Some time ago Frank Frazier of Umatilla county bought a number of mortgages at a sheriff's tax sale. Frazier paid his money for the mortgages and the sheriff gave him a receipt that certified to the facts of the sale and payment of the money. In other words the sheriff sold him certain mortgages but instead of delivering the goods on payment of the money the sheriff simply gave him a receipt. Now Frazier sues the mortgagees. He wants the mortgages foreclosed and the defendants bargained from all interest in them save the right of redemption. The case will most likely go to the supreme court for final decision and then it will be known if the taxes can be collected on an Oregon mortgage. We believe Frazier's only remedy lies in suing the sheriff for the recovery of the money he paid him for a thing the sheriff sold and got paid for but never delivered.

The people's party of Multnomah county held a convention in Portland on the 9th inst., at which a full county ticket was nominated. The people's party is remarkably like the older parties it seeks to reform. It never forgets to make a stiff grab after the lucrative offices. This taken by itself is all right, but it throws a question of doubt on the sincerity of the reformers when what they call great and important principles of reform are promulgated with a zeal proportionate to the amount of wages attached to the office sought after. The popular heart cannot be fired on the mere issue of helping a man into a fat office. A calamity howler is a contemptible creature under any circumstances but doubly so when his aim is to howl himself into office. Great principles, of political or moral reform lose their force and converting power in the lips of mercenary place-hunting advocates.

J. T. Flynn, the Southern Oregon rustler, has prepared and fitted out a canoe expedition which starts today upon a voyage of discovery down the Rogue river from Grants Pass to the sea, a distance of ninety miles. He expects to demonstrate the practicability of navigation from the junction of Illinois river forty miles below Grants Pass.

Bimetallism in England.
WASHINGTON, April 11.—A leading senator is authority for the statement that Secretary Foster did talk, on the money question while in Europe for his health, recently, and that he talked considerably. He says that Mr. Goehen, the British chancellor of the exchequer, favors "the full rehabilitation of silver." In Mr. Foster's opinion bimetallism is growing in England, everywhere except in Lombard st., London. Lombard st., of course, is for the single gold standard. Nevertheless, Mr. Foster met two directors of the Bank of England, who were bimetallists. The world will have to get back to the old gold and silver partnership yet—but free coinage of silver by this country is not the way to reach that desirable result.

Another Will Contest.
LINCOLN, Neb., April 10.—About twenty years ago Elder Jason G. Miller adopted, from a foundling hospital in Chicago, a baby girl, and brought her to his home in this city. He died in California three months ago leaving an estate valued at $500,000, largely real estate in Lincoln. In the meantime the girl, against the wishes of her foster parents, married, becoming Mrs. E. O. Lewis. Elder Miller left a will bequeathing the larger part of his wealth to charity and nothing to the daughter. Mrs. Lewis now brings suit for half the estate.

Wasting Valuable Time.
WASHINGTON, April 11.—In view of the fact that time is rapidly passing away and there is literally nothing to show for it from congress, a correspondent of the New York Sun suggests the revival of the rule of the old Roman senate, which obliged every senator who introduced a new law to do so with a cord around his neck. If the law failed to pass, its sponsor was strangled. As a method of reducing the bulk of the Congressional Record and shortening the sessions of congress, and legislatures as well, this would certainly be effective.

Pabst's Milwaukee beer at the Umatilla house at a bit a bottle. Free lunch tonight at 8 o'clock.

Federal Buildings.
WASHINGTON, April 11.—The senate postoffice bill, now before the house, authorizes the construction of a federal building in every city or town where the gross postal receipts for three preceding years have exceeded $9,000 and have not exceeded $90,000. The cost of building and site is to be governed by the gross postal receipts for three preceding years and in no case is to exceed $75,000. The buildings are to be constructed with a view to future enlargement as the local postoffice business increases. The work of purchasing sites and constructing buildings is to progress only as fast as congress makes the necessary appropriations. All plans are to be approved by the postmaster general, the secretary of the interior and the secretary of the treasury. Public sentiment decidedly approves the spirit of such a measure. It is a fair criticism of the senate bill to say that even the economists will probably oppose it on the ground of temporary expediency only. True economy is subserved by housing all federal employes in buildings belonging to the government, and the senate bill is a move in the right direction.

You should not hesitate one moment about attending the concert at the Court house this evening. The Fisk Jubilee singers have had the honor of appearing by invitation before more distinguished persons than any other company of singers in the world. This includes Presidents Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur and Harrison; Queen Victoria, the emperor and empress of Germany, the Right Hon. William E. Gladstone, and indeed nearly all the crowned heads of Europe, together with many of the most distinguished ministers and educators both in the old world and the new. Secure your seats at Snipes & Kinnerly's drug store.
