ers are sojourning in, or visiting The Dalles, this spring. Some of them are looking about for investments, some are search of locations for business.

Mr. C. E. Williams, one of the leading freighters out of The Dalles, left today with four teams heavily loaded for Summer Lakes. He says the roads are good, and the ranges better supplied with nutricious, grasses, than ever before at this time in the season.

W. H. Davis of Wapinitia, shipped last night to Portland 69 head of winter fed steers whose average weight is over 1200 pounds each. They were purchased by A. Fargher and company.

C. F. Stephens has just received a large addition to his new stock of general dry goods, underwear, hosiery boots and shoes, etc., making as handsome a selection as is to be found anywhere in The Dalles.

C. S. Miller of Miller's Bridge is in the to the ton.

Two specimens of hen fruit have been left at this office which are remarkable for their dissimilarity though produced ter. The board had not elected its presby hens of nearly equal size. One egg handed in by Jacob Craft measures 71/2 inches in circumference, the other left by Mrs. Chase of Three Mile, measures exactly 21/2 inches.

Timothy "Hayseed," a tramp impostor of the Bohemian order, put up at battle ship Oregon, to be placed on exa hotel in The Dalles Saturday, representing that he was an employe on the CHRONICLE, and thus stood the landlord off for his board. If he stays in the city over tonight it would be safe to bet that Con Howe will run him in.

Charles Krause, whose place is south of the old Garrison property and near the end of the flume, left at this office today a twig cut from an apricot tree in his orchard, which is literally loaded with young apricots not in the least injured by the late frosts. As this fruit is more tender than the peach it is hoped none of the latter have been injured,

From Charles S. Miller we learn that he has a force of men working on his coal mine near Fossil. Already a tunnel, 250 feet long, has been bored into the mountain and it is hoped to strike the vein after a distance of 200 feet more. As the quality of this coal is beyond question if the quantity turns equal to lexpectations, Mr. Miller has no doubt of being able to induce capital to build a railroad to it.

He estimates the cost of the whole work at $5,500 and is confihere for their health, and others are in dent that the entire amount can be raised to complete the work.

Easter Sunday is on April 17th this year. The Chicago Tribune has been to the trouble of looking into Easter Sunday's past record and reports that it has been over 1,500 years since the rule was adopted which makes Easter the first Sunday after the first full moon after the sun crosses the line. By this arrangement of things Easter may come as early as March 22d or as late as April 25th. A Rival of the Yosemite.

In the vast Sierra wilderness far to the southward of the famous Yosemite valley there is a yet grander valley of the same kind. It is situated on the South Fork of King's river, above the most extensive groves and forests of the giant sequoia and beneath the shadows of the highest mountains in the range, where the canyons are deepest and the snow laden peaks are crowded most closely together. It is called the Big King's River canyon or King's River Yosemite and is reached by way of Visalia, the nearest point on the Southern Pacific railroad, from which the distance is about forty-five miles, or by the Kear-sarge pass from the east side of the

It is about ten miles long, half a mile wide and the stupendous rocks of purplish gray granite that form the walls are from 2,500 to 5,000 feet in height, while the depth of the valley below the general surface of the mountain mass from which it has been carved is consid erably more than a mile. Thus it appears that this new Yosemite is longer and deeper, and lies imbedded in grander mountains than the well known Yosem-ite of the Merced. Their general characters, however, are wonderfully alike, and they bear the same relationship to the fountains of the ancient glaciers above them .- John Muir in Century.
