LOCAL BRIEVITIES.

Perry Dean of Wapinitia was in the city today.

Asa Stogsdale ex-storekeeper at Wamie is in the city.

Mr. H. Haward of Wamie came into town last evening.

Rev. Le Grand Holgate of Dufur paid us a pleasant visit today.

We notice a fine display of new garden seeds in the show windows of Joles Brothers.

K. F. McLean of Hood River and Emmett Olds of Grass Valley are at the Umatilla House.

J. H. Mosier and Louis Davenport of Mosier an Hon. M. P. Isenberg of Hood River came up on the noon passenger today.

F. Caldwell aged 18 years was fined five dollars and costs in the recorder's court this morning. The charge was "being out late."

Mr. Jerry Simpson's bill to prohibit usury reminds us that some such law exists in Oregon. But did you ever hear of the usurer suffering?

Plowing has commenced in the neighborhoods of Wapinitia, Wamie, Kingsley and the country nearer The Dalles, commenced, that is, if it can be truthfully said it ever stopped in some of these places for any period during the winter.

As many as a thousand persons, it appeared like, gathered around the fake doctor's stand last night and for two or three mortal hours endured the chilly night air, listening to the cracking of ancient chestnuts by the colored part of the combination, discordant screeching by two or three juveniles, or an avalanche of egotism, bombast, cheek, gall and balderdash from the alleged doctor. And then to see how meekly the suckers bit at the bait and paid a big silver dollar for two cents worth of magenta, forcibly impressed one with the conviction that Carlisle was preeminently correct when he said "The earth has a thousand million inhabitants, mostly fools."

Schanno Captures the Bakery.

"Charles White, Grangeville, Idaho" is the simple and (to a stranger) commonplace entry on the register of the Umatilla house at the date of this writing and the CHRONICLE representative transferred the name to his note book while Colonel Sinnott and Emil Schanno watched the proceeding. Then the Colonel knowing the innocent and confiding character of the reporter told the following story: "You see that name, Charles White. Well, in the early days you know, Montana and Wyoming and Idaho used to belong to Wasco county. Charles White was then sheriff and a man was once killed so far away from the county seat that when White arrested him in Montana he had to take the prisoner back to Omaha to strike the Oregon trail and when the both arrived in The Dalles the circuit court had adjourned three months before. "You forget Colonel" said Mr. Schanno. "The fact is after White had arrested his man he found that the snow was so heavy in the Rocky Mountains that he could not return by the Oregon trail so he took his prisoner around by the Horn and it was a year and a half before he got him here." Then the Colonel took off his hat, made a low bow to Mr. Schanno as much as to say "Take the bakery Schanno" and stepped out of the room.

Buffalonians are Tough.

Tony Robins a laborer employed by Contractor Boland, had an almost miraculous escape from death yesterday. He was at work on the wall of a building at the foot of River street when he slipped and fell to the ground, a distance of 55 feet. He struck among a lot of bricks and broke a flagstone which leaned against the wall, and yet his only apparent injury was a scalp wound and the shock. He may be injured internally, but as yet there is no indication of it. He was taken to the Fitch Hospital, perfectly conscious, and at first opposed being removed on a stretcher. He left the hospital last night.—Buffalo Express.

NORTHWEST NEWS.

The Anacortes Daily and Weekly Progress has suspended. The Anacortes boomers must have let go. It is only a little while since they were paying the Oregonian $3000 a month to print boom items with a telegraphic date over them, as if they were genuine dispatches from Anacortes. Those $3000 would have helped the progress of Anacortes afloat a little longer.

Articles of incorporation were filed in the office of the secretary of state on the 8th instant as follows: East Fork Irrigation Canal Co.; incorporators, Joseph A. Knox, Milton D. Odell and James L. Langille; supplementary articles reducing the capital stock from $7000 to $5000; principal place of doing business, Hood River.

Das Side Irrigation Co.; capital stock $8000; principal place of doing business, Hood River; incorporators, F. M. Jackson, Hans Lage and S. H. Cox.

Voting will be very tiresome next June, owing to the complication of the new method. The "fixer" of tickets will be absent and the voter will have to make up his own ticket. No voter was ever half so handy as the ticket fixer. He was a strength-and-patience supporter, but he couldn't get a patent on himself. Klamath Star.

The Northwest Progress, a new paper published at Monmouth, Polk county, and devoted chiefly to moral and educational questions has come to hand. It is a handsome and ably edited sheet and we wish it success.

The New York Herald declares that Harrison and Blaine both emerge with great eclat from the Chilian imbroglio. So they do, Brother Herald; so they do. But what's the matter with Pat Egan? Isn't he all right? Seems to us if there is any eclat lying around Pat has it.—Astorian.

