LOCAL BREVITIES.

All fool's day. T. H. Johnston of Dufur, is in the city. F. H. Button of Hood River, is in the city. H. Dustin of Goldendale, is at the Umattilla house. D. K. Ordway of Chenoweth is at the Umattilla house. Mr. Ray Green, of Portland, is at the European house. Mrs. J. N. Griffin, of Astoria, is a guest of Mrs. Kinerally. F. C. Clausen of Dufur, paid the CHRONICLE a pleasant visit yesterday. Mr. W. L. Spencer, of Portland is the guest of Mrs. Fraser at the European house. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Garretson returned last night from a short trip to Portland. The wife and family of C. W. Rice returned today from spending the winter at Silverton. Dr. Blalock, of Walla Walla, returned from a business trip to The Dalles yesterday. First-class job work can be had at the CHRONICLE job office on short notice and at reasonable prices. The calaboose had three vagrants last night who were fined in the usual sum of $5 and costs this morning. Maurice Cavanagh, arrived in this city last night from "Moneyhore, Ennis-corthy county, Wexford, Ireland." The foundation wall for Prinz & Nitschke's new building on Second street, is up to the desired height on the front end. Carl Godfrey, the popular dry goods assistant of H. Herbring, returned last night from a visit to his old home in the father-land. Rev. Mr. Rigby of the Hood River M. E. Church, brought to a close, a short time ago, a very successful series of protracted meetings. Miss Annie Fulton of Sherman county, who has been visiting Mrs. Myers of this city, returned home on the noon passenger today. A sidewalk is not always so safe as it appears to be, when the top plank is torn up, as one may see at the corner of Union and Second street. D. E. Thompson of Los Angeles, an old resident of The Dalles, arrived in this city on the noon train today, and is the guest of A. B. Thompson.

The M. E. church, of this city, has ordered from E. Jacobson & Co., a magnificent vocalion reed pipe organ for their new church building.

Mrs. E. C. Pentland and children, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Brooks of this city, left today to visit Mrs. S. S. Hayes of Sherman county.

Another fine rain began to fall in this section about four o'clock this morning lasting with little intermission till noon. The indications are that it extends over the whole county.

The regular meeting of the Young Men's McKinley club will be held in their hall over the CHRONICLE office tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

The water will be turned off tonight from 8 to 12 o'clock. One of the hydrants put in place last night has proved defective and will have to be taken out and another put in its place.

A number of residents in the Fulton addition awoke this morning to find their front gates stolen and concealed in all kinds of out of the way places. Some of them have not been recovered at this writing.

Telegram. If the rumor that Jay Gould is going to drop the Union Pacific is true it must mean that the orange has no juice left. There was not a great deal when Jay got hold of it, but it is safe to assume that there is less now.

G. A. Lyon, a bridge carpenter, working for the company near Viento, was struck Wednesday by a falling timber and severely cut in the head. He was brought to The Dalles where his injuries were attended to by Drs. Doane and Logan. The wound was found to be not serious. Lyon went down to the Portland hospital last night.

A few days ago as a couple of well known Dalles ladies were passing the handsome residence of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Brooks, one of them, with the quick discernment peculiar to the sex, pointed her finger towards the family clothes line, on which were suspended a miscellaneous assortment of baby's underwear, while she whispered to her companion, "Did you ever see anything in the world to beat that?"

The prohibitionists have met in Portland and nominated a full state ticket. Winfield Taylor Rigdon, of Salem, is the nominee for congressman for the first district, and C. J. Bright, of Wasco, the nominee for the second. Benjamin P. Welch, of Portland, is the nominee for supreme judge. R. B. Hood, of this city, an alternate presidential elector, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Butler alternate delegates to the national convention.

The Hood River Horticultural Society has recently reorganized with T. R. Coon, president; Neil Evans, secretary and W. J. Baker, treasurer, including a membership of all the leading fruit men of the valley. At the last meeting, Secretary W. J. Baker read a paper giving his experience with the San Jose scale. Mr. Baker presented proof that birds carry this pest from one place to another, and that eternal vigilance is the price of exemption from its ravages.

W. J. Harriman of Dry Hollow, called at this office yesterday and reported that most people in his neighborhood have got through seeding and the prospects for a good crop were never better. Dry Hollow creek, that never had a drop of water last year is now a stream six to eight inches deep and about four feet wide. This shows sufficiently that the ground is full of moisture, as this creek does not rise in the mountains and is not fed by spring, but is simply the surplus seepage from the soil.

President Eliot, of Harvard university, will be in Portland about the 20th though that time has not been set as a definite date, owing to the unexpected and elaborate reception with which he was met in California. The Harvard men of Portland are making preparations to give him a royal reception on his arrival. This gathering together of Harvard's alumni has proven a most enjoyable feature in the arrangements for welcoming their president and will probably result in the formation of a Harvard club in that city.

