LOCAL BREVITIES.

If you want the news.

You want THE CHRONICLE.

If you are not a subscriber, please read this and hand in your name.

Mr. John Booth is in Portland today on business.

Thirteen inches of snow fell at Condon last Sunday.

Time has been cut down at the Albina shops to eight and a half hours a day, and five days a week.

Mr. H. Glenn has commenced the work of construction on the new Congregational church building.

The little town of Arlington contributed last week $112.00 to the famine stricken sufferers of Russia.

A new paper, The Express, is to be es-

Falls, by D. B. Worthington. Arrangements have been completed for holding another Demorest medal contest next Wednesday evening. 4-23td Joseph T. Peters & Co., have moved into their new store room, corner of Second and Jefferson. Builders are referred to their new advertisement today.

The CHRONICLE acknowledges the courtesy of a pleasant visit from Mr. Small of the Baker City Democrat on his return from the democratic state con-office today a twig plucked from an apricot tree in his garden which, though only six inches in length, contains 18 than it is today, and its present high apricots, each nearly as large as a pigeon's egg.

The salmon run reached the Cascade locks last Sunday night. It takes them generally about a week to make the trip transfer to the agricultural department from the cascades to the dalles, so that on July 1st, last. Mr. Kerkam has been the full fishing harvest may be on inside the next twenty-four hours.

In a note to Mr. Linus Hubbard, acknowledging receipt of the whalebacks photo., Gov. N. B. Wiley, of Idaho, says: "The cascade locks, with the similar projected improvements at the dalles of the Columbia, are indeed the keys of the Inland Empire."

County Clerk Brock has published a report of the financial condition of Sherman county which shows an excess of liabilities over resources, including taxes due on the assessment for 1891, of P. G. Barrett, Hood River, Velorus $158.87. This is an excellent showing Hodge, aged 92 year, three week and for this young county.

Miss Jennie Steel of Five Mile is in the city visiting friends

Scarcely enough salmon are being caught at The Dalles to supply the home demand.

The household goods of Mrs. J. E, Atwater were sold today at public auction by J. B. Crossen. Mrs. Atwater will make her future home in Portland. Wild geese were in this neighborhood

Snow fell last night on the high hills back of this city and a heavy frost is reported as having occurred on Fifteen Mile creek. There was ice a quarter of an inch thick at H. Simon's place on For Prinaville, via. Bake Oven, leave dally Eight Mile. Up till last night fruit was generally considered safe but its condition now will not be known for a few

The Condon Globe probably meant no harm to Judge Bradshaw when it said, that during last court term there, "no less than fifty people were heard to remark that he was an excellent likeness of Grover Cleveland." It is questionable if the judge has any remedy at law for this charge, and custom shuts the 6 p. m. All are cordially invited. mouths of candidates against retaliation anyhow.

Last evening was spent pleasantly in a game of drive whist at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Filloon. Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Young, Mr. Dell Cheeseman, Mr. and Mrs. Lochhead, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Blakely, Dr. and Mrs. Rinehart, Mr. and Mrs. Filloon, Mrs. Jas. Wilson and Miss Bessie Miller. Mrs. Stephens was the winner of the first prize which was a beautiful, hand-painted glass plaque, and Mr. Stephens was the happy winner of the booby which was a most forlorn looking little gray mule.

Neatly Done.

It was as neat a little job as was ever done outside of a political convention. The lodge was about to close (the Odd Fellows of this city, last night) and nothing had been said about how the brethern intended to go and come from the big picnic at Hood River next Tuesday when a brother arose and offered 'by request' a resolution substantially as follows: "Resolved that the Odd Fellows of Columbia lodge No. 5, I. O. O. F. intend to go to the Hood River picnic by rail, with the undertanding that the train will wait the convenience of our return at Hood River." "Se the motion," said a guileless brother. "I move as an amendment" said another brother "that the word boat be substituted for the word rail." "Second the motion" cried a dozen voices in chorus. Then the amendment was put, and carried with a whoop, and the lodge closed in due

Transferred to Washington.

