IS THIS THE MILLENIUM?

A dispatch says the saloon-keepers of St. Joseph, Mo., have formed an organization for the promotion of temperance. It is known as the Liquor Dealer's Benevolent Association and its aims are: "The promotion of temperance and the good order of society by aiding in the enforcement of all laws and ordinances regulating the manufacture and sale of liquors; to promote temperance in the use of liquors, especially with those who are addicted to the intemperate use thereof; to create and maintain a fund for the relief and aid of the families of members, in case of death or disability, and to unite fraternally the members of the association so that their combined efforts may be devoted to the purpose of public usefulness and benevolence." The membership of the association is composed of the most influential saloon-keepers of St. Joseph.

The Times-Mountaineer reports that a favorite pet animal belonging to A. J. Wall's Eight-mile menagerie, and named after the editor of this journal, died suddenly on the day of the late republican primaries. Had this been indeed so, it would only have proved the profound sympathy of the whole brute creation with the sorrows and adversities of the truly good. It spoils the moral somewhat to inform the Mountaineer that the death of the poor little thing was chronicled in this journal more than a week before the primaries were held. The three-legged pig which Wall named Middleton, but afterwards changed to Michell, still lives because the wicked never die.

The butter has exuded from the porridge. The Times-Mountaineer comes out last night in a bitter attack on Senator Watkins. That's right. Senator Watkins is a bad man. He is the author of the Cascade portage bill. He worked so hard for the bill that it passed and now the river is practically opened from the Dalles to the sea. The railroad hates Watkins, so does the Times-Mountaineer, and so does every friend of the railroad, including Moody and all his tribe.

A "genuine counterfeit" silver half dollar has appeared which contains the full weight of pure coin silver and is in every respect equal to those coined at the United States mints. This is a new departure in counterfeiting but there is money in this scheme as 70 cents worth of silver bullion makes a full weight silver dollar. The counterfeiters are simply doing what the silver miners might do under free coinage, with this difference, that under free coinage the government would bear the expense of making the coin.

The river and harbor bill reported to the house calls for appropriations amounting to $20,700,000 or about $300,000 less than the bill passed by the "billion dollar congress." The south wants all the money it can get and to that fact more than to any other perhaps we will owe, if we get it, a liberal appropriation for the Columbia river. But it would be funny if we should have another billion dollar congress, after all that has been said about the last one.

The Portland Dispatch says: Senator Hill said: "Other political parties come and go, but the democratic party is for ever and ever." Some republicans take exceptions to that statement and naturally say, "So is Hill." Democrats instinctively look higher and are happy in being able to respond, "So is heaven." The Dispatch's quotation is orthographically incorrect. The original said hell, instead of Hill.

Claus Spreckels has sold out his Philadelphia sugar refinery to the sugar trust for the neat little sum of $7,000,000.

The State of Europe.

The present state of Europe suggests to the thoughtful man scores of questions which the ordinary student of foreign politics finds it hard to answer. Why has Italy allied herself with her old enemy, Austria? Why does Russia threaten the peace of Europe? Why are France and Germany hereditary enemies? What is the exact status of Turkey in European affairs? Why is war said to be imminent, and where and how is it most likely to break out?—Forum.

Ben Holladay's Estate.
PORTLAND, March 29.—In closing the Ingalls-Bellinger controversy, in the famous Ben Holladay estate case yesterday an attempt was made to show that Ben Holladay, in his lifetime, had paid $40,000 to prevent Ingalls from being "cashiered" in the army. This brought out the following statement from Gen. Ingalls himself on the stand: "My honor or soldier-like conduct," he said, "has never been called in question. I have over a hundred letters from all my principal commanders, Grant, McClellan, Meade, Hooker, Stanton and others, speaking in the most commendatory terms of my character. The talk of my being 'cashiered' is a most preposterous myth. For fifty years I have received and disbursed several hundred millions of public money and several hundred thousands in my private capacity, and during the whole fifty years I have never had a voucher stopped against me, or had to pay a penny on account of any public or private business I ever made. The referees now have ten days in which to go over the testimony and report to the county court. Then the county judge will render his decision in the matter. It is expected that whichever side gets the worst end of the decision will appeal it. If so, it goes from Judge Moreland to Judge Stearns' court; then, if again appealed, to the state court."

Portland Harbor Lines.
PORTLAND, March 25.—Col. George H. Mendell, corps of engineers, U. S. A., in company with Maj. T. H. Handbury and Capt. T. W. Symons, have called a public meeting at the chamber of commerce rooms today at 2 o'clock, to discuss the settlement of the harbor lines for this port, which duty has been assigned by the secretary of war to the board of three officers above named.

The Bill is Dead.
WASHINGTON, March 29.—Speaker Crisp refuses to bring in the cloture rule on the silver bill unless a majority of the democratic members agreed to support the committee on rules on it. Thirty-five free-coinage democrats are required to sign the request for cloture, and the anti-silver men freely claim the bill is dead.

Neuralgia Cured in 15 Minutes.
Mr. J. S. Sturtevant, editor of the Wasps (Wis.) Post, says: "Last night Chamberlain's Pain Balm cured my wife of neuralgia of the face and tooth in fifteen minutes. We would not be without it." 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.
