HOW ONE OLD MAN LIVES.

nomical Board and Room Reeping of a Resident of Washington.

It is wonderful how the theories of our past lives comes back to us now as the realities of the present. Daniel Webster constantly made notes of current ideas, and when asked how long it was before he used them, replied sometimes twenty years, sometimes longer. When I was a boy, in Shelby county, I went one day to Mr. John Cooper's shoemaker's shop to be measured for a pair of shoes, as the custom of the country then was. He and his little son Robert lived alone in the woods in a house of one room, which was dwelling and shoe shop. Soon Bob's uncle, Gideon Kaylor, about his age, came in, and Bob joyfully exclaimed, "Come, Uncle Gid, we've got some potatoes, and there is plenty of salt."

It seemed strange to me to see how eagerly they roasted and ate the potatoes and how happy they were. They lived happily, and yet this was all their liv-ing. I have repeated this story frequently during my prosperous days as a great wonder, never dreaming that it would become my own reality, as it now is, and I am happy too.

A German woman who could not speak a word of English came into my office one day with one of my German circulars in her hand, which Mr. Coop had given her in Saxony. I sent her out into the country with a German mer-chant to look at lands, and that day she bought a farm. The next day I made the deeds, and she became the owner and moved in. A neighbor soon after-ward told me that it cost that lady nothing to live. He says she puts a tin cup of coffee on the stove and a tin cup of coffee on the stove and a tin cup of cormeal mush, and that is all her living the living to live. He says she puts a tin cup of cormeal mush, and that is all her living to live. He says she puts a tin cup of coffee on the stove and a tin cup of coffee on the s ing, but she is getting rich. I thought that very strange, too, never thinking that I should live so, but I do just that thing now, having remembered hearing how

When I lost all my money and yet must live, I rented a room 14 by 16 feet, with heat, for $5 per month-not a very good room and not very well furnished, but comfortable and respectable, and there are plenty of them at that price. I bought an outfit as follows: An iron handy lamp, 75 cents; three seamless pint tin cups, 15 cents; one do. quart, 15 cents; one half gallon tin cup, with cover, 10 cents; three bowls, 15 cents; cup and saucer, 10 cents; gallon glass oil can, 35 cents; oil, 15 cents; spoon, 10 cents; total outfit, $2. Then I bought one month's provisions as follows: Half bushel potatoes, 35 cents; ten pounds cornmeal, 20 cents; three pounds Graham flour, 15 cents; one Sick headaches, Mrs. M. B. Price, 16 Prospect pound ground coffee, 25 cents; eight pounds granulated sugar, 36 cents; one pound lard, 10 cents; coarse salt, 5 cents; total for the month, $1.46.

I am a good, hearty eater, and am full fed and live well, and am thankful for it, but I cannot eat all of my month's provision. There is always a considera-ble amount over every month, and I live well too. In the morning I light my handy lamp, fill my seamless pint tin cup with water, put a teaspoonful of ground coffee into it, put it over the lamp, and turn another tin cup, bottom upward, over it for a cover. In ten minutes there is a pint cup of good, hot coffee. While the coffee is boiling I put minutes there is a pint cup of good, hot coffee. While the coffee is boiling I put a little water into the half gallon cup, not more than one-eighth full, and then fill the quart tin cup about one-fourth full of cornmeal, add a little salt, then the company of the condition of es on set the mush on the lamp Stir it occasionally, and when it thickens and fills up the cup take it off.

I buy a loaf of bread for four cents for Sunday, and melt a little lard and salt for gravy, and I live well and have plenty to eat. Many others in this city, gaunt and half starved, can live well in this way.—John Howard in Washington

Whether the earlier monumental brasses still to be found in our churches were made originally in England is not absolutely certain, the probability, according to some anti-quaries, being that they were of French or Belgian workmanship.—Chambers' Journal.

A Snake That Swallowed a Man. Large specimens of boa constrictors have been known to swallow men whole. The case is related by the traveler Giro-niere of a criminal in the Philippine islands who hid from justice in a cavern. His father, who alone knew of his hiding place, went sometimes to see him and to take him rice for food. One day he found instead of his son an enormous on saleep. He killed it and found his on's body in the snake's stomach.— Washington Star.

For several years there has been a colored shoemaker on School street. He has owned his little shop, which is big enough for about four people to stand in without noticeable discomfort. He is a good looking young fellow, and there isn't anything remarkable about him at first sight. He has a very good trade for a small place, and his income is sufficient to enable him to live comfortably. If you go into his shop any time of the day between 7 o'clock in the morning and 5 o'clock in the afternoon you will find him seated on a little stool with a leather apron on. His sleeves will be rolled up, and he will be pegging away for dear

If you go into the place at 5 o'clock and wait a few minutes, you will presently behold as novel a spectacle as may be witnessed in the city anywhere. You will see that a gorgeous light overcoat has been hanging on a peg in the wall in a corner of the shop, and that a pair of flashing patent leather shoes have been reposing in the same corner on the floor, and that near by a big silver knobbed walking stick has been standing, while on a little shelf has been resting a glossy silk hat. When this young man's work is done in the evening he doffs his leather apron and attires himself in his swell apparel.

He may be seen on Washington street in the neighborhood of the Adams House an hour later, silk hat, patent leathers, spring overcoat, silver knobbed cane and all. He goes to his shop in this dress in the morning and leaves it similarly garmented in the evening. He moves in the swellest colored society of the city, Women.

The common affiletions of women are sick-headeltes, indigestion and nervous troubles. They arise largely from stomach disorders. As Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is the only bowel regulating preparation, you can see why it is more effective than any other Earsaparilla in those troubles. It is daily relieving hundreds. The action is mild, direct and effective. We have scores of letters from grateful women. We refer to a few:

THE DALLES CHRONICLE

THE LEADING PAPER

Of the Leading City of Eastern Oregon.

During the little over a year of its existence it has earnestly tried to fulfill the objects for which it was founded, namely, to assist in developing our industries, to advertise the resources of the city and adjacent country and to work for an open river to the sea. Its record is before the people and the phenomenal support it has received is accepted as the expression of their approval. Independent in everything, neutral in nothing, it will live only to fight for what it believes to be just and right.

Commencing with the first number of the second volume the weekly has been enlarged to eight pages while the price ($1.50 a year) remains the same. Thus both the weekly and daily editions contain more reading matter for less money than any paper published in the county.
