WASCO COUNTY'S FINANCIAL EXHIBIT.

A statement of the financial condition of Wasco county is published in another place in the issue. It shows the total indebtedness of the county, on the 31st day of March last, to have been $55,796.60. For the sake of comparison we may mention that on the 31st of March 1888, the total indebtedness of the county was $62,326.32. During Judge Thornbury's administration, therefore, the indebtedness of the county has been reduced by the sum of $6,529.72. In passing judgment on this exhibit two things may well be taken into consideration. The past three years have been unusually hard ones in Wasco county. The crops in many places fell far short of an average and heavy losses of stock supervened. Two years ago, it will be remembered, the farmers petitioned the county court in favor of a small tax levy, and the court acceded so far as to fix the levy at 20 mills on a 50 cent basis of assessment, while the state tax itself was ten mills, leaving only ten mills on this low assessment for county purposes. The result was as expected. The county ran behind. Now, however, at nearly the end of a four year's administration of the present county court, in spite of these drawbacks, and in spite of the further fact that one term of court alone—the one preceding the last—on account of its large criminal docket, cost the county nearly $10,000, the indebtedness of the county has been reduced by the sum already mentioned. Taking everything into consideration, and speaking conservatively, the CHRONICLE thinks the exhibit a good one and one highly creditable to a county court that has never been charged by its worst enemies with penuriousness.

The congressional ticket nominated by the republican state convention yesterday is undoubtedly a strong one. There is only one opinion here, so far as we have been able to ascertain, and that is that the ticket cannot be beaten. Under any circumstances Hermann's election would be conceded and the large republican majority in the second district coupled with the deserved popularity of Mr. Ellis makes his election as certain as any contingent event may well be.

The Telegram says, "there is a standing premium" offered to any man "whose condition, in any way, has been bettered by the McKinley law." Hand over the premium, Mr. Telegram, to the editor of this journal. He has saved $5 on his family sugar since the McKinley law went into effect. Address the parcel to "The Editor of the best family paper in Eastern Oregon," and ship it via the Dalles, Portland and Astoria company's boats.

The Prineville News says: "We voted Harrison and McKinley in, and today wool is twelve and one-half cents per pound, and sugar about the same." Waving the solecism which is involved in the idea of the News' man's having voted for McKinley, the CHRONICLE advises that gentleman to buy the sweetening for his toddy, in future, in The Dalles where he can get nearly twenty pounds for a dollar, thanks to that same McKinley bill.

Men's Clothes.
 "Men are becoming as bad as women for the adoption of strange and uncomfortable fashions in clothing," said a Fifth avenue custom tailor, "and they need dress reform preached to them almost as much as the feminine sex. Take the high collars that are in vogue, and which are worn higher than ever this fall. They almost strangle one and chafe the skin until it is sore. Between the heavy, hot beaver-hat and the tight collar, baldness is becoming rampant in our cities. The high, tight collar has as much to do with causing baldness as any other one thing. Then the modern style of fitting the clothes forces us to make them tight and snug all around, and this prevents one from really enjoying life. "Tight patent leather shoes sweat and pinch the feet until walking is a painful exercise. Every time I see a dude with all of the latest style of modern clothes I pity him, and wonder that he submits to such voluntary torture. I can assure you that if his clothes fit him he is miserable. The old adage that 'if a man's clothes don't fit him he is uncomfortable' has been reversed."—New York Times.

A traveling man who chanced to be in the store of E. V. Wood, at McKees Rocks, Pa., says while he was waiting to see Mr. Wood, a little girl came in with an empty bottle labeled Chamberlain's Pain Balm and said: "Mamma wants another bottle of that medicine; she says it is the best medicine for rheumatism she ever used." 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

Huntington's Steamship Line.
 New York, April 6.—A dispatch from New Orleans to a Wall street firm yesterday stated that the Cromwell line of passenger and freight steamers plying between New York and New Orleans had been purchased by the American sugar refinery company. Investigation, however, disclosed the fact that the real purchaser is Collis P. Huntington, of the Southern Pacific interest, the owner of what was known as the Morgan line steamers. Control of the stock of Cromwell was secured by John E. Searles, jr., the secretary and treasurer of the American sugar refinery company, who represented the Southern Pacific. The change of management was made on the 1st.
