When the Times Mountaineer insisted that a so called faction in this city had been routed "horse, foot and dragons" at the primaries, at the county convention, and at the state convention, the Chronicle demanded the name of one Moody man on the republican ticket and prophesied that the voters of Wasco county would rise, as one man, and down him. The Mountaineer responds with a column of personal abuse, half of which was written in The Dalles National Bank, but no direct response is made to a demand which the Chronicle now repeats. What particular glory attaches to Mr. Moody or his friends in the outcome of the late conventions? M. A. Moody himself could only gain admission to the county convention by the proxy of a better man. He dare not risk defeat by allowing his name to go before the primaries. From only four country precincts did he obtain the least support, and even this was wrung from the honest voters by packed primaries, free liquor, and—if reports are true—bribe. So scarce and precious did the country Moody men become, that an offer was made to send a special train for one delegate who pleaded inability to attend the convention. Even with heaven and earth thus compassed, and the whole railroad vote and influence cast for him, he was able to go to the state convention, only by denying to the city precincts a perfectly fair and reasonable districting, such as had been made in the country. Even his right bower, G. W. Johnston, only got to the state convention by one vote, and that obtained by means well known to the delegates of the county convention. If this is a triumph worthy to be called a "rout of horse, foot and dragons," the quotation has sadly lost its meaning. What candidate did the Moody faction nominate on the county ticket? If there is one, then that is the candidate Moody will do everything in his power to butcher. That's his style. What points did the Moody faction score in the state convention? Did Hilton get nominated for congress or any certain Moody man get a nomination for anything? Will The Dalles National Bank please answer. (The Mountaineer never reads the Chronicle.)

The Times-Mountaineer says: When we ascertained the fact that a faction in this city was attempting to inaugurate Caesarism in the politics of Wasco county we gave the warning in clear and unmistakable language, and the people responded nobly at the polls in every precinct. They responded nobly, did they? And Caesarism was "routed, horse, foot and dragons?" And Moody and Johnston went to the state convention. But it came to pass that the people were exceeding mad thereat, Mr. Mountaineer and, getting square up on their ear, they swore in their wrath that they would be revenged, but forasmuch as Moody is shrewd of understanding and would not allow his name to be mentioned even before a primary, it is hard to reach him, but when it was even suspected that Johnston, his henchman, tool and striker, went to the state convention by the vote of a man who is both an alliance man and a granger, the whole circle of the grange and alliance was moved as one man and measures were promptly taken to expel him from the societies he was supposed to have disgraced. This is only one incident connected with the death of "Caesarism." Others will follow in both political parties before the idea of June, and the Brutus, who compassed Caesar's death, cannot prevent them.

Postmaster-General Wannamaker has demonstrated from actual experiment, that instead of losing money by the free delivery of mail, in small communities, the government can earn a profit. Experiments have been made in forty-eight communities, varying in population from 300 to 3,000, and under all circumstances and condition, and the results have been entirely satisfactory.

Hon. William Stewart reports that cattlemen in Payette, are suffering a severe loss through the agency of a peculiar mineral poison which exudes from the ground and deposits itself upon the feed. Stewart says that during the past week he has seen at least 2,000 dead cattle within a radius of five miles of his ranch, and that upon one small green knoll he counted 300 carcasses.

The price of the "poor man's" dinner pail is said to have been raised 5-12 of a cent by the McKinley tariff, and it is suggested that even if the "poor man" has to pay this increase, he can deduct the amount from the $3 he saves annually on his sugar bill and still be $2.99-7-12 ahead.

A bill directing the secretary of war to cause a survey for a ship canal between the great lakes and the navigable waters of the Hudson river has been very favorably reported upon. The bill provides for an appropriation of $100,000 for the survey of the various routes and the estimate of cost and advantages of each.

All efforts to settle the dispute between employes and mill owners in the Lanchashire cotton district have failed, and on Saturday, when the notices expire, spindles will be idle. Eleven thousand spinners are directly affected, and 70,000 workers in other branches connected with the cotton industry indirectly.

The day before the election the New York World printed a cartoon showing a group of females upon a pedestal, looking down at Miss Rhode Island. Underneath appeared the words, "Will Little Rhody join her democratic sisters?" If the World has yet recovered from the effects of the defeat, it ought to give its readers a companion cartoon and label it "Little Rhody Will Not."

Mr. J. P. Blaize, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of that state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaize had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaize sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and that in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaize regards his cure as simply wonderful. 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. d&w

OREGON LIME.
 This lime is manufactured by The Oregon Marble and Lime Company, near Huntington, Oregon, and has earned the reputation of being the strongest lime in the market, and consequently, in addition to making the best work is at an equal price, the cheapest to the user. The following analysis by W. G. Jenne, chemist, Portland, Oregon, is worthy of consideration:

Carbonate of Lime	98.56	Magnesia	.015
Silica	1.31	Water	.005
Peroxide of Iron	.07	Phosphates	Trace
Alumina	.03	Sulphates	Trace 99.99
