The Portland Telegram says: "Mr. Ellis is running for congress on a platform that is 'heartily in favor of the Dolph-Mitchell boat-railway scheme, and will take many years to complete, if it is practical at all, but which says not a word in favor of a portage road, to be built either by the Federal government or the state, and hence must be opposed to it. What do the people of Eastern Oregon think of this?"

The Chronicle may not speak for the republican party but it can speak for Eastern Oregon. Over this way every man who is blessed with a reasonable amount of common sense knows, as well as he can know anything of a similar character, that there does not exist the shadow of a hope that the federal government will ever undertake to overcome the obstructions at the dalles by any work of a less permanent character than a boat railway or a canal. The discussions recently carried on in the river and harbor committee ought to have made this sufficiently clear. If we are ever to have a portage road the state will have to build it. A platform in favor of a portage road built by the general government would be so far nothing less than buncombe. Instead of vainly looking to congress for relief we seek to send men to the state legislature who are pledged to work for an appropriation from that quarter.

The treasury department at Washington has issued a statement showing the total amount of money of all kinds of circulation on the first day of the present month to have been $1,608,641,530, an increase of $78,561,056 over the amount in circulation on the first in April a year ago. Reckoning the population of the United States at sixty-five millions, this gives a per capita circulation of $24.74, a higher per capita than existed at any time during the war when it was necessary to issue millions of paper money to preserve the nation's life. The increase in circulation is larger than the increase in population, the silver bill of 1890, alone, adding fifty-four millions annually. With these facts before us it is impossible to find any reasonable justification for an inflation that involves the right of every man who is possessed of 68 cents worth of silver bullion to have a United States mint stamp placed on it, falsely certifying it to be a hundred cent dollar.

The Prineville News (Dem.) says: "Eastern Oregon scored one at the republican state convention when that body placed Hon. W. R. Ellis, of Heppner, in nomination for congressman from the second district of this state. Mr. Ellis is well known in Crook county as an able attorney, a man of affairs and a thorough gentleman, and it will be a surprise if, in June, the county does not voice its appreciation of Mr. Ellis as plainly as it has on different occasions in the past."

At the late democratic county convention of Marion county, a delegate was seen wearing a tuft of wool, labeled "free". The convention appropriately nominated him for coroner.

Rhode Island Finances.

PROVIDENCE, April 18.—Recently the heirs of a family named Howland, discovered an obligation held against this state, bearing date of 1770, which, together with principal and interest, aggregated $500,000. The law under which the debt was originally incurred provided that it should be paid in Spanish milled dollars. A subsequent act provided that the issue of 1770 notes could be paid in new notes, "equivalent to the silver," issued in 1786. These old notes of 1786 had been preserved, and when the claimants under the notes of 1770 called for their $500,000 last week State Treasurer Clarke took the attorney of the claimant to the treasury vault and told him to help himself to as many millions as he wanted from some 20 old haircloth trunks, stuffed with notes of the 1786 issue, each one bearing on its face the legend: "This is equivalent to silver," and thus the state was saved, by paying him in strict conformity to the ancient and unrepaid law, which says the notes of 1770 must be redeemed by the notes of 1786. When Mr. Rider, the claimant, arrives he will be introduced to his treasure, and express wagons will be at his service for the removal of the compound interest. If he declines to accept and cart away his money there is the old and also unrepaid law providing fine, imprisonment, and stripes, "well laid on," for any one who refuses these notes in payment of that particular debt.

Deeming in Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, April 17.—Deeming the Demon married a Mrs. Catching in this city, in January 1888, under the name of Williams. She was too confiding for her own good. Her speculative spouse was allowed the freedom of her bank savings, and one day Mrs. Williams found both her money and husband gone. This was in the spring of 1888, and nothing has ever been seen or heard of him since. He took about $2,000, all she had saved in long years. It was never known where he went, but it was that he came from Australia. Mrs. Catching, however, whom he married, robbed and deserted, is not inclined to believe the identity of the two men. She professes to see no striking similarity in the photographs, but it is a sore subject with her, naturally, and she could hardly be expected to confess that she had once been allied with a wretch like Deeming.

The Minneapolis Move.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 18.—The hotels are overrun with applications for apartments already, and there is no doubt that the city will have more people in it next June than it ever had before which is saying a great deal, for there have been some pretty big crowds here in the last ten years. There need be no fears, though, that there will not be room enough for everybody. The republicans of this state are for Harrison, and it looks as if he would be nominated.

Mr. J. P. Blaize, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of that state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaize had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaize sent to the nearest drug store and got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, of which he had often heard, and took a number of large doses. He says the effect was wonderful and that in a short time he was breathing quite easily. He kept on taking the medicine and the next day was able to come to Des Moines. Mr. Blaize regards his cure as simply wonderful. 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists. d&w