That is an eloquent despatch from England, telling that the late Cardinal Manning's estate is $100. Evidently he believed in the Divine admonition of the Master whose teachings he followed, and "went around doing good." But what a reproach to some clergymen who seek to amass wealth till death surprises them.—Astorian.

There was an old preacher once who told some boys of the Bible lesson he was to read in the morning. The boys finding the place, glued together the connecting pages. The next morning he read on the bottom of the page: "When Noah was one hundred and forty, he took upon himself a wife, who was (turning the leaf) one hundred and forty cubits long, forty cubits wide, built of gopher wood, covered with pitch inside and out." He was naturally puzzled at this. He read again, verified it, and then said: "My friends, this is the first time I ever met this in the Bible, but I accept it as an evidence of an assertion that we are fearfully and wonderfully made."—Exchange.

EXCEEDINGLY EMBARRASSING.

Perplexity of a Polite Man Who Lost His Equilibrium in a Street Car.

I took them for a newly married couple. Certainly if she had been married very long she would have known better.

They got on a south bound Clark street car at Goethe street. She was slender and graceful, and had large, fetching dark eyes. He was extremely polite. He helped her on the car very tenderly, and after riding two blocks he jumped up the instant a very fleshy old lady entered the car and offered her his seat, with a low bow—a sure indication that he was just married and doing it for effect.

Then he hung on a strap and bent down and kept up the conversation, which seemed largely made up of irrelevant remarks and highly irrelevant glances. Presently he discovered that he could stoop lower if he let go the strap.

He had just availed himself of this discovery when the train swooped around the curve at Illinois street. He flung up his arms, made one frantic, ineffectual grab for the strap, awayed gracefully half around, and sprawled out over the fat old lady's lap as the car stopped. His pink and white cheeks turned scarlet. He scrambled half way to his feet and began, "I beg—"

Just as he was in the act of re-establishing his equilibrium and simultaneously uttering the apology, the car gave the sharp jerk and quick, strong pull of starting. He clutched the incorporeal air and went down with the words on his lips—flat, full length on the beatly, muddy floor. It was too bad, but everybody laughed.

Yes, she laughed. She put her slim, black gloved hand, with a film of scented handkerchief in it, up to her mouth and her black eyes danced at him.

He got up, scowled very darkly at the gentleman who had said "Whoop-e-e!" as he went down, and washed a patch of mud off his coat sleeve. Then he looked at her laughing eyes. For an instant he tried to look amused; then he straightened his face out severely and went over and looked out of the door.

As he started into the tunnel he looked around. The handkerchief was still at her mouth and her body swayed slightly as from a repressed emotion. A deep, straight line came into his forehead and he stopped a little farther away. Half way through the tunnel he looked around again. The instant she met his eye she dropped the handkerchief to her mouth just in time to suppress a ripple of laughter. He went out on the platform and banged the door behind him.

At Madison street he opened the door and stood stiff as a statue until she walked out. She looked over her shoulder into his face as she passed him, but there was an irrepressible twinkle in her eyes, and he stepped to the ground after her without unbending.—Chicago News.

For the Children.

"In buying a cough medicine for children," says H. A. Walker, a prominent druggist of Ogden, Utah, "never be afraid to buy Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. There is no danger from it and relief is always sure to follow. I particularly recommend Chamberlain's because I have found it to be safe and reliable. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. dw

They Speak From Experience.

"We know from experience in the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy that it will prevent croup," says Messrs. Gadberry & Worley, Percy, Iowa. They also add that the remedy has given great satisfaction in this vicinity, and that they believe it to be the best in the market for throat and lung diseases. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists..

Examination of Teachers.

Notice is hereby given that for the purpose of making an examination of all persons who may offer themselves as candidates for teachers of the schools of this county, the county school superintendent thereof will hold a public examination at his office in The Dalles, beginning Wednesday, February 10th, one o'clock p. m. All teachers eligible for State Certificates, State Diplomas and Life Diplomas must make application at the quarterly examinations. Dated this 1st day of February 1892.

La Grippe!

The tendency of this disease toward pneumonia is what makes it dangerous. La Grippe requires precisely the same treatment as a severe cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of severe colds. This Remedy effectually counteracts the tendency of the disease to result in pneumonia, provided that proper care be taken to avoid exposure when recovering from the attack. Careful inquiry among the many thousands who have used this remedy during the epidemics of the past two years has failed to discover a single case that has not recovered or that has resulted in pneumonia. 25 cent, 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. daw
