Dr. Sylvester F. Scovel was making an ddress at the commencement enercises of the Ohio university, of which he is the president. The big gymnasium where the exercises were held was packed to the doors and the air was hot and stiffing. The audience had listened to college orators until it was surfeited. Everybody was warm and tired and waiting to make a dash for the open air at the first opportunity. The orator be-gan. He sketched the history of the in-stitution; he spoke of its many needs; he dwelt upon its success and predicted for it a brilliant future. He spoke of the trustees in terms of praise; he comthe trustees in terms of praise; he com-mended the faculty; he complimented mended the faculty; he complimented the students, and tears glistened in his eyes as he told of the generosity and kindly interest of the dear public. Over an hour went by. The corners of the hall grew dark, and the rays of the setting sun flashed upon the win-down. The corners flowed in dows. The young graduates fidgeted in their chairs, and the audience looked longingly toward the door. All at once the speaker stopped, murmured a brief sentence, wheeled around and resumed his seat. A little white haired woman in the rear of the hall had waved her ear trumpet, pressed her finger to her lips and the fires of his oratory were quenched. She was the venerable moth er of the president, and she exacted from her son the same obedience which he gave her in his youth.

"That's my son Sylvester," she wa heard to say as the hall was slowl cleared. "That failing of his has been great trial to me. My son Sylvester, h talks too much."-New York Tribune

During the little over a year of its existence it has earnestly tried to fulfill the objects for which it was founded, namely, to assist in developing our industries, to advertise the resources of the city and adjacent country and to work for an open river to the sea. Its record is before the people and the phenomenal support it has received is accepted as the expression of their approval. Independent in everything, neutral in nothing, it will live only to fight for what it believes to be just and right.

other. This state of things is due to the fact that the Americans think so much of business and so little of their palates that they permit China and Japan to ship them their chespest and most worthless teas. Between the wealthy classes of China and Japan and the exacting and cultivated teadrinkers of Europe, the finer teas find a ready market. The balance of the crop comes to America. Is there any wonder, then, that our tasts for tea does not appreciate? The Yiew of these facts, is there not an im-mediate demand for the importation of a brand of tea that is guaranteed to be un-colored, unmanipulated, and of absolute This state of things is due to the fact that brand of tea that is guaranteed to be un-colored, unmanipulated, and of absolute purity? We think there is, and present Beech's Tea. Its purity is guaranteed in every respect. It has, therefore, more in-herent strength than the cheap teas you have been drinking, fully one third less being re-quired for an infusion. This you will dis-cover the first time you make it. Likewise, the flavor is delightful, being the natural fis-vor of an unadulterated article. It is a revela-tion to tea-drinkers. Sold only in packages bearing this mark:
