WORLD'S FAIR UPROAR

The Illinois Central Railway "Fish" ing for Spoils.

THE DIRECTORY PLANS ARE UPSET.

"No Time to Fool Away Talking About Exposition Staff."

UNION PACIFIC FINANCIERS.

Headle For Managers—Not One Cent For Betterments—National Guard Meeting.

CHICAGO, March 18.—There is a great deal of displeasure manifest in all departments of the World's Fair management, but in none so highly as the transportation directory which have built upon the expectations that the Illinois Central railway, which has lead them to believe all along that the road would deliver its World's Fair passengers at any point, the directory might choose within the grounds. On that supposition the entire plan of the grounds, buildings and landscape effects has been laid out. The visitors were to be taken to the administration building, which is the key of the whole architectural plan. Passing through the building they would come out in a most magnificent view of all the buildings and surroundings, and would naturally be impressed with its beauty right at the start. Now comes Mr. Fish and says: "I have changed my mind. It will save our road the cost of elevated tracks into the grounds if we land the passengers outside; besides, we will get a good site for a station at your expense." Of course it doesn't make any difference to the Illinois Central that it will get more benefit from World's Fair business than all the other roads in Chicago combined. Mr. Fish doesn't care if people are landed where they will see nothing but a big board fence and the roofs of the exposition for their first impression. He doesn't even care for the fact that under his proposition passengers would descend from the trains at a point nearly 1,000 feet from the nearest World's Fair structure, the woman's building. In fact, Mr. Fish evidently cares for nothing but his road and the exposition can whistle if his plan doesn't suit. At the last interview with him he waived the committee aside with a shoo fly air saying he "had no time to fool away talking about exposition stuff." Everybody at World's Fair headquarters has settled down to wait for President Baker, who is expected within a day or two, and in the meantime the construction department has resigned itself to the pleasing prospect of seeing all it plans upset and turned over to the Illinois Central for reconstruction.

Union Pacific Finances.

BOSTON, March 18.—The January report of the Union Pacific includes the entire "system," through to Astoria. The net increase for the month was $15,820. The company claim to be "poor indeed," but this claim is unsupported, when items running up into thousands of dollars are enumerated, which are actually wasted. Some one, high enough in authority to create needless orders, such as changing locomotives, etc., bobs up serenely just about the time that operating expenses have reached the minimum, then off goes the profits into the pockets of some patent right owner, and car building and all similar absolutely necessary betterments, are relegated to the background, with the wail of hard times.

Murderers Hanged.

NEW YORK, March 18.—Two men were hanged yesterday at Oxford, England, for murdering the game keeper on the Pitson estate; and Franz Schneider was officially strangled in Vienna, for the murder of a servant girl. When Schneider approached the gallows his strong frame trembled and it was evident that his brutal nature was subdued and that he was in agony and fear of the fate awaiting him. While being pinioned to the gallows he struggled and shrieked so that the noose was quickly thrown around his neck, and, as he swung free, two assistants grasped the hanging man by the arms and legs and pulled downward with all their strength, and thus he was strangled to death. No cap was used, and every expression and change of color in the man's face was discernible. It was so horrible that the spectators were compelled to turn away.

Escaped Observation.

CITY OF MEXICO, March 17.—Gen. O. O. Howard, who is making a pleasure tour of Mexico, speaking with reference to the Garza insurrection, said it was such a very small affair, such a mere shadow, that it was not perceptible, even to the closest observation. Must have been diminutive.

English coal miners have decided to return to work on the 21st. The decision effects the miners' federation and allied bodies, but does not include the Durham miners who have a powerful organization of their own, numbering about 90,000, and whose strike against the proposed reduction of wages will probably be continued.

Miss Belle Davis, of Boston, married the man of her choice, an honest farm hand named Booth, and her old man cut her off without a penny. She left home alone, and went to Northampton, where she met Booth. There the couple were quietly married, after which they started for Chicago, where they intend to look for what they consider kinder treatment from the girl's uncle, Congressman Davis.

ONE YEAR TO JAIL.

The First Conviction for Newspaper Libel in Oregon.

DUNBAR OF ASTORIA SENTENCED.

Judge Taylor on the Dangers of Blackening Character.

BE SURE OF YOUR EVIDENCE.

No Appeal, But a Petition Will be Sent to the Governor for Commutation.

ASTORIA, Or., March 17.—The libel case of the state of Oregon vs. O. W. Dunbar of the newspaper Town Talk, which occupied the circuit court for several days, resulted in the conviction of Dunbar. The case is a notable one, being the first conviction of a newspaper man for libel in this state. Dunbar published articles defaming the character of Samuel Elmore, the well-known salmon canner and a prominent citizen. A motion for a new trial was argued and overruled. The prisoner, before sentence, said he should like to have a new trial that he might force witnesses to attend; that some of his witnesses swore falsely. The judge, in pronouncing sentence, in part said: If those individuals "went back" on those propositions and refused to testify to it, it is your misfortune; it will teach you that before you attempt to blacken a man's character you must know you are telling the truth. A newspaper is a powerful engine, either for good or evil, as it may be used, and by an improper and shrewd use of a newspaper the character of any man may be blackened where he is not known. It is very dangerous when used in an improper manner. There are others morally as guilty as you, they are where the law cannot reach them. You have placed yourself where the law has reached out and caught you its victim. You do not come here as an ignorant man. You have been for years following the newspaper business. You are a man of family, and as there has been sympathy expressed for your family in this matter, you ought to have thought of your family before. It is the judgment of this court that you be imprisoned in the jail of this county for one year, and that you pay the costs of the action. It is said there will be no appeal, but a petition will be made for a commutation of the sentence by the governor. The general opinion is that the sentence is severe but well deserved.

Flight of a Law Student.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 17.—Richard H. Johnson, of Boise City, Idaho, a student in the Yale law school left the town under peculiar circumstances. A few years ago, while a student in the academical department of Yale, he secretly married a young woman of this city. Later on the story leaked out and the young man was obliged to leave the college. Johnson then entered the law school. It now seems Johnson objected to his wife's associates and a week ago she left him. Within a day or two, Mrs. Johnson concluded to return to her husband, but then he refused to receive her and immediately started for his home in the West. Johnson was one of the brightest young men in his class, and would have graduated with high honors in June. He was very popular and his parents were wealthy and influential people.

The Messiah Craze Being Revived.

CHICAGO, March 17.—Information was received at General Miles' headquarters today that interest in the Messiah craze is being awakened among the Indians of the Northwest by the expected return of Short Bull and other Sioux chiefs who have been in Europe with the Wild West show. It is believed Short Bull, who is the reputed prophet of the Messiah, if allowed to return to his people, will start the excitement anew. The chiefs are expected to arrive at Fort Sheridan Saturday, or Monday next.

A Lawyer's Fat Fee.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 17.—The parliamentary returns show the government paid $12,000 counsel fees to Calder on Carlisle, a New York lawyer, for arguing the case of the sealing schooner Ward before the United States supreme court.
