LOCAL BRIEVITIES.

Congregational prayer meeting will be held this (Thursday) evening at 7:30 o'clock at Mrs. Rinehart's.

B. S. Kelsay, a prominent sheep man of Kent, Sherman county, has been in the city for the last two days.

C. P. Heald, a prominent fruit grower of Hood River, paid a pleasant visit to the CHRONICLE office today.

Owing to the serious illness of Mrs. Bryan near the Y. M. C. A. hall, there will be no meeting of the Epworth League tomorrow evening.

William Stuart a prominent cattle man from Falkstore, Idaho, who has been in the city for the past two days left last night for Portland.

Ed. Helm has sold out his interest in the firm of Byrne, Helm & Company to William Floyd. The style of the new firm will be Byrne, Floyd & Company.

Mrs. N. Harris received a telegram yesterday from her husband in Chicago requesting her to join him there without delay. Mrs. Harris left on the noon passenger.

The Wasco Sun has just come to hand with the announcement that George P. Morgan has purchased the interest in the paper formerly owned by Campbell Bros., and has taken editorial control and management. Mr. Morgan announces that he believes in "straight cut aggressive democracy" and no one who knows him has any doubt of it.

We call attention to the advertisement of Mrs. Davis who has just opened the Revere restaurant in the two story frame building just erected on the lot west of the Diamond Flouring Mill on Second street. Mrs. Davis has been long and favorably known to the people of this city and the surrounding country as an admirable caterer and we predict for her good success in her handsome new apartments. The fact that she employs none but the best of white help will go far toward convincing the public that they can always be assured of a clean and well cooked meal at the Revere Restaurant.

A slight but very perceptible shock of earthquake was felt in Portland at 8:30 yesterday evening. It was plainly felt by the audience at the Marquham theater, in the Oregonian building, at the Western Union office, at the office of the Postal Telegraph company, and was particularly severe on Portland Heights. There buildings rocked and windows and crockery rattled and people rushed pell mell into the streets. The shock was also felt at Oregon City, Forest Grove, Astoria, Salem and Kalama, Wash. No one was injured and no damage is reported.

All will be ready by the fifteenth. Before the Regulator was tied up the state board of portage commissioners requested of the directors of the D. P. & A. N. Co. that when it should become necessary or convenient to tie up it was desired the boats should remain so for a length of time sufficient to enable the portage commissioners to finish the lower end of the western incline, which could best be done when the water was at its lowest stage. The request was urged on the grounds that handling freights during the fall, while the incline was in an unfinished condition, was attended with considerable unnecessary expense both to the state and the boat company. As soon as the boats were tied up the work was commenced and Manager B. F. Laughlin has just received the following letter from Superintendent J. N. Ryan, in answer to one sent to that gentleman requesting to know what progress had been made and when the portage would be ready for traffic. It will be seen that Mr. Ryan expects to have everything in readiness by the 15th instant, the time fixed by the boat company for starting the Regulator.

CASCADE LOCKS, OR., Feb. 2, 1892.

B. F. Laughlin, Esq., The Dalles, Or.

Dear Sir:—Your favor of yesterday received. In reply will say that we have three beams of piling driven to date, we will be ready by February 15 I think, if not sooner. We were deprived of three days good time by the negligence of the Union Pacific in not placing cars for us to load driver. I worked last Sunday trying to recover lost ground and I believe will make it all right. Hoping this will be satisfactory.

I remain Yours Respectfully, J. N. Ryan.

From the Agricultural College.

CORVALLIS, Or., Feb. 2, 1892.

Editor Chronicle:

Since you last heard from me, death has entered our midst and taken, almost without warning, our dearly beloved president. When he died, Prof. B. L. Arnold was about 52 years old and had been president of this institution nearly 21 years.

He died at his residence, in possession of all his faculties, about half past six last Saturday evening, after an illness of little over a week. When it was learned he had died, friends were telegraphed. The students gathered in the College Chapel at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon and elected two delegates from each class as a committee which was to write up some suitable resolutions in memory of the departed, and also made some arrangements concerning flowers for the coffin.

Monday morning at 9 o'clock students met for chapel exercises, then the girls flew to making some nice wreaths and preparing other floral decorations, while the boys got their uniforms in trim for marching.

At 2 p. m. the cadets formed in line on each side of the walk and stood with uncovered heads while the Masons marched between the ranks bearing the lifeless remains of President Arnold.

