THE TRUTH AT LAST.

A Senator and Not Jas. Russell Young Let the Secret.

PLAN OF THE SILVER MEN.

A Combination to Try and Throw the Election Into the House.

REP. WILSON ROUGHLY HANDLED.

The Cleveland Contingent--In the Event Silver Scheme Wins-- What It is to Show.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The truth in the case of James Russell Young, recently dismissed from the position of executive clerk, has come out. He was charged with betraying the secrets of the executive session over the Behring sea matter. Young was not in the chamber at the time the matter was considered, but came in soon after. The disclosure was made by a member of the senate, who sent a memorandum to the newspaper man. When Young was accused the correspondent proffered him the envelope upon which the memorandum was written with which to defend himself. Young declined to take the envelope or use the evidence. There have been several indications lately that sharp political and personal discussions will soon disturb the olive-leaved dove of peace heretofore hovering unmolested over the senate debates of this session. In various ways, not plainly discernable in the printed debates, it has become manifest that a rather ugly feeling has been engendered between the senators on the republican side, arising out of the executive clerk Young episode; also there has been made apparent a decided tendency on the part of the democratic party to push things on a party line a little more closely than has hitherto been done. The pending debate on the two bills reported by the judiciary committee to increase the number of judges in the court of claims and to amend the circuit appeal law, illustrates this latter statement. Mr. Hoar when he called up the bills, assured the senate that they would not occupy more than half an hour at the outside, yet they occupied three hours of rather acrimonious debate, and one bill was left unfinished, and the other was reconsidered after having been adopted by a viva voce vote. Other measures will probably be discussed for a considerable time longer, and a division more or less on party lines is probable upon their final adoption.

Roughly Handled.
WASHINGTON, April 18.—Rep. Wilson, of Washington, who was pretty roughly handled in the bureau of engraving building on Friday, does not censure the old watchman as he was simply carrying out positive instructions not to permit any one to ascend to the upper floors, and Mr. Wilson was thoughtless in search of Chief Meredith. As a member from the wild and woolly west he resented the rough handling the watchman was giving him, and struck the old fellow with a square from the shoulder lick. The affair created a good deal of excitement about the department. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Meredith are good friends, and it is for that reason the former says he regrets the occurrence. He holds Mr. Meredith entirely blameless for the unfortunate episode. The affair will, of course, revive the story of the trouble Wilson and Beckwith, of New Jersey, had on the floor of the house about two years ago. The Washington representative generally stands up for his rights, and the fact that he weighs only about 120 pounds does not interfere with his courage. He will have to take a great deal of chaffing on account of this affair from his colleagues in the house, and will again be styled "Fighting Wilson of Washington."

Plan of the Silver Men.
DENVER, Colo., April 17.—The Rocky Mountain News in a leading editorial tomorrow will put forward the silver democratic plan of campaign to be followed should Cleveland or an equally pronounced goldbug be nominated. It says: "There are thousands of republicans in Colorado who will not vote for Harrison, and thousands who will not vote for Cleveland. Yet, driven from their own parties by nominees wearing the yoke of Wall street, they will be disinclined to vote for such nominee. If the action at Chicago shall force it, electors will be chosen at the subsequent state convention, pledged to vote against Cleveland, and for such a free-coinage democrat as Senator Morgan, of Alabama. Rep. Bland, of Missouri, urges this course shall be pursued by the democrats of Colorado, California, Montana, Wyoming, Iowa, Nevada, Washington and Oregon; also by those of Kansas, Nebraska and certain Southern states. By this course the integrity of the democratic organization will be preserved, and the election for president thrown into the house, in which event the free coinage candidate would ultimately be elected, and the free coinage sentiment produced by such a canvass would insure the election of a free coinage congress. The course of the Cleveland contingent in New York is urged as ample warrant for such irregularities. This denier resort for the free-coinage men is worthy of calm and earnest consideration. That this suggestion be passed over lightly, the gravity of the silver situation forbids. The tens of thousands who signed the pledge of the silver league look for some practical plan by which they may constitutionally and consistently exercise their suffrage effectively. The movement, if undertaken, will demonstrate that the democrats and republicans are no longer brawlers of wood and drawers of water for Wall street plutocrats, who now almost entirely dominate one political party and have paralyzed the free coinage majority in the other."

Cleveland in New York.
New York, April 18.—Ex-Mayor Grace, in a conversation yesterday said: "If Cleveland cannot carry New York who can? There is no democratic leader who commands the enthusiastic support of the rank and file of the party in this state that Grover Cleveland does. His popularity rests not on patronage, nor upon the activity of politicians working in his behalf. The Cleveland sentiment is the spontaneous expression of preference for a leader who is known to be trustworthy."

Sale of Horses.
PORTLAND, April 18.—The auction sale of trotters held in this city a few days since, was attended by prominent horsemen from all over the state. The highest price, $1000, was brought by Tualco, a black horse by Rockwood, from Nutwood, 2:18 1/4. There was lively bidding between Frederick Strong and A. D. Tufts, but the latter finally won. Nettie, a black mare by Nutwood, second sire Bellfounder, went to R. H. Phillips, of McMinnville, for the same price, $1000. The total amount received was $10,885 for fifty-two animals.