Smith of Arlington Has Donned His War Paint.

Agent Alloway, of the D. P. and A. N. company informs the CHRONICLE that J. W. Smith of Arlington, whom the Union Pacific lately defrauded out of $24.90—the full rates from Portland to Arlington, on a car of salt shipped by the people's boats to The Dalles and thence by rail to Arlington—is going after the Union Pacific with a sharp stick. Mr. Smith has taken steps to have the matter brought before the state board of railroad commissioners and he says if there is any justice left in the land he is going to have it. More power to J. W.'s elbow! This is a fight in the interest of the people, and if right reigns it can have only one ending. The point in controversy is this: Mr. Smith can save $24.90 on a car of salt by shipping it by the people's boats to The Dalles, thence by rail to Arlington, instead of by rail the whole way from Portland. A merchant at Heppner can likewise save $30 on a car of barbed wire, but the Union Pacific compels the merchant to pay the $24.90 or $30 as the case may be, in the form of "advance charges." The whole thing is a barefaced swindle as ever was attempted on a long suffering people and the courts will so decide if the masses have any rights that a railroad corporation is bound to respect.

The Husband Should Be Boss. Judge Finletter, in charging the jury in a case tried in common pleas court, gave an opinion emphatically sustaining the rights of husbands to rule their homes.

The suit was that of John Yates against Christians F. M. Greaves, brought to recover damages for false arrest and malicious prosecution. Miss Greaves boarded in Yates' house. She was ordered by him to leave, but Mrs. Yates, to whom Miss Greaves paid her board, told her to stay. Yates subsequently, upon coming home, quarreled with his wife and, it is alleged, choked her, and when Miss Greaves interfered, it is alleged, he threatened her. The next morning Mrs. Yates went with Miss Greaves to a magistrate's office, where the latter swore out a warrant charging Yates with threatening her life. He was locked up, and spent the night in a station house.

Miss Greaves did not appear against Yates the next day and he was discharged, but in her behalf it was alleged that her nonappearance was due to a solicitation by Yates' brother-in-law, who said that he couldn't get bail. After his release Yates brought the present suit against Miss Greaves.

Judge Finletter said that Miss Greaves should have obeyed the direction of Yates to leave. She had no right to remain in the house against his wish. The jury would therefore have to find a verdict for the plaintiff. In arriving at the damages they should consider the condition in life of the parties, but in finding for the plaintiff they should not "fix their verdict for him for a few dollars or a few cents, making it ridiculous by the small amount, but they should give him such a sum as would show that in Philadelphia every husband has the right and must rule his own household."

The jury after a short deliberation returned a verdict of $500 for the plaintiff. —Philadelphia Press.

A Snake Attacks a Wagon.

The following snake story is evolved from a Texas exchange: Thursday evening last while Judge A. McFarland and his son Guy were driving homeward they saw a large snake lying in the road. The judge attempted to kill the snake by crushing it with the wheel of his gig, but instead of "bruising the serpent's head" the judge's wheel passed over its tail. Instantly the snake coiled itself around a spoke, and at every turn of the swiftly revolving wheel made vicious strikes at Guy's face. Guy's only means of escape was a backward tumble from the gig, which he took, falling into a pool of dirty water. Then there was a mad boy as well as an angry snake. Strange to relate the snake freed itself from the wheel and attacked Guy in the pool. A shower of stones from Guy's hand finished the snake.

Feminine Superstition.

The elevator in one of the big newspaper offices was filled with men. One woman, fashionably dressed, was a passenger. Next her stood a hunchback—an aged man, neatly dressed and shrinking as far as possible out of notice. The woman looked at him with a thoughtful air as if weighing vast possibilities. Suddenly she leaned over and with the tip of her white gloved finger daintly touched the hump of her neighbor. "What was that for?" one man asked another in an undertone. "Don't you know? For luck," was the answer. "Touch a hunchback and bring good fortune, is one of woman's pet superstitions." —New York World.

A Remarkable Cure of Rheumatism.

Messrs. Cage and Sherman, of Alexander, Texas, write us regarding a remarkable cure of rheumatism there as follows: "The wife of Mr. Wm. Pruitt, the Postmaster here had been bed-ridden with rheumatism for several years. She could get nothing to do her any good. We sold her a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and she was completely cured by its use. We refer any one to her to verify this statement." 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

La Grippe Successfully Treated.

"I have just recovered from a second attack of the grip this year," says Mr. Jas. O. Jones, publisher of the Leader, Mexico, Texas. "In the latter case I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and I think with considerable success, only being in bed a little over two days, against ten days for the first attack. The second attack I am satisfied would have been equally as bad as the first but for the use of this remedy, as I had to go to bed in about six hours after being 'struck' with it, while in the first case I was able to attend to business about two days before getting 'down.'" 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