Mr. Robert E. Kerkam, who has so long furnished official forecasts of the weather from San Francisco with which eaders of THE CHRONICLE are familiar. has been relieved from duty at that point, and returns to Washington city to resume his more important duties at headquarters. Referring to his forecasts tablished early in May, at Klamath the Oregonian says: "They have been most excellent, and have done much to cause the public to regain confidence in that branch of the work of the weather bureau, which is one as most important to the general community. Weather forecasting on the Pacific slope is the most difficult of any in the country, due to the proximity of the ocean, the widelyseparated and sometimes inaccessible telegraph stations, and to the peculiar topography of the country, for there are several places in Oregon and Washington where, when rain falls heavily, it is cloudless and fine not sixty miles away. John Bonn of this city left at this The weather bureau was never in a more popular, wellknown and beneficial condition on the entire Pacific coast, grade of efficiency is due to the men who have so conscientiously labored for its benefit, and also to the new life and blood infused into it by reason of its succeeded by his predecessor, John P. Finley, well known on account of his tornado and cyclone reports.

An important meeting of the McKin-ley club will be held in their hall this evening at 8 o'clock, and every member of the club is urged to be present. All republicans, whether members of the club or not, are cordially invited.

DIED.

Maj. Ingalis will conduct the religious services of the Baptist church at the academy tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, and at Three Mile school house in the afternoon. These will be the last appearances of Maj. Ingalls in this neighborhood, for some time at least, as he will shortly take hold of business connected with the World's fair.

Points on the Silo.

be selected and put in condition to bear a good crop of corn. In selecting the ground, locate it as near the place where the silo will be built as possible, so that the green crop can be handled with as little labor as possible. The ground cana good crop of corn. In selecting the little labor as possible. The ground cannot be made too rich or put into too good cultivation; for it should be the aim of the farmers to grow as many tons of valuable fodder to the acre as possible. Corn is preeminently the best crop for the silo when all things are considered. Other crops, such as clover, vetches, oats, peas, sorghum, etc., have been used with more or less success; but when corn can be grown, these crops have given way to the king.

where one variety may be a success, others might fail to meet the requirements. The Evergeen sweet corn makes excellent silage, but will not produce quite as large a yield per acre as some of of the dent varieties. The Southern ensilage corn, known as "B and W" ensilage corn, makes an enormous growth in this valley, but does not mature as early as some of the smaller varieties. The Pride of the North, is a good variety for general use. This is a yellow dent variety, which makes a medium growth; and produces an ear on every stalk, which will reach maturity, before there is any danger of frost.

In general, I believe better results will be obtained, if seed can be obtained which has been produced in the locality. Corn is very susceptible to climatic influences; and there is little to be gained, by importing seed from Fancy Goods, Notions to be gained, by importing seed from localities where the conditions are altogether different from those prevailing in the vicinity where you wish to grow the crop. There is no difficulty in maintaining, and many times improving the corn crop, by carefully selecting seed of your own raising. Of course these remarks will only apply to localities where the corn plant will reach full

In the reports which have come to me from points in this state, I have yet to learn of a single instance where the silo has not given the most flattering satisfaction. Some who began with only a small silo are building larger, and propose to use this method of feeding stockanimals, as well as dairy cows. And right here, let me caution those who contemplate building, to build large enough to meet future demands; for the larger the silo the less loss there will be in proportion to the amount of green material stored. What I mean by this is, is, that 80 or 100 tons thus stored in a silo is, that 80 or 100 tons thus stored in a silo 10x20—and twenty feet deep, will keep more completely than twenty tons in a silo 10x10, and ten feet deep. The additional weight caused by the increased depth of the silo, will assist very much in the keeping of the contents. At all events, plant some corn, tend it well, build a silo after harvest, cut the corn when it begins to glaze, run it through a feed cutter, into the silo, keep it evenly spread as it goes in, tread it down in corners, run some hay or straw on top, and next November or December you and next November or December you will have a mint of feed which no future winter will see you without.

Mr. J. P. Blaize, an extensive real estate dealer in Des Moines, Iowa, narrowly escaped one of the severest attacks of pneumonia while in the northern part of that state during a recent blizzard, says the Saturday Review. Mr. Blaize had occasion to drive several miles during the storm and was so thoroughly chilled that he was unable to get warm, and inside of an hour after his return he was threatened with a severe case of pneumonia or lung fever. Mr. Blaize sent to the nearest drug store Of the varieties of corn, best adapted to this climate, little need be said, for and took a number of large doses. He
