A Deluge of Dollars.

C. G. Ricker, chief clerk of the St. Louis subtreasury; B. C. Farrar, the receiving teller, and E. M. Miller, the watchman of the vault, were standing in a group just inside the ponderous doors and beside several immense rows of silver dollars which were piled to the ceiling of the vaults in canvas bags, each containing $1,000 and weighing about sixty pounds.

Suddenly Mr. Ricker noticed a slight bulging movement of the center of the outside row of heavy sacks, and realizing in a second what was about to occur, he sprang to the opposite side of the vault, at the same time showing his companions away from the falling mass of silver.

As it was, several of the bags struck him on the legs and bruised his feet. The truck used to wheel the heavy sacks about, which was standing in the middle of the vault, was smashed. Nearly $1,000,000 were scattered promiscuously around the steel room, and it was by the merest chance that none of the men was killed.

An Opal Ring and Some Royal Deaths. Foreign papers tell a story of an opal ring belonging to the late King Alfonso XIII of Spain, which will be treasured by those who believe in the superstition regarding the evil effects of that stone.

A third time the king took possession of the ring, and presented it to his sister-in-law, Princess Christina, the youngest daughter of the Duke of Montpensier. Three months later the princess died. The king, surprised at the history of the ring, decided to wear it himself.

The copartnership heretofore existing between S. F. French and J. N. Lauer, doing business in The Dalles under the firm name of French & Lauer, has been dissolved by mutual consent.

drastic mineral "potash." The potash theory is old and obsolete. Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is modern. It goes to the seat of the trouble. It arouses the liver, kidneys and bowels to healthful action, and invigorates the circulation, and the impurities are quickly carried off through the natural channels.

Few people know that the bright bluish-green color of the ordinary tea exposed in the windows is not the natural color. Unpleasant as the fact may be, it is nevertheless tea a bright, shiny green, but also permits the use of "off-color" and worthless teas, which, once under the green cloak, are readily worked off as a good quality of tea.
