The New York Evening Post lately made a quotation and application of a scripture text with an incisiveness and aptitude that ought to commend its editor to a chair in some theological seminary. A large number of eminent Presbyterians had gathered at the mansion of Jay Gould and Jay's heart had opened wide enough to subscribe $10,000 to the cause of church extension.

"One of the clergymen" says the Post "who spoke on the duty of generosity, and the dangers of selfishness which beset the rich, closed with an apology for venturing to treat of such a subject in such a presence. We cannot refrain from putting his words alongside those of a writer, who seems to be getting very old-fashioned in religious circles:

A PRESBYTER OF THE A PRESBYTER OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY. "I hope I haven't men, weep and howl spoken in such a way for your miseries that as to give offense to any shall come upon you of our guests, or to our Your riches are corrupted, Mr. Gould."

Assessor Sears, of Multnomah, puts in a strong plea for a little better treatment of county assessors. He would like to see the law amended so that assessors would make all needed copies of their rolls instead of the county clerks. He justly claims that assessors and their deputies are familiar with the rolls and if allowed to copy them would be able to correct any errors the original might contain.

The highest tribunal in the land has declared that Ex-Speaker Reed was right when, in the last house of representatives, he insisted on counting a quorum when the quorum was present although less than a quorum voted. The court held that when a majority of each house is present the house is in a position to do business and its capacity to do business is then established.

The taxpayers of Baker county are doing a work for their county that the Chronicle has undertaken for this one. They are investigating the incomes of the several offices with a view to placing them on some basis more in harmony with reason and common sense.

The trouble between the state board of railroad commissioners and the Union Pacific railroad company in regard to freight rates will soon be disposed of. The railway people in a consultation with the general office at Omaha, decided to accept the revised schedule of rates proposed by the commission.

Miss Clara B. Story will instruct a limited number of pupils in oil painting, water colors, crayon, charcoal and pastelle work and China painting. Studio, room 3, over McNerny's dry goods store.

"It's My Way." Many years ago Edwin Forrest, the celebrated actor, was in the habit of dining at Windust's, a noted restaurant on Park row, that was a favorite resort of actors and literary men.

Early in the course of the dinner the Englishman began to make criticisms, which he considered pleasant, about Forrest's conception of certain roles. Encouraged by his own appreciation he gave full play to his humor, and concluded each of his impertinences with, "Pardon my freedom, sir; it's my way."

Enthusiastic People at the Theaters. I suppose most people go to the theater to enjoy themselves. That is what I go for. People are differently constructed, of course, and have different ways of showing their appreciation of the play.

Cosmopolitan Cooking. There is a belief current that whatever can be procured for money can be had in this city, especially if it is anything to eat. The people who flock here from every part of the country are apt, sooner or later, to import their native dishes, and to make them acceptable to gastronomic New York.

A Startling Incident. A native in Kulu, India, had to all appearance died. As the body was being carried for cremation it suddenly sat bolt upright on the bier, demanded its clothes and asked to be told where it was being carried.