About to go Under.
CHICAGO, April 18.—Western railroad officials are now talking seriously of refusing to attend the special meeting of the western traffic association, called for May 10th, in New York. They are getting very tired of having it crammed down their throats that Gould and Huntington will not attend a Chicago meeting, and that when they go to New York they must bow to the dictates of these two gentlemen and Wall street. The meeting is of such extreme importance that western members may reconsider their present plan, but some of them think the association will founder, anyway, and are doubtful about attending what they believe will be a funeral. They argue that their time is as valuable to them as Gould's is to him; that he is even now on a vacation, while they are all at work, and that Chicago is entitled to the special meeting. If it is held in New York it will be solely because of Gould's objection to Chicago.

Senator Mills' Term Short.
GALVESTON, Tex., April 18.—There is a large-sized political hen on in this state, and it is hatching trouble for Roger Q. Mills. Gov. Hogg and the men who follow him are not of the kind to lay down their arms and permit themselves to be trampled on as they apparently were without having some good reason. There is something behind it all that will come out when the time comes, and when it does appear Mr. Mills will have to hustle. He was only elected to fill the unexpired term of Senator Reagan, and his term will expire in January, 1893. By that time Gov. Hogg will have his plans all laid and he will give Mr. Mills a fight that will open his eyes. Nobody thought that the present legislature would have to elect a senator, or it would have been made up in an entirely different manner. The next one will be chosen on that issue, and there is where Gov. Hogg will get in his fine work. Hogg was handicapped this time by several ambitious politicians in Mill's district who wanted his seat in congress, and with this difficulty swept away it is good betting that after Mr. Mills serves his nine months in the senate and comes up for reelection there will be somebody else there, or at least there will be a fight that will be a memorable one.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

A Democratic Text Book for the Coming Campaign.

NEW YORKERS OPINION OF HILL.

Witticism and Fact Blended in a Manner to Cause Chills and Fever.

LIVELY SCENES IN EMPIRE STATE.

When Young Chicorey's Winter Convention Tried to Disfranchise Democracy.

New York, April 18.—A prominent publishing house of this city have just taken the copy for a new book which is calculated will cause a sensation in political circles. It is well written up, and is devoted chiefly to describing Senator Hill, posing as a democrat; and is made up from actual facts and speeches of leading democrats of the state of New York. Its opening chapters picture Daniel in the executive mansion at Albany, plotting, and describes the condition of the mansion as the wife of his successor found it. His February convention is described as being necessarily held in the winter, as Frank M. Thorne said: "Because he knew what sort of a gang his convention would contain, and he naturally wished to hold the convention before the weather got warm enough to encourage its tendency to putrefaction. He knew that such a convention as that couldn't endure its own society in warm weather, long enough to hatch anything." He is then taken to Washington, where a decent democrat couldn't be found to introduce him, and he fell back upon the sympathies of an old school mate from Oregon, a republican (Dolph) who, in the kindness of his heart, did the act as graciously as he could. A large part of the book is taken up with quotations from democratic speeches, of a most withering kind. One of which is like this, from a speech at the big meeting in Buffalo April 5th: The speaker said: "Within the last three months he has been for tariff reform, and against tariff reform, by a revival of the republican domination of 1883; against a nibbling tariff reform, for a nibbling tariff reform, and again against the nibble. He has been for and against free coinage and has mysteriously straddled due south by north upon it. And so this burlesque political skirt dancer covets and kicks and twists and turns and bows and smirks and throws kisses at the political baldheads, and tries to palm himself off as an innocent young thing of beauty and a joy forever, and a Delartean dream of grace, when all the while he is simply making an indecent exposure of himself, as a political street-walker offering himself body and soul at the low price of a vote or a delegate. [Applause.] Hill is very eloquent on a type-writer, if he doesn't happen to forget his extemporaneous carpet-bag. [Laughter.] Having named the delegates and the alternates, (in his February convention) and relieved the democratic party of the trouble of nominating electors at the usual fall convention; having, it is said, even prescribed the soubriquet of Young Hickory by which he was introduced, which the satirists have happily converted into Young Chicorey, to indicate his quality; having usurped all the usual functions of the delegates, nothing was left for the convention but to cough when Young Chicorey sneezed. It was as absolutely void of opinion or volition as a cartload of spoil claims in a compost heap in August. And so by Young Chicorey's command, in not a speech, resolution, or other proceeding, was the name of Cleveland permitted to appear."

Pumping vs. Gravity.
SPOKANE, April 18.—A visitor to this city who has observed the controversy upon the water question which is at present agitating the public, says to a reporter: "It would seem like carrying coals to Newcastle to build a dam for the purpose of making power to pump water for your beautiful city when it is so simple a matter to siphon pure water from up the river, beyond contaminating influences, to your reservoir. It seems to me that this could be done for the amount that is asked for the site in question, and would do away with the danger that would accrue from damming the river at the point proposed."
A. W. Brunner, the popular stage man, was in the city yesterday.