The short religious exercises at the chapel were conducted by the Rev. S. Bell of Independence, and Plummer of Corvallis. Then the lid of the coffin was raised to allow the students a last farewell look, when the boys marched in double file to the head of the coffin, separated, each took a farewell look, joined his companion and marching out again into line. The funeral was conducted throughout in the solemn rites of Masonry.

The large flag over the public school and also the one over the college floated at half mast, while business in the city was almost entirely suspended.

HOOD RIVER ITEMS.

HOOD RIVER, Or., Feb. 1, 1892.

Editor Chronicle:

During the past week our citizens have been shaking off the moss from the backs and the prospects for a good time are brightening.

On the 30th ult., a permanent republican club was organized with 45 members. An armory stockholder's meeting was held the same day at which it was resolved to commence work on the armory at once, there being enough stock subscribed in work, material and cash to partly finish the building so that it could be used, at least, for drilling purposes. The building will be 48 by 98 feet. The first story 12 feet high, and the second 11 feet. Mr. Bishop furnished the plans. The farmers on the east side of Hood River held a meeting on the same day of persons interested in a water ditch. We have two ditch companies here now with good prospects of commencing work in the spring.

The Republican State Central Committee.

The republican state central committee which met at Portland yesterday, got through with its work quietly and adjourned. The only departure from the veriest business humdrum occurred over the question of the place for holding the first congressional convention and the time of holding the state convention. It was finally agreed that no district convention should be held and the time for holding the state convention was set for April 6th, and the place Portland. The time fixed for the state convention shows that the republicans are anxious for a long campaign. It was recommended that the primaries be held on March 19th and the county conventions on March 26th. The representation was based on the vote for Binger Hermann in June 1890, and gives six delegates to Wasco county and three to Sherman.

MARRIED.

Yesterday afternoon, by Rev. W. C. Curtis, at the residence of Mr. O. J. Lewis, father of the bride, Mr. R. G. Devenport to Miss Etta M. Lewis. The happy pair left on the evening passenger for a short trip to Portland.

Harney Valley, in this state, contains a genuine inland sea, for its waters are saline and a beautiful blue, like those of the great ocean. It is one of the priftest bodies of water that can be found in the state. In length this sheet is four-teem miles, and it is ten miles wide, covering an area of over 140 square miles. The lake is almost entirely surrounded by mountains and sandy reefs, and has a very narrow margin that is susceptible of cultivation. It is a veritable sportsman's paradise, for in the spring and fall seasons its bosom is literally covered with nearly every imaginable sort of water fowl, from the little screaming seagull to the large-billed pelican and the graceful swan. Wild geese are there in millions, the grey variety, together with the ducks, remaining all winter and being found there at all seasons. The authority of this statement comes from a resident of the valley, who told a reporter.

Demands for space at the world's fair have exceeded all expectations. The number of applications several weeks ago, at which time the last report was made, reached 15,000, which is nearly 7,000 more than were received by the centennial management up to the time of opening its gates. It is clear that neither the jealousy of New York nor the parsimony of the democratic congress is going to work serious disaster to this great enterprise. Chicago is mighty and the world, anxious to display itself to the best advantage, cares nothing for Tammany's indignation or Holman's system of economy. It is understood that no applications for space will be received after July 1, as it is necessary to keep the exhibit within reasonable limits.

In this chinooky weather the touchableness of people is manifesting itself. Some feel a touch of springtime's faintest clasp, and others a clutch of grip-times' early grasp; but naught of these upon my spirit steals; I fell spring poetry from head to heels! The humming, modulating flats and sharps that burst from possey's wild springtime harps, strongly incline me to arise and rove and tune my lily in the chestnut grove! —Klanath Star.

Now that Senator Pfeiffer, of Kansas, has introduced a bill into the United States senate appropriating $100,000,000 to loan to farmers at two per cent., it is moved to amend by making the bill appropriate $100,000,000 collateral. Collateral seems to be the great need of the borrowers. Second the amendment. Astorian.

Dan Voorhees, of Indiana, who hated Lincoln, has introduced a bill appropriating $15,000 for the purchase of a picture of Abraham Lincoln, to adorn the capitol building.

La Grippe!

The tendency of this disease toward pneumonia is what makes it dangerous. La Grippe requires precisely the same treatment as a severe cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of severe colds. This Remedy effectually counteracts the tendency of the disease to result in pneumonia, provided that proper care be taken to avoid exposure when recovering from the attack. Careful inquiry among the many thousands who have used this remedy during the epidemics of the past two years has failed to discover a single case that has not recovered or that has resulted in pneumonia. 25 cent, 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. daw
