The Congregational church prayer meeting will be at the rooms of Mrs. Fred Bailey, in the French & McFarland block, at 7:30 this evening. Immediately after the prayer meeting there will be a parish meeting. A full attendance is requested as important business will come before the meeting.

Word came to this office last night that a young man named Warder, a newcomer, who lives in the Wapinitia country, had been lost for forty-eight hours in the mountains, west of Oak Grove. Warder had gone alone on a hunting trip and, as he was not familiar with the mountains, it is supposed he lost his way. He had no overcoat with him and fears are entertained that he may have succumed to the cold. A party was to have started in search of him yesterday morning.

Of the teaching body in the United States at the last census 65 per cent. were women. The total number is 238,-333. Women are sometimes employed as teachers exclusively for boys, but more frequently for boys and girls to-gether. In Chicago there are no separate gether. In Chicago there are no separate schools for boys—the sexes are taught together. Women in Boston teach all the branches in all the public school course to children of all ages and all classes in life. In reply to the compara-tive success of male and female teachers the commissioner of education reports: "Women, I think, as a rule succeed better than men in getting work out of pupils of all kinds. The intellectual training which they give is therefore better up to a certain point than that given by men. They also maintain better discipline than men and with less corneral punishment."—Exchange.

John Monroe, an old and respected farmer of the Hood River valley paid his respects to the CHRONICLE today in the form of a pleasant visit. Mr. Monroe was born nearly 77 years ago in Logan county, Ohio. He remembers well the stirring times connected with the presidential campaigns of '36 and '40, in bonnets Friday, April 8th.

Miss Anna Peters & Co., extend a cordial invitation to all, to call and examine their novelties in trimmed hats and bonnets Friday, April 8th. both of which he voted for Harrison, casting his first ballot for that gentleman in 1836. The dominent issue in both campaigns was the tariff. Mr. Monroe took his stand for protection and has never wavered in his fealty to that doctrine during the long years that have transpired since. Though by no means deficient in theoretical knowledge of tarff questions he has a double advantage over men who were born at a later period, as he himself was a part of the actual history of three quarters of a century during which tariff laws have Wheels" reached Washington City a veered from almost absolute free trade few days since, it completed 7,300 miles to high protection. A farmer in Mississippi writes the following letter on silver to the New York Evening Post. It presents an argument in a style as plain and clear as it is homely and forcible, viz: "I am a farmer and do not know much about CANDY FACTORY in the Bland bill. The aim of the friends of silver is to raise the price of that metal by putting government credit behind it. Now, my county does not produce an ounce of silver, nor an ounce of anything valuable in the mineral line. If the price of silver is advanced artificially, will it not take more of our timber, more pigs, more corn, more calves to get it? Are dollars to be made more plentiful? How? I know of just one way to get dollars, and that is to find Tropical Fruits, Nuts, Cigars and Tobacco. some man who has dollars and who wants something he does not have more than he wants his dollars, and who will give me his dollars for something which run over a door sill on roller skates and other words, I trade my labor, my pigs, my cotton, my cows for the dollars of some man who needs labor, pigs, cotton or cows more than he needs dollars. "Now, if two employers are after one laborer, as in Montana, wages are high; if two laborers are after one 'boss,' as in some large cities of the East, wages are low. If two pigs are after $1, pigs are low; if $2 are after one pig, pigs are left on Mr. Everett's right leg, about high. If dollars, of whatever kind, get so abundant that three or four of them get after one pig, pigs will go very high; and if dollars reach the point where they are made by the millions out of silver, and copper, and tin, and represent nothing but themselves, pigs may be ex-pected to hesitate before they will trade themselves off for something as common as leaves in October, and it will take a great many more 'dollars' to get one pig than it would take if a pig had no question of their value. But these extra 'dollars' will do the man who sells the pig no good, because the man who sells the spools of thread and calico will want more of them for his goods. This happens, not because the pig and calico are worth more, but because the 'dollars' are worthless. I respectfully urge that a far more popular measure will be the passage of a law making nine eggs a dozen."
