used this remedy during the epidemics of the past two years has failed to discover a single case that has not recovered or that has resulted in pneumonia. 25 cent, 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. daw

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.
When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

For the Children.
"In buying a cough medicine for children," says H. A. Walker, a prominent druggist of Ogden, Utah, "never be afraid to buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it and relief is always sure to follow. I particularly recommend Chamberlain's because I have found it to be safe and reliable. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. dw

They Speak From Experience.
"We know from experience in the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy that it will prevent croup," says Messrs. Gaddberry & Worley, Percy, Iowa. They also add that the remedy has given great satisfaction in this vicinity, and that they believe it to be the best in the market for throat and lung diseases. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.
