VALPARAISO, March 11.—Consul McCreey is investigating another brutality of the Valparaiso police, resulting in the death of Carlos Carlsson, a seaman belonging to the American bark Edward Diller, which put into this port February 8th, en route to Antofagasta from New York. February 21st, early in the morning, Carlsson was found lying on the Cable Blanco, suffering from a wound in the abdomen, from which he died on the 27th. Before death he made a statement implicating the police in the assault. The statement is doubted by the captain of the bark, but Consul McCreey, who visited deceased in the hospital, firmly believes it, and has presented a letter to the intendente of Valparaiso quoting Carlsson's declaration, and adding a request for an immediate investigation of the case, arguing in a positive manner that the police are guilty.

Bosron, March 11.—Senator Morgan's suggestion that the United States should retaliate upon British interests by shutting out the bonded goods from Canada is of especial importance to New England, since a large part of the bonded freight from Canada is shipped to Europe through New England ports. Goldwin Smith, of Toronto, who is in the city, says the policy of excluding Canadian goods from free transit in bond across this country, if rigorously enforced, would bring Canada to terms inside of three weeks, and would dispose of all this sealing business in short order. Great Britain has no interest in the continuation of the destruction of the seal. On the contrary, all her interests run the other way. Canada herself has no very great interest in the matter, except a few Nova Scotians at long range, and the British Columbians who are reaping a rich harvest by the destruction of the seals. President Marcy, of the Fitchburg, and President Jones of the Boston and Maine railways, show that especially during the winter months, when the St. Lawrence river is frozen, an immense amount of produce, from every part of Canada and Manitoba, crosses New England for shipment from American ports.

London, March 11.—The trial of Maitland Francis Moreland, an aged Oxford tutor, accused of attempting to blackmail members of the nobility, took place today. When Moreland was arraigned he pleaded guilty to the charge of attempting to extort money from the Earl of Russell, and now guilty to the charge of extortion. The prisoner was sentenced to ten years penal servitude. This is equivalent to a life sentence, for Moreland is now 65 years old. It was shown by the prosecution that the prisoner, under the names of Maitland and Moreland, wrote to a number of young members of nobility representing himself as a young and fascinating widow, who for a money consideration was willing to assume immoral relations with them.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Tariff discussion in the house today was more than usually interesting, and there were several lively passages, which forcibly reminded one of the fierce political scenes of the past congress when this all-absorbing issue was at the front. The speeches of today on both sides were well fortified and listened to with a great deal of attention by the members. There was the somewhat unique spectacle of the largest individual woolen manufacturer in the United States arguing in favor of the free wool bill presented, when Stevens, of Massachusetts, took the floor in support of the Springer bill. The democrats paid close attention to his remarks, greeting his arguments with applause. No less flattering was the attention paid Montgomery, of Kentucky, and the colloquies in which he became engaged during the day showed him an able defender of the work of the committee. Brookshire, of Indiana, took occasion in the course of his speech to denounce the so-called reciprocity scheme of the republican party as a snare. Ray, of New York, the chief republican orator of the day, succeeded in provoking more than the usual partisan strife, and it looked for a time as though his altercation with Representative Meredith, of Virginia, might surpass parliamentary bounds. Ray had been interrupted frequently by Meredith, finally saying: "The gentleman will not make me angry by intimating I lie," said Ray laughingly. "I have held too many combats with the democratic party and individual members thereof to be frightened. I was not brought up in the woods to be scared by an owl." "That's an old chestnut," was Meredith's only response. Coombs, of New York, followed for free wool. The committee rose and the house took recess until 8 o'clock this evening.

Robbers Routed.
EAGLE PASS, Tex., March 11.—Word has just been received at Eagle Pass of an attempted robbery and the killing of C. M. Brittain, of the Las Vegas mines, who left Durango city February 29 for the mines, with $10,000 in Mexican silver in a safe in a wagon. This fact became known to six desperate characters, who waylaid Brittain's party, but were routed, and one of their party killed.

Will be a Cardinal.
ST. PAUL, March 11.—Rev. Father Hefferon, who has charge of the Catholic affairs during the absence of Archbishop Ireland, has at last received definite advices from the Holy See. The Archbishop is to be made a second cardinal for the United States, and the ceremony of conferring the red hat will occur in Rome during the latter part of this month.

Preparing for Peace.
MONTEVIDEO, March 11.—Two of the government warships have been dismantled and their crews discharged. Three squadrons of cavalry have also been disbanded. These measures have been adopted for economic motives.

Speeding Safely On.
LONDON, March 11.—The American steamer Indiana, which sailed from Philadelphia for Russia with a cargo of flour and provisions for the famine sufferers of that country, was sighted off the Hebrides this afternoon. She signaled "all well."

Kansas Wheat Ruined.
TOPEKA, March 11.—Reports are coming in of great damage to winter wheat by the blizzard. Some reports say thousands of acres are blackened and wilted. The injury is especially noticed on the bottoms.

Department Officials Uneasy.
WASHINGTON, March 11.—Uneasiness is felt at the agricultural department on account of the serious outbreak of the foot and mouth disease in Great Britain. The disease does not exist here now, but as many sheep are imported from Great Britain, it is feared it will be introduced by them in spite of the quarantine. If the disease continues to prevail in Great Britain it will probably be necessary for this government to forbid the introduction of sheep, goats and swine until the outbreak is suppressed.

She Will get out.
LONDON, March 11.—Mrs Osborne, after her sentence, yesterday developed hysteria-catalepsy so seriously that her condition last night was critical. Friends hope to obtain a medical certificate to the effect that a prolonged imprisonment would be certain to cause death.

Damages in Duluth.
DULUTH, Minn., March 11.—It is estimated the damage from the blizzard will exceed $100,000.

Colliery Explosion.
BRUSSELS, March 11.—An explosion occurred at the Annderlius coal pit today which will probably result in great loss of life, as 300 men were at work, only three of whom have thus far reached the mouth of the pit in safety. Should any of the workmen survive the shock of the explosion they are almost certain to meet death from choke damp, as with the destruction of ventilation it is impossible to rid the mine of gasses, although a large force of volunteers are at work clearing the mouth of the mine. A large number of the imprisoned miners are married men, and their families and friends are at the pit's mouth, frantic with grief. The explosion occurred in a gallery 400 feet below the surface.

The Blizzard Reaches the Atlantic.
NEW YORK, March 11.—The western-born blizzard of the 9th reached this state yesterday, and has complete possession of a large scope of country. Syracuse, Watertown, Fonda, Utica, Rome, and other points of the interior, report heavy falls of snow, which have blocked the railways filling cuts to their tops, and doing immense damage, both in town and country. On the country roads the snow drifts to a depth of several feet. The weather is rapidly growing colder, and winds are interfering with the working of telegraph and telephone wires. The storm is growing worse hourly.

Heppner School House Burned.
HEPPNER, March 11.—At 4 o'clock this morning the Heppner public school building was discovered to be on fire. An alarm brought out the residents and the fire company, with its new hook and ladder truck, buckets and Babcock extinguisher, but to no purpose, so far as the building was concerned. The whole structure was in ashes in a few minutes, the fire being so hot that it could not be reached by buckets. A lack of wind probably saved the entire city from destruction. A light was seen shining from an upper window more than an hour before the alarm was given, but was supposed to be from a lamp. How the fire started is a mystery, as no fire had been used in the building during the previous day or night. The fire company did good work, and no other buildings were damaged except the residence of County Treasurer Matlock, which was scorched to some extent. The loss is about $8,000, insurance $4,000.

The Behring Sea Matter.
WASHINGTON, March 11.—The Behring sea question was again considered at today's meeting of the cabinet, but it is understood no action was taken.

Democratic Caucus Tomorrow.
WASHINGTON, March 11.—A democratic caucus will be held tomorrow evening for the purpose of electing a congressional campaign committee.

Reading Deal Ratified.
TRENTON, N. J., March 11.—The bill ratifying the Reading railroad combination has passed the senate and now goes to the governor.

Springer Improving.
WASHINGTON, March 11.—Representative Springer passed another good night, and the improvement in his condition still continues.

Mexican Capitol Burned.
EL PASO, Tex., March 11.—The capitol in the city of Chihuahua, Mexico, was partly burned Wednesday.
